ASSASSINS IN IRELAND DEFY LLOYD GEORGE

REDS' ARMY HARD HIT.

Rifle Strength Cut in Half.

American Admiral Promises Anti-Bolshevik Body to Aid Economically.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The strength of the Bolshevik army on the Polish front was reduced by more than one-half as a result of the Polish counter-drive, according to reports received here today in official circles.

The Soviet armies, the advices said, have suffered heavily from desertions, estimated at approximately 1,000,000, with 500,000 at large in Petrograd and other cities.

The reports also have estimates as to the strength of the soviet armies on other fronts, the number of troops opposing the anti-Bolshevik forces of Gen. Wrangel, in South Russia being given as 165,000, including 40,000 cossacks. Gen. Wrangel's army is estimated at 140,000 men. On the quiet southwestern front, across the Rumanian border, Trotsky is reported to have sent to Odessa the soviet government is reported to have been holding 40,000 rifle troops under the command of Gen. Oborevitch, while further eastward on the Caucasus front the number is placed at 40,000 men. Gen. Kurepatkin, Bolshevik commander in the remote transcaspian region, on the Persian-Chinese border, is estimated to have a force of 15,000 men.

AMERICA TO HELP.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The Russian relief committee here, which is anti-Bolshevik organization, today issued an official statement received from Constantinople saying, among other things:

"The representative of America, Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, has informed Tchaikovski (Minister of Finance in Gen. Wrangel's government) that the United States is willing to give him economic aid, and has asked him to present a list of goods needed in the Crimea."

RUSSIANS REPLY.

The Russian delegation in London, headed by M. Kamaneff, has issued the reply of M. Tchitcherin, Bolshevik Foreign Minister, to the last note of Arthur J. Balfour, President of the Council.

It declares that in the face of the blockade of Russia, Mr. Balfour is in a position to express belief that the soviet government has been unable to secure more than a mere being of the Russian people.

SOVIETS WITHDRAW.

The Bolshevik forces against the southwest of Brest-Litovsk have crossed the city of Hrudiesk, 30 miles west of the Bug River, under pressure from Polish troops, says an official statement issued in Moscow yesterday and received here by wireless.

HARDING TO GO AFIELD.

Will Spend Month Traveling.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—So great was the success of Senator Harding's first venture off the front porch in his trip to Minnesota that much of October will be spent by the Presidential candidate in speaking trips to the larger cities in the East, according to semiofficial information that came to leaders of the Republican campaign now in Washington with today's reports on the wonderful reception given Senator Harding in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Many telegrams have been received at headquarters and by members of the Senate and the House who are now in the capital. Some of them asserted that no public man save President Roosevelt ever received such genuine and cordial greetings as accorded to the present head of the Republican ticket in the Twin Cities.

SUCCESSFUL TEST.

It was a test made by the National Committee, and the experiment is a greater success than any of its proposers ever expected. Not only were the crowds cordial, but they greeted the candidate with the devotion that portends his election, and that is the big thing that is causing elation among the Republican managers.

Some of those who are advising Senator Harding were anxious to have him start the speaking trips this month, but practically the whole month of September is dated up for addresses at Marion, and the trips of Senator Harding into the field will not begin until the last month of the campaign.

There will be no swing around the circle, but certain definite addresses at given points, after which the candidate will return to his home until the next speech away from home. There probably will be six of these occasions, and not more than ten, in any event.

The Republican campaign in Ohio will open with a smash on Constitution Day, September 17, with Senator Harding, Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for Governor, and Frank B. Willis, Republican candidate for United States Senator, all in action in various parts of the State. Simultaneously the national campaign for a return to constitutional government and home rule will be formally opened in a series of celebrations of the one hundred and thirty-third anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution throughout the nation.

A long-distance, forensic duel between U. S. Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, and Gov. Cox, Democratic Presidential candidate, was announced today. The duel will take place on the night of September 14, when Senator Borah will deliver an address on Wilson's League of Nations in Memorial Hall, Dayton, Gov. Cox's home town, while simultaneously Gov. Cox will open up with his big guns in Boise City, Idaho, the home town of Senator Borah.

IN HOME TOWN.

Gov. Cox not long ago classed Senator Borah, because of his determined opposition to Wilson's League of Nations, with Ludendorff and

COX CHARGE TIRESOME.

Committee Divided on Continuing.

Blair Gives Details of Plans to Raise the Republican Campaign Fund.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures tonight was divided on the question of pursuing the investigation of Gov. Cox's charges that millions are being sought by the Republican National Committee to "corrupt" the electorate.

Saturday the committee will complete its inquiry here, but after two conferences today the five Senators could reach no decision as to the next step to be taken.

Testimony bearing on Gov. Cox's charge that a quota list of fifty-one cities had been sent out by the Republican National Committee was elicited at today's session of the committee.

While Harry M. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, national Republican treasurer, was on the stand, a document was introduced which the witness identified as a substitute for "form 101," the campaign plan which Blair drew up, but which was rejected by the National Executive Committee. This substitute document stated that an intensive campaign was to be undertaken in fifty-four cities and it also indicated that the national treasurer was to appoint city chairmen of the ways and means committee.

NAMED LOCAL CHAIRMEN.

John A. Kelly and G. DeForrest Kinney, State Ways and Means Committee head for Ohio and Illinois, respectively, later said they appointed the local chairmen themselves and that the treasurer had nothing to do with these selections or with fixing quotas for the various counties.

Kinney also added that he was concerned only with the campaign outside Chicago and Cook county.

In addition Henry Owen, a paid assistant to Blair, and organizer for Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Indiana, testified that he never had heard of any plan to organize cities as distinctive from the county organizations. He said furthermore that he never saw "form 101" and knew nothing of it being locked in a safe at Republican headquarters after it had been rejected.

Owen told Senator Spencer that the whole Republican method of raising funds was a "stock plan."

"I can buy it for you in printed form for 25 cents," he added.

"Where?" asked Senator Reed.

"From the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A.," said the witness. The plan is known to hundreds of men. It is twenty-five years old and anything but original with this drive."

The committee held another night session, Chairman Kenyon explaining that they hoped to wind up the committee hearings here by Saturday night.

OHIO QUOTAS.

Other developments today included testimony by Kelly, that he fixed quotas of Ohio counties at just double what he expected to raise, but did not inform local chairmen of that fact. On that basis the workers in that State, it was brought

After eating a hasty lunch, Murray "hopped off" for Cheyenne at 1:16, hoping to reach that city this evening.

DR. OLGA McNEILE TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE?

Apparently despondent over ill health, Dr. Olga McNeile, a woman physician with offices in the Marsh-Strong Building, aged 36, tried to commit suicide in her apartment at 1127 Orange street, early today, by slashing the artery in her left arm with a safety razor blade, according to the report of Detectives Parsons and Smith who investigated. She was taken to the Angelus Hospital in a critical condition from loss of blood.

Dr. Olga McNeile, who still shares her office with her husband, Dr. Lyle G. McNeile, although they have been divorced for nearly a year, lives with her secretary, Miss Ruth Sapp, in the apartment-house. Miss Sapp said that she had left the woman physician only a few hours before Dr. McNeile was found unconscious and bleeding, to go to the Good Samaritan Hospital. When she returned to the apartment she found her employer lying on the bathroom floor in a pool of blood. Dr. McNeile was summoned and administered first aid.

According to Miss Sapp and Dr. Lyle McNeile, Dr. Olga McNeile had threatened to take her life before.

According to Detective Thompson the four rings were found in the chauffeur's pockets.

KING HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—King Victor Emmanuel narrowly escaped death today while penetrating the ruins of the church at Fivizzano when a large amount of debris fell. He heard the first crumblings and leaped away from the spot where the debris crashed down. Fivizzano is the torn vortex of the seismic upheaval in Northern Italy. Here have been found more dead victims of the earthquake than in any other city.

WOULD FORESTALL CALIFORNIA.

HONOLULU, Sept. 9.—An unnamed Japanese Cabinet Minister, according to Tokio cable advices to Nippu Jiji, Japanese-language newspaper here, is quoted in the Nichi Nichi Shimbun as saying that the Japanese government hoped by diplomatic negotiations to forestall the California initiative measure designed to prevent ownership of land in the State by Japanese and to solve the problem before it assumes grave proportions.

JOURNEY TO MARION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—California Republicans who will make the pilgrimage to the front porch of Senator Warren G. Harding at Marion, O., will leave here tomorrow morning on a special section of the Overland Limited, western campaign headquarters here announced tonight.

En route eastward the pilgrims will draft the questionnaire on California problems that will be presented to the Senator for statements on his position on each. Gov. Stephens of California, who is already at Marion and Mrs. J. B. Hume, vice-chairman of the State committee, will act as spokesmen for the delegation.

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE.

J. W. Schmidt.

Sharlin had twenty-one one-thousand-dollar bills on his person when taken into custody. Trunks of the man shipped from here to Los Angeles are being traced by United States authorities. When Sharlin was taken into custody by Officer J. A. Toomey of St. Louis, a code book containing the addresses of drug dealers in virtually every large city in the country was found in his possession, according to the officers.

Every evening the ex-Kaiser retires to his studio after dinner with a large cigar and completes two or three folio pages, often working till late at night His manuscript is then copied by a reliable servant. The ex-Kaiser reads many German newspapers closely and has all the Dutch papers read to him by secretaries, so that he is able to refer to all latest events and keep his book up-to-date. His political and strategical views with regard to occurrences are expressed in strong terms.

MURDERS CONTINUE; SINN FEINERS BRUTALLY SLAY THREE MORE POLICEMEN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Murder of two policemen and the serious wounding of a third at Tullow, County Carlow, and the murder of another officer at Galway, County Galway, is taken by supporters of the government here as an answer to the offer of Premier Lloyd George to free Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, if murders in Ireland would cease.

Coming as they do on the very heels of the Premier's offer, the murders here are taken as another defi of the government and sentiment is expressed in some quarters that no further leniency will be shown the hunger strikers.

VALERA MAY INTERVENE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CORK, Sept. 9.—In view of the firm stand the government appears to be maintaining in face of the appeals for the release of the hunger strikers, a report has started in Cork that the last-minute intervention may come from Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic." According to this rumor, the source of which cannot be ascertained, De Valera is expected to cable Lord Mayor MacSwiney that his life is too valuable to the Irish cause to sacrifice and ordering him to break his fast.

The belief seems to prevail here that if this were done MacSwiney would be released immediately and that the discharge of the Cork prisoners would follow.

Sean Hennessy, a 19-year-old hunger striker, was still unconscious this afternoon. His father continues to refuse to call in a doctor to attend him. The other prisoners were weaker today, but are said to be determined to hold out.

TWO CONSTABLES KILLED.

The Lord Mayor was visited last night by Father Patrick MacSwiney, a cousin, who said he was surprised to find the prisoner so well. He expressed belief that the crisis would not come for three or four days.

By John Steele.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Archbishop Mannix most likely will be allowed to go to Ireland in the next few days. The Archbishop has criticized the British government through third parties. SEND MAIL BY AIR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—After halting the coaling of one British vessel, the Muncaster Castle, yesterday, a number of pickets of the Women's Irish Independence League reappeared on the water front again today with the announcement that they would continue to work toward the hampering of British industry here, "until the British army of occupation has left Ireland."

According to the company, which was coaling the Muncaster Castle, the women succeeded in inducing thirty longshoremen to stop work. The coaling later was completed by the crew.

ITALY IS SHAKEN BY ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Sept. 9.—The Epoca estimates that the dead in the earthquake exceeded 500, and the homeless more than 20,000.

Another violent earthquake occurred in the Emilia district at 2:35 this morning, causing loss of lives and great property damage. The communities suffering the most were Reggio, Ospedaletti, Bussana, Toano and Cavola. This mornings' shock was more violent than that of Tuesday.

Emilia embraces the district between the Apennines and the River Po and is divided into the eight provinces of Piacenza, Parma, Reggio, Modena, Bologna, Ferrari, Ravenna and Forli. It covers an area of some 7920 square miles and has a population of approximately 2,500,000 persons.

DEATH LIST GROWS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FLORENCE, Sept. 9.—The number of dead from Tuesday's earthquake is steadily growing as additional reports come in. The latest advices from Fivizzano bring the total of dead there alone up to 432, while in Vignatti 124 are dead and about 1000 injured.

In nearly threescore towns and villages serious damage was done and a total population of more than 10,000 rendered homeless.

MANY BURIED IN HOMES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Fifty dead victims of the Italian earthquake have been taken from the ruins of the town of Barga, says a dispatch from Lucca, the message adding that many more are buried in the debris of their homes.

The village of Grafagnana is a heap of ruins and the survivors have left. Vignet has been destroyed, and thousands are homeless at Tassaldo, Catteletto, Montecuto and Cesorano, the dispatch states.

New, but less severe, shocks have been felt in Florence and surrounding country. These have shaken down tottering structures, however, and still further delayed the work of rescuers. Massa-Carrara, in the center of the earthquake zone, was cut off from communication with the outside world last night, but it is not believed a new catastrophe has occurred there.

A tragic scene was enacted at Marina, near Carrara, when the earthquake shattered a church where mass was being celebrated. Father Friggotti, the pastor, had just raised the chalice in the most solemn moment of the service when the ceiling of the edifice fell upon the congregation, killing many of those who were worshiping. The priest, though slightly injured, reverently finished the service before attending to the injuries of those about him.

Father Riccardo Bruscoletti, at Castanzalvo, was killed while celebrating mass.

Pope Benedict sent a telegram to Cardinal Peer Maffi, archbishop of Pisa, asking him to go into the earthquake zone and administer aid and moral support and distribute supplies.

KING VISITS PEOPLE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FIVIZZANO (Italy) Sept. 8.—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy today viewed the ruin visited upon this city by the earthquake, which Tuesday morning shook Northern Italy to its center. He went into every quarter of the town and entered tottering buildings and talked with survivors, expressing his profound grief and comforting those who were injured.

Learning that some of the survivors had not tasted food for thirty-six hours, he ordered that all food in his private car be distributed among them.

The King approached a stretcher on which was lying an aged woman, and gently touched her forehead. She recognized the monarch and her eyes filled with tears as she struggled to kiss his hand, sobbing:

"My little grandsons; my little grandsons."

Victor Emmanuel learned that the woman's entire family with the exception of herself and the two small lads had been hurled in their home and killed. When he promised to look after the children she murmured:

"May the Madonna bless you. You are indeed good to me. You are a real father to your people."

SAN JOSE IS JARRED; NO DAMAGE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 9.—An earthquake of short duration at its heaviest point startled San Jose at 3:47 o'clock this morning, sending frightened citizens scurrying to the streets in both the downtown and residential districts.

Aside from a scattered breaking of windows there was no damage.

The quake was a local affair, according to the seismograph records of the University of Santa Clara, being centralized here and extending for not more than thirty-five miles southeast.

Prof. Albert J. Newlin, in charge of the recording instruments at the University, stated the earthquake was of slightly more than two minutes' duration, although the severe shock lasted scarcely more than three seconds.

The shock ranged from the north and south, east and west and up and down, resulting in a terrific jarring sensation.

According to Prof. Newlin the earth moved five-eighths of an inch by the quake. San Joseans thought it moved a quarter of a mile.

The main seismic mark was as long as any of the 1906 quake, but stopped abruptly. Yesterday afternoon for a period of two hours the Santa Clara instruments recorded earthquakes occurring in Italy.

PROCLAIMS FIUME TO BE INDEPENDENT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

FIUME, Sept. 9.—Gabriele d'Annunzio today proclaimed Fiume an independent state.

D'Annunzio declared he had received private news from Paris which forced him to declare Fiume to be independent today and that he could not wait until September 12, as he had intended.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Shipping Board officials admitted today that the great trans-Atlantic liner Leviathan, formerly the Hamburg-American liner Vaterland, sale of which was blocked last January, may never again be seen on the high seas. This is due to the fact that the great liner now aground in the mud of her Hoboken dock, has deteriorated to so great an extent that it will require an outlay of no less than $8,000,000 to put her again into condition for sea service.

As a matter of fact the liner is so far on the way to the junk heap that when she recently was offered for sale by the Shipping Board, not a single bid was received.

DEMOCRATS PIN HOPE TO WOMEN

Expect Newly Enfranchised Voters to Help.

Democratic Boss of Indiana is Confident.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The newly enfranchised women voters of the country are looked to by the Democratic managers to elect Gov. Cox and save the League of Nations covenant from repudiation.

Administration officials refuse to concede that the tide of sentiment in the country is running strongly against the League in any form.

They pronounce the renomination of Senator Moses of New Hampshire, an irreconcilable opponent of the covenant, inconclusive because it is only the Republican attitude in a State carried by Wilson in 1916, and predict that the women will save the League in New Hampshire in the election.

These officials were startled by the overwhelming victory of Tom Watson in Georgia, running in the Democratic primary for the Senate, but they attributed the unfavorable result to the fact that the women of Georgia were not allowed to vote because they were not registered.

APPEAL TO WOMEN.

In Wisconsin the Democratic managers intend to appeal specially to the women to indorse the League by voting for Cox and Dr. Reinsch, Democratic candidate for Senator, in preference to Lenroot, who voted for the Lodge reservations.

Indiana is another State which the Cox managers hope to land in the Democratic column by devotion of the women to the League. The fighting in Indiana is waxing warm and as the State generally is close in elections and was carried by Hughes in 1916 by only 8943 plurality many Republicans class Indiana as doubtful.

Thomas T. Taggart, the Democratic boss of Indiana and a candidate for the Senate against Senator Watson, the Republican nominee, came through Washington today en route from his summer home in Massachusetts to Indiana to begin his campaign. He called at the White House and assured Secretary Tumulty that Cox will carry Indiana.

"LOANED SEAT" TO WATSON.

"Four years ago, you know, I loaned my seat in the Senate to Jim Watson," said Mr. Taggart. "Next March I am coming back to Washington to resume possession.

"I am confident that Gov. Cox will carry Indiana and I have no doubt whatever of my own election to the Senate to succeed Senator Watson. Cox made a big hit in Indiana.

"Fully 70 per cent of the women of Indiana, irrespective of party, are for the League of Nations and were there no other issue in this campaign Gov. Cox and I would carry the State on that issue alone."

Wisconsin is believed by Republicans to have been removed from a doubtful list by the refusal of La Follette to lead a third party. The attitude of the Nonpartisan League, so far not disclosed, is the only reason for Republican uncertainty in Minnesota and North Dakota. On the other hand, there is every prospect that the Farmer-Labor party will draw enough votes from Cox to assure Republican success in Utah.

ENGLISH COAL CONFAB RESULTS IN FAILURE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A conference held this morning between Sir Robert Horne, president of the Board of Trade, and a delegation from the miners' organization, in an effort to reach a solution of the coal crisis, resulted in what is generally regarded as failure.

At the conclusion of the conference today Robert Smillie, acting as spokesman for the miners, informed Sir Robert that the miners' executive body was of the opinion the statement he had made to it contained no new proposal which would lead to a satisfactory settlement of the miners' demands.

PARTY RECORDS GIVEN BY FESS.

Liquor, Suffrage and Labor Must be Considered.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. — Dr. Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, sees victory in both houses of Congress. In a statement last night Dr. Fess said:

"Six months ago I made a statement, based upon a cursory survey, that Republicans would carry the Senate by six to ten majority and the House by at least forty-five, and perhaps fifty majority.

OPTIMISM APLENTY.

"At that time I stated that this campaign had more than the usual number of cross-currents which might before the election change the results. Some of these were merely local, while others were national with local possibilities. In the former class will fall Wisconsin and parts of the Northwest—Nevada, Idaho, Colorado and Indiana. In the latter class sections may be influenced by the liquor issue, women suffrage and union labor.

"After a recent and careful exhaustive survey, I am now ready to repeat my statement of former figures in the Senate and House, with assurances that both the local and national cross-currents will operate against our opponents.

"Republicans have a better record upon temperance legislation than have their opponents. The Democratic candidate was chosen as a wet representative, a reputation achieved by past support in Ohio and present effort of the brewery interests now in active campaign. Republicans settled this issue and will not take any backward step. The advantage here is both moral and permanent, and must militate against the Democrats. The great underlying current of the country is sober and will continue to grow more so.

"On the suffrage question the Republicans have the controlling record. The very first bill in the very first Republican Congress since 1908, the present Congress, was the woman suffrage bill. On the second day of the session it passed the House by a Republican vote of 204 to 19, or more than ten to one. It likewise passed the Republican Senate by a similarly large Republican vote.

DEMOCRATIC RECORD.

"The Democrats in neither body showed such record. It was ratified by twenty-nine Republican State legislatures and rejected by but one, while it was rejected by six Democratic legislatures and ratified by but seven.

"Even in the Democratic legislatures the Republicans cast a greater percentage of their votes for ratification than the Democratic. This was true in Tennessee, the thirty-sixth or decisive State. In the Sixty-third Congress it was overwhelmingly defeated by 169 Democrats and but thirty-five Republicans against it.

"Both on the temperance and woman suffrage questions the Republicans have the better record and will advantage by the large increase of women ballots, as well as swell the male Republican vote in States where both are discussed. Both of these questions will aid Republicans in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Montana, South Dakota, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona and Oklahoma, where we expect not only to hold what we have, but make actual gains.

"The Democratic effort to use these issues in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and others will not avail.

"These States are normally Republican, without the woman vote which, upon these issues, will not go to the Democrats, but which will swell the Republican majorities.

CUMMINGS DISPLACED.

"Gov. Cox was nominated, first at a wet man, secondly by the anti-Wilson faction, and finally as an Ohioan with the promises of his friends that he would carry Ohio. He at once displaced Cummings, the Wilson chairman of the Democratic National Committee, for George White, who, while he was a dry while in Congress, was an opponent to woman suffrage, as shown by his adverse vote on the amendment.

"The wet candidate who is now for suffrage, has a dry manager who was against suffrage. This is not surprising to those who are familiar with Mr. Cox and his methods.

"Gov. Cox in a White House conference, pledged his fullest ability to carry out the Wilson policy of the League of Nations, a promise openly pledged and as openly reported with evident satisfaction by President Wilson immediately after the conference. The anti-Wilson candidate in the convention has not only fully accepted the Wilson view on the League, but also his views on the autocratic function of the executive.

SURRENDER COMPLETE.

"This complete surrender to Wilson makes the leading issue of this campaign the policies of Wilson, better known as 'Wilsonism,' in which Cox proposes to mortgage America's future for the sake of vindicating the consistency of Woodrow Wilson, who twice defeated the ratification of the peace treaty including the League, to continue his war powers, rather than accept it with the safeguards of American sovereignty and independence demanded by every Republican of the Senate and nearly half of the Democrats of that body.

"Upon this issue alone Republicans will gain, in addition to the States before mentioned, other States which otherwise might be close if not doubtful; for example California, Oklahoma, Missouri, Maryland and other Eastern States. We will make an effort to break the Solid South this election.

"Gov. Cox builds his alleged hopes upon the friendliness of the American Federation of Labor as expressed by its officers. This feature does not disquiet Republicans. Samuel Gompers is and has been a Democrat since his naturalization, and as such his appeal for Democratic support is neither new nor unexpected.

WILL SAIL AGAIN.

"He attempted to commit his organization to the Democrats as far back as the first Bryan campaign in 1896, but as he has signally failed to commit his own organization in the past, I feel confident he will again fail this campaign. Labor is sound at heart and will not be delivered this year as it has not in past years.

"Mr. Gompers's conduct before Congressional committees, declaring that if proposed legislation became law it would not be obeyed, reveals the danger of such leadership which is reflected by what he calls the 'outlaw' labor unions. Mr. Gompers is merely reaping his own planting for the last eight years, as President Wilson is now harvesting his own sowing in the Adamson bill of 1916, which was his price for railway support in that election.

SOCIALISM INCREASED.

"No one knows this fact better than these union labor leaders who persist in attempts to commit their organizations for partisan purposes. The permanent effect of this effort is to increase Socialism. This will not be any advantage to the Democrats.

"The Plumb plan leaguers in their attempt to pledge labor against all supporters of the Cummings-Esch bill is so bold an attempt to sovietize the railways as a first step to Russianize all industry under the leadership of Socialists that it carries with it its own condemnation. The pity of it is the inequitable disrepute it will bring upon the best groups of laboring men in our country.

"Already this group is aware of the effort of party propagandists to use them for partisan purposes. In 1916 they were summoned to Washington and made to appear to present an ultimatum to the government to secure a 20 per cent increase to avoid transportation paralysis through a nation-wide strike, then held as a club over Congress. The brotherhoods are aware of the public condemnation of this procedure. They will not willingly again be made the agency of partisan propaganda.

REPUBLICAN POLICY.

"The policy of the Republican party is now and has been to insure the investment of American capital in the employment of American labor at a scale of wages to guarantee an American standard of living. That policy is fundamental and sound. The policy of Col. Roosevelt to insure the very best possible conditions for labor by a limitation of working hours, regulation of child labor, and the employment of women, the workmen's compensation provision, the minimum wage and kindred humanitarian provisions, is the policy of the Republican party today.

"This policy carries with it, in the language of Senator Harding, 'the highest possible wage based upon a full day's work for wages paid.' It does not mean a smaller output for an increased wage, but rather enlarged production by increased efficiency. The present Republican Congress has displayed its interest in better conditions of labor by various laws.

CREDIT DUE HARMON.

"Gov. Cox has allowed his managers to give him the credit for the workman's compensation legislation in Ohio, both in its statutory enactments in 1910 and later in the sanction of the constitutional convention of 1912. Mr. Cox had absolutely nothing to do with either. Harmon was Governor in 1910 and 1911 when the Legislature presented these measures.

"The present Congress has a Republican majority of thirty-eight in the House and two in the Senate. We stand to win seven Senators and may win nine. We expect to hold all our Republican Senators. We stand to win at least sixteen members of the House and may win twenty-one. We do not count on losing over five and may hold all we have now.

"The real issues before the country cannot be clouded by such twaddle employed by Candidate Cox, more designed for a campaign for a position of constable than for the Presidency."

ROME, Sept. 9.—[By Cable and Exclusive Dispatch.] That Jugo-Slavia is seeking the mastery of Albania is declared in recent reports here. Tarabosh has been occupied by Jugo-Slavian troops and forces are attacking Kastrati, Dibra and El Bassan. At Dibra, in recent fighting, the Jugo-Slavs are reported to have been repulsed, losing a number of cannon and machine guns, together with some 1200 prisoners. Attacks in other regions are progressing more favorably. The American Red Cross is reported to have withdrawn from Albania.

MAKES PLEDGE TO IRELAND.

BUTTE (Mont.) Sept. 9.—A definite pledge to present the Irish cause to the League of Nations, in event of his election, and further vigorous attacks on Republican leaders and that party's contributions were made here tonight by Gov. Cox of Ohio in closing his Montana campaign.

In three extensive speeches at Helena, Anaconda, Butte, and a half-dozen rear platform talks en route, the Democratic Presidential candidate concluded the first week of his western tour, hammering the League, the Republican "corruption fund" and labor issues into his audiences.

The Irish question developed at the Governor's meeting here in front of the Courthouse lawn.

FRIEND OF PEACE.

"It would be my duty," he said, "and very quickly availed of, as a friend of peace, asserting the friendly right of any member of the League, to present the Irish cause to the attention of the League under the authority given by Article XI and give to Ireland, or any other aggrieved people, the opportunity to plead their cause before the bar of civilized opinion.

Dealing with testimony before the Senatorial investigating committee at Chicago, Gov. Cox made fresh assaults upon Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman; Treasurer Upham and his assistant, Henry M. Blair. The Governor declared that the Chicago testimony had confirmed his slush fund charges, on the heels of denials by Chairman Hays and other Republican officials.

His fund of arguments on the League, settlement of strikes by the Golden Rule instead of bayonets and progressivism were given by the Governor. He also reiterated attacks upon Harding, his Republican opponent, the Senatorial oligarchy and big business.

LOCAL QUESTIONS.

In discussing the League, the Governor presented local questions in Anaconda and Butte with their large laboring populations, of many racial sources, and their copper interests, and at Helena he also urged reclamation development. Through the League, the candidate said, material prosperity would be had by creating foreign markets for copper and other products of mine, farm and labor when European conditions became stabilized.

The Irish question, Gov. Cox said, needs settlement to promote peace between the English-speaking races. Reading Article XI of the League covenant, providing for consideration by the League Council of assembly of any international questions whatever "which threaten to disturb either the peace or the good understanding between nations," Gov. Cox said that under existing conditions the Irish question could not be presented to the bar of public opinion.

"Under the League it can," he continued. "We have four times as many people of Gaelic blood in the United States as there are in Ireland and their natural feelings not only figure in our domestic relations but also stand like granite between the stretching hands of England and America. So long, therefore, as the Irish question remains unsettled, there will be some conflict in America with the idea of world-wide cooperation between the English-speaking nations.

RULE OF MIGHT.

"It must not be forgotten that when we took up arms, the thing that gave us unity and great enthusiasm was our declaration that we fought to end the rule of might; that we were champions of the rights of small peoples; that we stood for the reign of law based upon the consent of the governed. As I have said before the League contemplates enduring peace. There cannot be peace without happiness.

"There will not be happiness without justice. You cannot take mountains or rivers, nor other physical characteristics and by their natural lines create governmental entities that will endure. In the other hand, racial groups will form a better guarantee of peace. This is not only fundamental in common sense, but it touches the basic principle of the armistice and the League itself. Therefore, I contend that the League of Nations will be helpful to the civilization of the world, because it will be creative of a new life, national and otherwise, for racial groups, which have for generations fostered the same aims and hopes and aspirations that inspired the founders of our republic."

Gov. Cox was introduced here by Judge J. J. Lynch and by Gov. Stewart of Montana to other audiences, all of which gave hearty receptions. Admirers at Helena, where he spoke before going to Anaconda for a 6 o'clock theater meeting and returning to Butte this evening put aboard the Governor's train a quarter of elk for a game dinner tomorrow.

The Governor's schedule called for his departure from Butte tonight and his arrival early tomorrow at Spokane, Wash., to deliver an address at the interstate fair. Another address planned there was to the Young Voters' League. The Governor will tour Western Washington tomorrow afternoon, and Saturday afternoon Bellingham and Seattle were to be principal points reached.

SOVIET ARMY IS HARD HIT.

Polish troops against Russian Bolsheviki on the front south of Brest-Litovsk are reported in an official statement issued here. It is stated that soviet forces operating between Kamionka-Strumilowa and Bysk have been defeated with heavy loss, and that Polish troops have crossed to the eastern bank of the Bug and occupied Jakianwoka, crushing enemy forces concentrated in that vicinity.

Prisoners numbering about 200 have been taken in this action, it is said.

Bolshevik columns attacking the Polish lines south of Bysk have been repulsed by brilliant counter-attacks and fighting continues between Chedrodown and Rohatin. Polish forces, which had been compelled to withdraw slightly in this section, have begun a new advance. The situation along the Dneister River is calm, the statement declared.

GUARANTEES GIVEN.

Latvia has given the necessary guarantees to the Russian soviet government, and as a result, a Bolshevik peace delegation will go to Riga to meet Polish representatives, Prince Sapieha, Polish Foreign Minister, was notified today by George Tchitcherin, Russian Bolshevik Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Alexander Ladoo, secretary of the Polish delegation during the Minsk conference, said the Polish delegates might start on Sunday. Other Polish officials said today they did not expect the delegation to leave until Monday or Tuesday.

SOIL WILL DO DOUBLE DUTY.

Vaccination of Earth Aids Growth of Plants.

Chicago Man Announces Great Boon to Farmers.

Huge Crops Promised, Result of Experiments.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A discovery by means of which two blades of grass can be made to grow where but one grew before appears to have been made by a Chicago bacteriologist.

Applied to grass alone the discovery would be of minor importance. It is only when two ears of corn are produced, instead of one, or the yield of wheat, peas, beans or tomatoes is doubled, that its possibilities are seen.

All this Dr. Frank M. Wood, inventor of the new process of fertilization, claims for it. It will revolutionize agriculture, he says, reduce the high cost of living and make farm work a pleasure rather than a burden.

What Dr. Wood has done, he says, is to isolate the nitrifying organisms found in the root nodules of leguminous plants, such as clover, alfalfa and cow peas, keep them alive in a liquid emulsion and preserve them so they can be used in the soil around growing plants.

NITRATES ARE FORMED.

Seeds soaked in this emulsion, he has found, grow much more rapidly than ordinary seeds, and have the power of changing all decaying vegetable matter in the soil into nitrates of soda and potash.

Plants fed on this food, it is asserted, develop a luxuriant green foliage and bear twice as much as plants left to their own resources.

"What the process amounts to," he said, "is virtually a vaccination of the soil."

The benevolent germs used in his experiments are known as the nitroso cocci and the nitroso monas.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington has been experimenting with these germs for several years, and in dry form has sent them out to the farmers. But it was found that many of the organisms died in transit. The results were only 75 per cent efficient.

PROBLEM SOLVED.

Dr. Wood, in preserving them in liquid form, believes he has solved the problem. The emulsion can be shipped in small bottles and its strength remains, even when diluted. From one barrel of the concentrated emulsion 120 barrels of the mixture can be made.

For more than twenty years Dr. Wood has been studying all kinds of germ life. He became interested in the bacterization of the soil on learning of the government experiments. But, as he expresses it, he has beaten the government to it. He has discovered the secret of keeping the germs alive by the same method as nature uses.

He distributed some of the emulsion among his neighbors, who were interested in gardening. It was found that a geranium slip soaked in the mixture grew more than twice as fast as slips untreated by the solution, but planted in the same kind of soil and receiving an equal amount of moisture. Cucumbers, cantaloupes and tomatoes thus treated developed like hothouse plants. Golden Bantam corn shot up like magic.

FARMERS WONDER.

Farmers relying on nature's method wondered at the success which had attended their neighbor's efforts, and learned that the secret lay in this germ fertilizer.

"The amazing thing about it," says the discoverer, "is that this fertilizer can be produced at such low cost. Through the new method the farmer can obtain practically the same amount of nitrates for 25 cents an acre that would have cost him otherwise $30. The prices of soda and potash for fertilizing purposes are almost prohibitive.

"Large crop production will mean not only cheaper bread, canned goods and vegetables, but will bring down meat prices by enabling the farmers to feed cattle, hogs and sheep at less expense. This means also cheaper wool. And when the price of food comes down other prices will follow."

Dr. Wood served overseas during the war as captain in the Medical Corps. Has done much of his work at the government agricultural experiment station in Texas.

BOOTLEGGERS LOWER PRODUCTION OF COKE.

LOSS OF 14,510 TONS IN CONNELSVILLE ATTRIBUTED TO ILLICT LIQUOR SELLERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CONNELSVILLE (Pa.) Sept. 9.—The loss of 14,510 tons in coke production in the Connelsville region for the current week is attributed in part by the Connelsville Courier, in its weekly coke review made public today, to the operation of illicit liquor sellers.

"While there has been more or less liquor procurable in the region since January 16 last," says the Courier, "it is only recently that it has become so plentiful in supply as to interfere with the operation of the plants as seriously as it did prior to the inauguration of prohibition. Now the activity of bootleggers and illicit traffickers of all degrees and kinds, supplemented by increased proficiency in the art of 'home brewing,' has fairly deluged the region with every conceivable kind of intoxicant, ranging in potence from 'near beer slop' to 'near death pickax,' and other first aids to Coroners and undertakers. Absolutely no effort is being made by the authorities to suppress the traffic."

earthquake have been killed. At Fivizzano three men were trying to move masonry from behind which they heard groans of someone imprisoned, when a new earth shock occurred, the wall falling on all three and crushing them in sight of onlookers.

When the first earthquake occurred, inmates of the prison at Fivizzano rushed out, declaring that they would at least die in the open. But when the shocks had passed carabineers compelled them to return to their cells with the exception of one man, who slipped away and later was found at the neighboring station of Gragnola, engaged in the robbery of those seriously injured lying in a special train waiting for transport to a hospital. With difficulty the carabineers saved him from the angry crowds which gathered.

During the night while others were engaged in the work of rescue a determined attempt was made to carry off the strong box of the savings bank at Fivizzano. One of the thieves was attacked by peasants and before the soldiers could rescue him he received injuries from which he died.

Two women living near the barracks climbed out of a window to a balcony when the first shock occurred. All floors of their house collapsed and for more than two hours they remained on the balcony, which was in such a threatening state that it was impossible to scale the wall. Finally, they were rescued by means of ropes.

Father English said that, as the boat approached her dock, English passengers bombarded with oranges a Sinn Fein flag he had raised.

He said that during the voyage from Queenstown and Liverpool the English passengers had protested to the ship's officers the singing of Sinn Fein songs by 400 third-class Irish passengers.

A compromise was effected whereby it was agreed that the first-class passengers forego the customary singing of "God Save the King," and substitute "Auld Lang Syne."

DE VALERA SPEAKS.

Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish Republic," tonight dented cable reports from Cork that he was to intervene in the case of the Lord Mayor of Cork, reported dying on the result of a hunger strike in Brixton jail. The Cork rumor was that De Valera was expected to cable the Lord Mayor that his life was too valuable to the Irish cause to sacrifice and ordering him to break his fast.

"Such a thing has never occurred to me," said Mr. De Valera. "The rumor circulated in Cork that I would intervene at the last minute is far fetched. Lord Mayor MacSwiney is fighting his own battle and knows what he is doing."

BACK IN MARION.

MARION (O.) Sept. 9.—Senator Harding returned to Marion tonight from his campaign trip and prepared to resume a front porch campaign which is expected to keep him here during the remainder of September.

Both the nominee and his political managers declared themselves pleased at the practical results of the three-day journey and it was indicated that announcement might be made soon of other trips to be made in the last month of the campaign.

On the return today from Minnesota the Senator made two short rear-platform speeches. The first was at Janesville, Wis., where he praised the influence of the small town in maintaining national tranquillity. The other, a plea that the nation be put "back on the right track," was delivered to a cheering crowd at Rochester, Ind.

PERSHING ON TRAIN.

Gen. Pershing boarded the Senator's train at Chicago today and during the trip across Indiana and Ohio shared some of the popular applause. On his way back to Washington from a vacation in the West, the general called at the Harding car to pay his respects and Senator Harding insisted that he go along as far east as Marion, but insisted that no political significance should be attached to his presence.

Gen. Pershing said he expected to take no part in the campaign but would devote his whole attention during the next few weeks, to army reorganization.

From Chicago, the Senator's private car was attached to a regular passenger train and as it approached Marion the nominee and Gen. Pershing went into the dining-car and held a public reception, during which scores of the passengers filed in to shake hands. The general spent the night at the Harding home here and will resume his journey to Washington tomorrow.

Several front-porch speeches will be made by Senator Harding during the remainder of the next three weeks and his next speaking trip is expected to begin about the first of October. It is understood that his visit to New York will be made during the last part of that month, but the question of what other cities will be included in his schedule has not been decided.

Mrs. Bertha Bauer of Chicago, ways and means vice-chairman for Illinois, told of the difficulties of raising money among women voters.

"We thought that since women had assumed the privileges of the ballot they ought to assume some of its responsibilities," she said, but her figures showed that she had collected $35,367.55 from only five counties in Illinois and that all except $326 had come from Cook county.

There was one subscription of $2000 and thirteen of $1000 in Mrs. Baur's list. The $2000 was received last May from Mrs. John H. Gary, the witness said, and she explained that it was divided between two fiscal years, "in accordance with what I then understood was a general plan."

NO SINISTER PURPOSE.

"Did you have any sinister purpose in raising these funds?" queried Senator Kenyon, asking a stock question.

"No, sir. It was for the best purpose in the world!" replied Mrs. Baur, and she then smilingly assured Senator Pomerene that the remark was not a reflection upon "United States Democrats."

At the start of the session there was evidence that Charles Boeschenstein of Edwardsville, Ill., Democratic national committeeman for the State, had sent letters to postmasters asking voluntary contributions to his party's campaign fund. Five of these, addressed to the postmaster at Augusta, Ill., a rural town in Hancock county, were given to the committee by an emissary of the postmaster, who explained that the official would be too busy to come in person until next week. He also said the postmaster was a Progressive, who had won appointment by a civil service commission after the Democratic incumbent resigned a year ago.

OAKLAND YOUTH SHOT WHILE HUNTING DEER.

AUBURN, Sept. 9.—J. T. Herling of Oakland, 20 years old, was shot and seriously injured yesterday while deer hunting near Forest Hill.

Relatives have not been able to learn whether the wound was from a spent bullet or from the accidental discharge of his own rifle.

Just What She Needed.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets some time ago and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillicothe, Mo. "They not only relieved me of indigestion, but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."—[Advertisement.

Trans-Mississippi Exposition 1898 Gold Medal

Highest Honors Again Awarded

Nine years after the brilliant Exposition at Paris in 1889 was the Trans-Mississippi Exposition held in Omaha, 1898. This was in commemoration of the Louisiana Purchase. The ground covered by this big fair amounted to 200 acres, and although a thousand miles from the center of population of the country, 2,613,508 persons traveled thither.

Most beautiful and artistic electrical displays and flower gardens featured the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, whence it gained the name of "Magic City." Here also the West made lavish display of its abundant wealth in farm products and forestry products.

Here again the exhibit of the Cawston Ostrich Farm of South Pasadena won the Gold Medal, the highest honor which could be conferred.

CAUSES ANXIETY AT WASHINGTON

Far Eastern Republic's Feelers to China Cause.

Moscow Endeavoring to Obtain Recognition.

Peking Divided on Question; Allies Feared.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Efforts of the far eastern republic to establish relations with China have created anxiety both here and in London and Paris, it was said today, because the Verkhne-Udinsk government is known to have fallen completely under control of the Moscow soviet regime.

MOSCOW AT WORK.

The Moscow authorities are said to have been exerting every effort to obtain recognition from China, not only for political reasons, but because it would give them access to grain and other natural resources of Manchuria, needed to avert famine in European Russia during the coming winter. Exclusive control of the Chinese Eastern Railway, now operated by an Allied commission in which Japan is strongly represented, is said to have been offered to China, as well as cancellation of old Russia treaties depriving China of authority in Mongolia, and even surrender of Russian claims of extra territorial jurisdiction in China, all as the price of recognition of the Moscow government.

PROPAGATE DOCTRINES.

Behind these moves to open Chinese frontiers to the Moscow government, officials here asserted, lay a well-understood plan to propagate Bolshevik doctrines in China with the purpose of driving the British out of India and all Asia.

France is the only nation known to have protested to China against an alliance with the far eastern republic. The Chinese authorities are said to be hesitating as to their course.

A portion of the Chinese Cabinet is said to hold that the overtures of the far eastern republic could be accepted without offense to the Allied governments because both the British and Italian governments have initiated negotiations with the soviet authorities and could not object if China followed the same course.

NAVAL SEAPLANES HELP CHESAPEAKE FISHERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. — As a result of patrols maintained by naval seaplanes, Chesapeake Bay fishermen are making the biggest hauls on record.

Immense schools of fish are spotted almost daily by the seaplanes, it was reported, and fishing fleets are given the location by radio communication, or if within sight, by flag signals.

MINISTER TO SWEDEN VISITS WHITE HOUSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Ira Nelson Morris, American Minister to Sweden, who is on leave in this country, called at the White House and State Department yesterday. He came here from Manchester N. H., where he has spent the past month with his family.

"I talked over the Polish situation with Secretary of State Colby for nearly two hours," said Mr. Morris at the White House. "During the seven years I have been in Sweden I have made a close study of conditions in Poland, as the affairs of these people have been rather related to Sweden. I was in a splendid position to watch the course of events and it was the benefit of this information that I was able to give the Secretary of State.

"It is my opinion that the Polish army has saved any immediate invasion of the rest of Europe by the Russian Bolshevikl. The valiant fight put up by the Poles virtually saved civilization at a critical hour."

Mr. Morris said that he expects to leave soon for his post, but probably would not be able to return to Chicago again before his departure for Europe.

WATSON WINS IN PRIMARY VOTE.

Named for Senatorial Race by Georgia Democrats.

Cameron Has Slight Lead in Arizona Ballot.

Lenroot Has Big Majority in Wisconsin Contest.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTA, Sept. 9.—Thomas E. Watson, once Populist candidate for President, was shown to have won the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in complete unofficial returns from yesterday's primary compiled by the Atlanta Journal.

Watson, on these returns, had 215 county unit votes, Gov. Dorsey, 81, Senator Smith, 40.

In the contest for the gubernatorial nomination no canddate had the necessary majority, according to the Journal's returns, which gave former Senator Hardwick 170 and Clifford Walker, 150.

WINSOR ADMITS DEFEAT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 9.—State Secretary Simms has won the Democratic nomination for Governor, probably by a plurality exceeding 2000.

He has received congratulations from his opponent, State Senator Winsor, who pledges cheerful acquiescence and enthusiastic support, and who calls upon his supporters to enroll under the banner of a united Democracy.

The greater part of Simm's majority came from Maricopa county.

Winsor had twi-thirds of the Democratic vote of his home county of Yuma, though Simms carried Maricopa county more than two to one.

Mark Smith is undoubtedly renominated for the Senate. Smith lost his home county of Pima to the radical candidate, Worsley, who had strong support from the Tucson labor unions, which have several thousand members.

Though the fight is close, Ralph Cameron appears the Republican nominee for Senator, over E. S. Clark of Prescott, who gained heavily in Maricopa and had stiff opposition in his home county of Yavapai.

McAllister of Graham probably has the Democratic nomination for supreme judge, though pressed close by Neulon of Phoenix.

Pattee of Tucson, the conservative candidate, was hammered by the unions, who were dissatisfied with his conduct in the Bisbee deportation cases. Yet he carried Pima county and had a large vote in Cochise, including Bisbee.

Wiley E. Jones has been renominated as Attorney-General.

Frank Luke, father of the aviation hero, has secured the Democratic nomination as Tax Commissioner. Peterson is claimed in the lead for Superintendent of Public Instruction and Mine Inspector Bolin claims renomination.

Other offices still appear much in dubt on the Democratic side. Representative Carl Hayden had no opposition.

BRANDEGEE IS NAMED.

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 9.—United States Senator Frank B. Brandegee was renominated as Republican candidate for that office at the State convention of the party today.

LENROOT HOLDS LEAD.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 9. — Atty.-Gen. J. J. Blaine, candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket and having the indorsement of Senator R. M. La Follette, and the Nonpartisan League, leads Roy P. Wilson of Eau Claire, his nearest competitor in the race, by several thousand votes, according to returns from Tuesday's primary in all but three sparsely settled counties.

Senator Irvine L. Lenroot continues in his lead over James Thompson of Lacrosse by more than 23,000 votes. Thompson was supported by La Follette.

A HUBBY'S NICE ONCE IN A WHILE, SAYS AUTHOR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Horatio Winslow, better known as Jane Burr, author of "Letters of a Dakota Divorcee" and "The Glorious Hope" free verse perpetrator and sketcher of the passions, has written another book, "The Passionate Spectator," and has startled London natives with her views on love and matrimony.

According to word from England, she says she is staying in London, whither she went six weeks ago, for "England seems to be the only place where there is any freedom" and because she has a book to bring out that "they would not take on the other side," and because "it's so restful over here."

"I can't stand marriage, though I love to see your young people kissing in the parks—they would be arrested for doing so at home," she told the press of London. "I can't take the responsibility for any man's socks. What I want is romance—and marriage just knocks it on the head. I like men, but I can't have them in the house.

"A husband, to my notion, might have a home of his own, where I could stay if I wished to, and I wouldn't mind having him as my guest once in a while. But it is impossible to have him always about the place. He interferes with one's work. A husband should be a sort of week-end institution—but a short week-end."

London matrons, scholars, politicians, clergy and populace promptly got into arguments about these remarks and even the Lord Mayor's wife stepped into the ring to deliver an ultimatum to the effect that "true women are conservative in all that concerns the realities of life and human instincts are stronger than any modern fancies or schemes."

"I'm happy," Mrs. Winslow writes to Chicago, "because a reform divorce law comes up here next month and the reactionaries are ready to tar and feather me for preaching free love."

"The Passionate Spectator" is said to discuss rather freely the "inside dope" on Chicago society.

Mrs. Winslow has been separated from her husband for several years. She is a member of the Guggenheim family and was Mrs. Jack Punch before she was married to Capt. Winslow.

MAYOR HYLAN'S WIFE DOES OWN HOUSEWORK

NEW YORK EXECUTIVE'S FAMILY HAS NO MAID; DOESN'T WANT ONE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The wife of the Mayor of the City of New York does her own housework.

She enjoys doing her own housework.

A report that Mrs. Hylan was taking care of her own home and cooking her meals occasioned considerable flutter among that part of femininity, which spends its leisure hours retailing the idiosyncrasies of the "last cook."

But it is true, Mrs. Hylan verified it. She handed out some advice as follows:

"Know how to serve yourself and your own family. This is the only safe answer to the servant problem.

"I have been without a maid since early in May. The judge (Mayor Hylan) and myself have suffered no discomforts because of our lack of home help. On the contrary, we are enjoying ourselves, having a regular picnic.

"When we dine at home there is no maid to interrupt the freedom of our chat and confidence by her presence. If we dine out all we do is shut up the house and go on our way.

"We have a great many problems facing us every day, but the servant problem is not one of them. We wait on ourselves and each other and like it."

BRITISH LABOR UNION DEMANDS ARE HEAVY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PORTSMOUTH (Eng.) Sept. 9.—The Trades Union Congress, in session here, adopted a resolution today declaring responsibility for unemployment shall be borne by industry, and that in no case should the level of income fall below 85 per cent of wages earned when in full employment. Power should be obtained to force a levy on industry to raise the necessary fund, the resolution added, and the parliamentary committee was instructed to take necessary action to this end.

By a large majority, the congress decided to replace the parliamentary committee which had hitherto managed national labor affairs by a labor general staff or general council representing every distinct industry affiliated with the congress

LOVE'S DREAM IS SHATTERED.

Girl Arrested in Bay City is Disillusioned.

Partner Charged With Passing Worthless Checks.

Finery is Endangered When Police Enter.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—Threatened with the loss of the clothes in which she was gowned, her roseate dream of unconventional romance transformed into an ultra modern drama of sordid realism, Lillian Ford, who was arrested yesterday at the Hotel Manx with her companion, Paul Walper, announced she was completely disillusioned.

Walper is charged with passing worthless checks totaling $700 with which to purchase finery for the girl who posed as his wife. He claims to be the son of Charles F. Walper of Pittsburg. For a time, it is alleged, he resided with the girl in an apartment in Viné street, Los Angeles. She says she is the daughter of a naval officer stationed at San Diego.

There were tears in her eyes as she told of the deep love which she had felt for her companion. It was an age-old story of instant attraction, a beautiful girl, but 23 years old, credulous and without worldly wisdom; a man three years her senior, who painted attractive word pictures. There would be money—lots of it. His father was a millionaire.

TRIP WEST EXPLAINED.

Later, of course, they would be married; he had just relinquished a position in St. Louis as traveling manager of a contracting company and had come to the West in order that his wife might secure a divorce decree upon the technical charge of nonsupport.

Miss Ford met Walper in the Kansas City union station where, with her mother, her sister and her stepfather, who had just been assigned to duty in San Diego, they were waiting for a train which would carry them West.

They all traveled in the same direction and the romance progressed rapidly. Walper told his stories of wealth to Miss Ford's family, admitting his matrimonial entanglements, but saying he soon would be free.

Walper remained in Los Angeles and the girl, with her family, went on to the naval post. Miss Ford and a sister did not remain there long. Making excuses to their family they returned to Los Angeles, where Walper had taken an apartment for them in Vine street.

Not long ago the sister returned to her mother. Lillian [illegible] she would join friends in San Francisco, left for the north, was met by Walper, who her parents believed had left for the East.

For a week or more they are said to have lived in comparative luxury. The girl was beautifully clothed and was lavishly provided with money. They lived at the Plaza Hotel. A little later there was a move to another hotel, but still her suspicions were not aroused. Later the two were domiciled at the Manx Hotel, where they were arrested today.

"I was never more surprised in my life," she told the police. "I had no idea that the checks which Paul drew each day were worthless. He had given me all that I desired and we were very happy."

WOOL CLOTH PRICES CUT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — An approximate cut of 2 per cent in wool cloth prices by the American Woolen Company was noted at the company's opening of its fall exhibit today, according to the Textile World Journal. The cut, said to be less than anticipated by the trade, was attributed to little demand for woolen goods.

HUNGARIANS ARE HELD BY REDS.

Soviet Plans Reprisals; "Fixed Distinctions" Regarding Grain.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The trials of Hungarian Bolsheviks in Vienna have led to reprisals in soviet Russia, the State Department was informed today in dispatches from Baltic sources. Ten prominent Austrian officers are being held as personal hostages and 1000 more Austrian officers have been imprisoned in concentration camps, the dispatch said. Distribution of grain in soviet Russia will take place "in accordance with fixed instructions," the department has been advised. Bolshevik authorities have taken charge of grain warehouses and have stationed sentries at the mills to prevent peasants from stealing or shipping goods from the mills. The Bolsheviki have forbidden grinding of grain under penalty of capital punishment and have decreed there should be no grinding done until after the sowing of grain in the autumn.

ATTACKS HARDING'S ATTITUDE ON WHEAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Congressman Frank E. Doremus, chairman of the central western headquarters of the Democratic National Committee today issued the following statement on Senator Harding's speech at the Minnesota State Fair Grounds yesterday:

"Senator Harding's St. Paul speech was an adroit effort to placate farmers who remembered what he said when the bill for $2 wheat was on its passage. He said then, and he does not undertake to deny it now, that 'dollar wheat makes a very profitable occupation,' and 'if the qualities of American patriotism are such that we must guarantee the American farmer a price for his wheat in the face of world famine, then there is not patriotism enough in this country to win the war.'

"Senator Harding said at that time, as the Congressional Record for July 18, 1917, shows, that it would be agreeable to him to strike at 'the manifest greed in some agricultural sections,' but he now sidesteps by declaring that no public servant would dare to say he believed in dollar wheat amid the price wildness which is prevailing today.'

"When the Senator made that speech, the United States was at war. . . . The farmer was in worse case for labor by far than he is now. If Senator Harding thought dollar wheat was profitable then, and the demand for $2 wheat was greedy, he will have difficulty in explaining it away now to the hard-headed farmer of the wheat belt, however roseate the program he may lay out on paper."

WORKERS MAKE ARMS IN ITALY.

Strikers in Automobile Shops Build Armored Cars.

Machine-Guns Mounted Upon Airplanes.

Efforts Continue to Solve Serious Problems.

BY HENRY WALES.

[ST CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The French Foreign Office learns that the employees of the communized automobile factories at Turin are spending their time constructing armored cars and crude tanks which they threaten to use if the government attempts military interference in the spread of Bolshevism.

The machine guns seized from the Venice arsenal secretly have been taken to the Brescia airplane works where the employees are mounting the weapons on completed machines for possible use against the authorities.

Thousands of Milan workmen who reported for duty on Monday and Tuesday failed to appear this morning, giving sickness as an excuse. Observers report that a general air of lassitude is prevalent.

SEEK SOLUTION.

[ST CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Sept. 9.—Efforts continue to be made to bring about a solution of the situation which has arisen throughout Italy as a result of the movement among metal workers, to occupy plants in many of the most important industrial centers. The government, it is said by newspapers, will act only to insure order. Reports indicate that quiet prevails at all affected centers, and that engineers, foremen and clerical staffs at occupied plants still refuse to join the workers.

It is said the majority of the metal workers are controlled by extreme socialists who are desirous of giving the movement a political character, but responsible leaders of the party are said to discourage such a policy. At many places the workers have announced they are ready to convert themselves into co-operative societies, which would undertake the direct management of works, that have been occupied, pay rent which would be fixed by arbitration, and deposit the necessary guarantees.

LAUNCH DESTROYER.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LEGHORN (Italy) Sept. 9.—Workmen who have occupied the Orlando shipyards here launched a destroyer, built there for the Italian government, today. Black and red flags waved above it, however, as it slid down the ways into the sea, and as it gracefully took the water there rose deafening cries of "Vive Socialism."

Deputy Capocchi, who is president of the metal workers' union, launched the vessel and Signora Pietro Mascagni, wife of the famous composer, acted as godmother for the new ship.

POSSE SEEKS ALLEGED SLAYER OF SHEEPMAN.

MURDER SAID TO HAVE RESULTED FROM QUARREL OVER FLOCKS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 9.—Posses deputized by Sheriff T. F. Keller of Price, Utah, are scouring the mountains and woods near Sunnyside for George Parris, alleged murderer of Tom Avgeris. Both men are sheep raisers and in separating the flocks Parris claimed Avgeris had corralled some of his sheep. Avgeris denied the accusations, and Parris drew a revolver and, pressing it against his victim, shot him through the heart, according to the authorities. He then fled to the mountains, which he is said to know thoroughly.

MUST PROTECT ALL AMERICANS.

Briton Escapes from Bandit Leader Zamora.

Rail Strike in Southern Country Settled.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The rights of Americans engaged in agriculture, mining and manufacturing in Mexico as well as of those interested in oil properties have been the subject of recent representations to the Mexican government, it was learned today. Instances regarded as infringing on those rights through double taxation or confiscatory measures have been noted in the correspondence, it was said.

The action was described as in line with the policy of the State Department to keep Mexican officials advised that the United States expected American vested rights in that country to receive the protection that is their due under accepted international usages.

BRITON ESCAPES.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—Bertie C. Johnson, a British subject who was kidnaped by Pedro Zamora at Autlan on August 10, has escaped from the bandits and is on his way to Guadalajara under escort of government troops, it was announced at the War Department last night. It was said that Johnson had escaped during a fight near Guanachil, a village in the State of Jalisco.

W. A. Gardiner, an American citizen, who also was a captive of Zamora, has arrived at Talpa, State of Jalisco, on his way to Guadalajara.

A railroad strike which virtually stopped traffic on the National lines for eight hours yesterday was settled last evening, when Provisional President De la Huerta granted three of the four demands presented by the strikers. It was expected train operation would be normal today.

Not a single train moved during the period of the strike, with the exception of those over the British-owned route between this city and Vera Cruz.

The strikers secured recognition of the Engineers' and Firemen's Union, with a 75 per cent wage increase, a promise that all pending wage disputes would be adjusted, and an agreement that expenses of delegates to the recent men's convention here would be paid. The provisional President refused to accede to the demand for the removal of Francisco Perez, who was recently named general manager of the National lines.

Announcement was likewise made that virtually all the demands of the strikers in cotton mills, tobacco factories and shoe manufactories in the Federal district and Mexico City had been granted, and that the strikers had returned to work.

The announcement of the settlement of these strikes was followed, however, by dispatches saying that all cotton mill workers in the States of Vera Cruz, Tlaxcala and Puebla had declared a strike. A widespread walkout of agricultural workers in the State of Michoacan also was reported.

W. MURRAY CRANE BETTER.

DALTON (Mass.) Sept. 9.—The condition of former Senator W. Murray Crane is described as "more comfortable" in a bulletin issued at the Crane home tonight. More hope for his ultimate recovery is expressed by the family.

SHIPPERS ARE URGED TO HELP RAILS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Shippers and manufacturers and shippers' associations were urged to assist American railroads in making fullest use of their rolling stock in an appeal issued today by the Railroad Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Co-operation in loading freight cars nearer to their full capacity and cutting down delays in loading and unloading cars was urged.

It was suggested that shippers voluntarily reduce the time cars are kept by them to twenty-four hours, which practice, if adopted, the committee said, would produce a great improvement in transportation facilities that an addition of 500,000 cars would involve. The average car capacity, it was added, is 40 tons, while the average load actually carried is 27.8 tons.

TROOPS LEAVING DENVER.

DENVER, Sept. 9.—Two additional companies of infantry and detachments of signal corps and artillery troops, began entraining today. Seventeen officers and 400 men will leave. The troops will be sent here following street car strike disorders.

Intimate Tea at Twilight

Is an experience that always makes a woman feel more feminine.

Perhaps she gains something in winsome grace or delicate appeal, as well, by an hour or two of tea talk with sympathetic spirits in her own or someone's else boudoir. At any rate, she loves to spend the dull interim, between calls or shopping and the time to dress for dinner, in that delightful way, especially now that all her friends are back in town and there are so many functions, not to mention Summer adventures, to be discussed.

It is charming to possess a sleeping chamber or boudoir so attractively furnished and appointed that your close friends love to have you receive them there, and you are proud to do so. Sometimes a few tastefully applied touches will work magic in an inartistic bedroom—and if there's furniture to be selected, a visit to the proper section of Barker Bros.' store will show you how much there is that's new and beautiful and appropriate, both in looks and worth and price. You'll love picking out whatever new sleeping room furniture is needed in your home at Barker Bros. this September!

And you will find—at Barker Bros.—values which are surprisingly attractive under any and all conditions.

The following examples are representative of the many opportune offerings here:

Colonial Four-Poster Bed, mahogany finish....$57.50

The interesting trio illustrated above is composed of a Chair, Rocker and Bench in finishes of either walnut or mahogany, upholstered in various shades of damask, cretonne or tapestry, in designs of either the Queen Anne, Adam, Early English or Louis XVI period. The Chair and Rocker are each priced at $27.50 and the Bench at $20.00—all surprising values!

Luxurious Bedding and Fine Linens---Values Unusually Attractive

The satiny sheen of a bedspread of harmonious coloring, the friendly warmth of a thick, soft blanket, or the freshness of well-woven sheets may make or mar one's enjoyment of the sleeping room. And the household supplied with too many towels, napkins, tablecloths, etc., was never known!

Knowing this, we feel sure that you will appreciate the privilege of being able to buy these requisites to home enjoyment at the exceedingly moderate prices which we offer.

Here are a few of the really wonderful values to be found in this department:

SHIPPERS ARE URGED TO HELP RAILROADS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Shippers and manufacturers and shippers in general were urged to assist American railroads in making fullest use of their rolling stock in an appeal issued today by the Railroad Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Co-operation in the prompt handling of freight cars nearer to maximum capacity and cutting down to a minimum loading and unloading time is suggested.

It was suggested that shippers voluntarily reduce the time now allowed kept by them to twenty-four hours, which practice, if adopted, the committee said, would produce the same improvement in transportation facilities that an addition of 344,000 cars would involve. The average freight car capacity, it was added, is 34 tons, while the average actual load carried is 27.8 tons.

TROOPS LEAVING DENVER

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

DENVER, Sept. 9.—Two regimental companies of infantry, detachments of signal corps and artillery troops, began entraining today. Seventeen officers and 315 men will leave. The troops will go here following street car riots.

RELIEF WORKER ACCUSES SERBS.

Charges English Mission in Montenegro Molested.

Death Threatens Leaders if They Continue.

Asserts Reign of Terror in Ipek Country.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, Aug. 30. — Charges that the Serbian military forces have stopped a British and a Canadian mission from doing relief work in Montenegro are made by Alex Devine of Winchester in a statement he has just issued.

Mr. Devine describes himself as a friend of Montenegro whose "only interest in that country is that it shall have the chance of determining its own fate—a right that has been denied to Montenegrins alone of all the recognized Allied nations, owing to the forcible seizure of their country by Serbian troops." Mr. Devine denies the report that he is a "paid agent" of Nicholas, formerly King of Montenegro.

Mr. Devine alleges that the British relief mission was prevented from entering Montenegro by the Serbian military forces acting on orders from Belgrade, and under threats of violence was compelled to retire to a base in Italy.

According to Mr. Devine, the Canadian medical mission headed by Col. Burnham, which had been operating in Montenegro for some time, also has been stopped. He states that Col. Burnham has appealed to the British Foreign Secretary for protection, informing the secretary that "the seriousness of the situation here, created by the Serbs, admits of no delay" and asking that the British government insure the safety of the mission. Mr. Devine quotes Col. Burnham as accusing the Serbians of seizing the boats and material of the mission and of terrorizing his people. Mr. Devine says:

"Col. Burnham says that he has been threatened with assassination and that the mission is spied on to such an extent that even the sick are afraid to come to the hospital for relief. The colonel adds:

"'When the veil is lifted from the Ipek country, there will be found a condition of affairs which will come as a rude shock to those who have put their confidence and given their help to Serbia. The reign of terror is complete, there are not many Montenegrins, and in another year there will be none left. The entire country is mourning and it is no longer possible for these people to exist, many have lost their reason and all are in the direst distress. Montenegro is being done to death.'"

MUSICAL ROCKS.

A few miles from Pottstown, Pa., or about forty-five miles from Philadelphia, are to be found the only musical rocks in this country if not the whole world. They are strewn over half an acre on the top of a hill overlooking the Schuylkill Valley, some lying loose, some being embedded deeply in the ground, some weighing several tons, and some small enough to be picked up and carried away in the hand.

They are of a uniform dark brown color, showing unmistakable traces of iron, and never collect either moss or lichens as most rocks do—neither do any wild plants or weeds grow near them, nor will any ivy grow over them. When struck with a hammer or other metallic instrument they respond with a clear resonant note like a bell. The larger the rock struck the louder and clearer the bell note, the ringing of the big rocks being heard quite plainly across the valley.

A musician after a little practice is able to produce the notes of the scale on them in a manner similar to the xylophone. When small rocks are carried away and struck elsewhere they refuse to ring, and this fact leads many to believe that the ground underneath the rocks is formed like a huge sounding board, while the loose masses of granite have been cunningly arranged by the hand of nature to refract sound in such a way as to produce the ringing notes.—[Detroit News.

Quick Work on the Farm.

Jim Lawton is the name of the Missouri farmer near Carrollton, who set out to beat his own record, notes the Bookfield Argus. Two years ago his wife baked bread in eight and a quarter minutes after the wheat was cut in the field. Last week Farmer Lawton set his reaper going in a corner of the wheat field and stationed men along the line to manufacture. As soon as a bundle of grain fell from the reaper men rushed it to the thresher close by. The mill was twelve rods distant. At a drop of the hat the mules started to work. A minute and a half later a peck of wheat was in the sack and on a horse. A minute and seventeen seconds later the flour was delivered to Mrs. Lawson. And in three minutes and two seconds from the starting of the reaper the first griddle cakes were ready for the table. In four minutes and thirty seconds from the starting of the reaper biscuits were passed to the spectators.

Rattlesnakes Harmless to Hogs.

I was talking with a Nevada mining man, now on a visit to Boston, and he told me that on his place in the mountains he kept a number of pigs which "proved useful in driving away all the rattlesnakes in the vicinity of the camp."

"The bite of a snake never harms a pig, no matter how poisonous the snake's fangs may be, for the pig is encased in an armor of fat," said the miner. "You would be surprised to see how nimble a pig can be; and when it chases a snake, it catches him every time.

"The pigs like to eat the snakes and tear them in half with their feet. No matter how many snakes a pig eats, it does not hurt him, and the pork from such a pig is just as good and harmless as any you get in the East here."—[Boston Post.

EUROPE MUST WORK OUT OWN SALVATION.

BUDAPEST BANKER SAYS PEOPLE WILL HAVE TO DIG OWN WAY OUT.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 21.—"The peoples of Europe are in a dark, deep pit, and they must work themselves out of it," says Roland Hegedus, bank director and lecturer at the Budapest University.

"The United States is richer than she knows, but she cannot reconstruct Europe by loans. All the nations of Europe are beset with a succession of political and economical problems that are well nigh insolvable.

"Russia is the key to the situation, and until some sort of consistent government is established there we can hope for little here. "What the United States can do, perhaps, is to work to secure free trade among these Central European countries. None of us can do any business with tariff frontiers.

"I believe the paper money situation will force a revision of the peace treaties. All these little nations are living from hand to mouth, printing up money to keep going. Poland is hardly a year old and already she has a national debt of 130,000,000,000 marks, with a 40,000,000,000 deficit. The same is more or less true of Czecho-Slovakia, of Hungary and of all of us. The armies are eating up half our incomes, yet each nation is afraid to disarm because of possible attacks from neighbors.

"With this paper money carnival, Central Europe cannot trade with countries having better moneys, such as Spain, Holland and Switzerland. This situation also applies to Italy and France.

"Meanwhile, our civilisation is going by the board. Because of the exchange, our universities and reading people cannot afford to subscribe for science or law publications of England or the United States.

"For the same reason our educated but impoverished classes cannot go abroad to find work, provided they could secure passports.

"These conditions are not altogether the results of a bad war, but of bad peace which has fallen harder on Hungary than any other country. God made her the center of a geographical unit and the peace frontiers ruin not only new Hungary, but the parts taken away."

OPEN MONGOLIA TO FOREIGN COMMERCE.

RESTORATION OF TERRITORY IS INTEGRAL PART OF CHINA A KEY.

URGA (Mongolia) July 25. — "Mongolia, restored as an integral part of the Chinese republic, will soon be opened to foreign commerce with equal opportunities to all nations," said Gen. Hsu Shu-chen, commander of China's frontier defense forces in Mongolia, to the Associated Press correspondent, enroute to Siberia through Urga.

It was Gen. Hsu Shu-chen's army of 10,000 men marching 700 miles across the Gobi Desert in the winter of 1918-1919 which occupied Urga and put an end to the political power of the Buddhist priests, whose leader, termed "the Living God," then ruled Mongolia as an autonomous state.

"All Mongolian-Russian treaties, granting special privileges to Russians in Mongolia, have been abrogated," continued "Little Hsu," as he is familiarly called to distinguish him from President Hsu. "Kiachta, although a Siberian city, is still garrisoned by Chinese troops because Kolchak's representative asked the Chinese to protect them from the Reds and the date of withdrawal has not yet been decided."

THE VICTORIA CROSS FOR ENGLISH WOMEN.

Women are hereafter to be eligible to the Victoria Cross.

This honor was established in England at the close of the Crimean War and the first recipients were military and naval heroes of Inkerman, Sebastopol and Balaclava. Readers with long memories will remember a full page of pictures in the Illustrated London News in 1857 portraying some of the valorous deeds thus recognized and rewarded. In one of them a naval officer was shown seizing a "live" shell which had fallen within the redoubt where he stood and throwing it over the wall so that it might explode outside without danger to his companions. The form of bravery, however, for which the Victoria Cross was at first most frequently bestowed was the rescue of wounded comrades under heavy fire.

With the single exception of civilians who bore arms against the Sepoy mutineers in India the Victoria Cross has not heretofore been bestowed upon persons in civil life. The decoration could only be won by men in the military or naval service of Great Britain. Among the recipients may be found officers and men of practically every grade, although noncommissioned officers are most numerous in the list, which, however, includes one field marshal, Sir Evelyn Wood, and one admiral of the fleet, Sir Arthur K. Wilson. "Conspicuous bravery in the presence of the enemy" is in every instance the essential element of the award, manifested in "some signal act of valor or devotion to their country."

By a royal warrant just published it is now ordained that hereafter "among those eligible for the decoration shall be matrons, sisters, nurses and the staff of nursing services and other services pertaining to hospitals and nursing and civilians of either sex serving regularly or temporarily under the orders, direction or supervision of the naval, military and air forces of the empire."

It will be perceived that this enlargement of eligibility permits the recognition not only of acts of heroism in the presence of the enemy on the part of women, but also of similar acts of valor by male civilians, who have not hitherto been admissible to this much-prized honor. In the South African war against the Boers there were several war correspondents who would almost certainly have received the Victoria Cross if civilians had then been eligible to receive the decoration.—[Sun and New York Herald.

Story of the Three Balls.

During the middle ages the Lombards made a practice of lending money at interest and, of the Lombards, the family of the Medici were the first to turn the practice into a profession. Many years before, Averardo de Medici, a commander who served with distinction under Charlemagne the Great, slew the giant Mugello, whose club or mace had three iron balls attached to it in order that it might be a more offensive weapon. For this reason that family of the Medici adopted the three balls, gilded, as the heraldic device on their coat-of-arms and the appearance of this insignia throughout Italy soon came to be recognized as symbol for money-lending, later spreading over practically the entire civilized world.

Incidentally, the name of the Medici has been further perpetuated through the word "medicine," a tribute to the great skill of the members of this house in the art of healing. Doctors and pawnbrokers may, therefore, be said to have something in common, though the sign of the one never appears upon the office of the other.—[Columbus Dispatch.

LIGHTNING PRINTS.

There have been more marvelous cases of lightning photographs than that which befell the unfortunate soldier at Chertsey during a recent storm. Branches of the elm trees beneath which he was sheltering were reproduced in pattern on his body when he was struck dead. But in the Department of Seine-et-Marne some years ago a peasant girl had a picture of a cow she was herding printed on her breast by a flash of lightning. The cow was killed, but the girl recovered. An Italian sailor, killed by lightning as he sat near the mast, had upon his back a print of a horseshoe that was nailed to the mast. But perhaps the most remarkable case of the kind was that related by John Still, the famous bishop of Wells. A storm broke over Wells Cathedral during a service. Afterwards the bishop, his wife, and many members of the congregation found themselves marked with a cross on various parts of the body. Not a soul was injured by the lightning.—[London Morning Post.

SEES GREAT BRITAIN AS ENEMY OF FRANCE.

DECLARES ENGLAND OPPOSED TO DESTRUCTION OF ARMY OF GERMANY.

By Henry Wales.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The French military occupation of the whole of Germany until the reparation claims have been paid, or an entente with the German anti-British elements and the Tirpitz clique, is demanded by Oliver Guiheneuc, a leading naval expert and political savant, in the newspaper Rappel this morning.

"Franco-American relations are friendly enough to enable us to count on the United States for support," says M. Guiheneuc. "The Americans play diplomacy brutally, with their cards face up on the table. The Latin peoples will eventually perceive that England is playing Italy and Spain against France and Greece against Italy.

"England destroyed the German fleet and merchant marine and now opposes us when we seek to break the German army. Britain has seized all of Germany's colonies and has appropriated every German cable with the exception of Russia. Germany contracts to supply Russia with locomotives, and is proceeding with its plan to colonize Russia under the guidance of England, who is seeking to prevent France from becoming an industrial power replacing Germany.

"In permitting Britain to take the German colonies we destroyed the safety valve of the world. Is it impossible for France to ally herself with German maritime, industrial and colonial interests?"

MARK ANNIVERSARY OF ADMISSION AS STATE.

NATIVE SONS AND DAUGHTERS TAKE PART IN SAN FRANCISCO PARADE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—The official observance of the seventieth anniversary of California's admission into the Union was held here today, a parade, literary exercises and a grand ball being features. Executives of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, which orders conducted the celebration, said the parade was the biggest pageant of its kind since 1910.

Addresses by Senator Phelan, James F. Hoey, grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and Mayor Rolph, were delivered.

More than 100 pariors of the two orders were in the pageant, every group being costumed in a manner symbolical of some epoch of the State's history or some State flower. Army and navy units, fire and police departments in the bay cities and boy scout organizations also were represented in the parade.

In his address Senator Phelan suggested that the names of Father Junipero Serra, James W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold in California; Juan Fernandez Cabrillo, discoverer of California, and David C. Broderick, a United States Senator in the argonaut period, be considered when California selects its representatives for the Hall of Fame in Washington. Cabrillo, noted Portuguese explorer, lies in a grave on the island of San Miguel in the Santa Barbara Channel, he said.

FRESNO COUNTY CAPTURES PRIZE.

Has Best County Exhibit at the State Fair.

Rotarian and Governor's Day Observed.

Parachute Drop of 4000 Feet Gives Crowd Thrill.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—Fresno county won the grand prize in the county exhibits in the main pavilion of the State Fair, according to the award of the judges announced tonight.

The award follows: Fresno first, Mings second, Placer third, Stanislaus fourth, Alameda fifth, Los Angeles sixth, San Joaquin, seventh and Butte eighth.

In a statement accompanying the award, the judges declared that "the collection of fresh fruits, vegetables, field crops and other staple products at the California State Fair is the largest, most varied and of the highest quality that we have ever seen assembled in any State or country."

SEE PRIZE CATTLE.

Rotarian and Governor's Day was celebrated at the State Fair today by a throng which rivaled the attendance of 50,000 Monday. Hundreds of cattle, hogs and sheep, many wearing the awards won in the show, participated in the live-stock parade this morning.

The grand stand was jammed to overflowing this afternoon for the races, vaudeville acts and other features. The parachute drop from a height of 4000 feet gave the crowd a big thrill.

Thousands brought their suppers and stayed on the grounds to enjoy the evening program. It was one of the big days of the fair.

TELLS OF IRRIGATION.

Irrigation matters were discussed at an informal conference of members of the California State Irrigation Association this afternoon.

This association is working for adoption of a plan put forth in 1919 by R. B. Marshall, formerly an Army engineer, for a system of canals and storage projects that would supply water to 12,000,000 acres in California.

Texas Shippers Complain About California Ruse.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Complaint was made today to the State Railroad Commission that this State is being rapidly depleted of refrigerator cars by California shipping interests. To get these cars to California, it is alleged, a systematic campaign of shipping ice from Texas to that State was started a few weeks ago. Since then several hundred cars of ice have been shipped from points in Texas to Los Angeles and other California towns. The movement has even extended to Oklahoma, 100 cars of ice being shipped from Oklahoma City to Los Angeles, the complaint says.

The concentration of refrigerator cars in California, by this unique method promises to do injury to perishable products in Texas, it is asserted.

Pittsburg Has Gone Aground on Courland Coast.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The armored cruiser Pittsburg is aground in the Baltic Sea three miles off Libau, on the coast of Courland, said a report received at the Navy Department today.

The report came from Vice-Admiral Huse, on board the Pittsburg, but it did not indicate whether the vessel was in serious danger.

The report said the transport Frederick, now at Antwerp, had been ordered to proceed to the assistance of the Pittsburg, after transferring to another transport her passengers, consisting chiefly of the Navy Olympic team.

No details of the cause of the Pittsburg's grounding were given in the report. The cruiser was proceeding to Reval from Danzig. Marine charts show a rocky shoal near the entrance to Libau Harbor, and it is presumed that the Pittsburg grounded on this.

The cruiser is the flagship of Vice-Admiral Huse, commander-in-chief of American naval forces in European waters.

STATE PRUNE GROWERS VOTE TO REORGANIZE.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 9.—Following a series of conferences with the Federal Trade Commission, the board of directors and trustees of the California Prune and Apricot Growers, Inc., voted yesterday to change their organization from a corporation to a noncapital stock association, H. G. Coykendall, general manager, announced today.

Reorganization along these lines will begin immediately, the manager announced, and should be completed by 1922, when all of the present contracts held by the association with its 10,000 grower members expire.

BABY KEEPS MOTHER OUT OF PENITENTIARY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Sept. 9. Mrs. Margaret Burlington, convicted in a Federal court in Wisconsin of having used the mails to defraud, and sentenced to three years imprisonment, was refused admission to the Missouri State penitentiary today because she had a six months' old baby with her.

A deputy marshal started back to Wisconsin with Mrs. Burlington and the baby.

RECOVERS HER HEALTH AT THE AGE OF 72

Oakland Woman Looks Twenty Years Younger Since She Began Taking Tanlac, Declares Daughter.

"My mother has gained ten pounds in weight since she began taking Tanlac, which I think is truly remarkable for a person seventy-two years of age, and besides that she looks every bit of twenty years younger," said Miss Matilda Shostron, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Shostron, of 1647 12th St., Oakland, Cal., a few days ago.

"Up to the time mother began to suffer with stomach trouble and rheumatism several years ago, she had always been strong and active, with a wonderful amount of energy for one of her age, but after these troubles came on her she got so weak that she wasn't able to do a thing about the house. Her appetite was very poor, and she was actually afraid to eat, for it always meant suffering. After every meal she suffered from nausea and bloated up terribly with gas and had such cramping pains she could hardly stand up straight. She had severe pains across her back and could hardly stoop over to pick up anything from the floor.

"The rheumatism was so bad in her arms and fingers she could hardly hold anything in her hand and couldn't lift her arms to do up her hair. There were many nights when she didn't sleep a wink, and actually she didn't average two nights' sleep in a week. She resorted to all kinds of medicines trying to get relief, but with it all lost weight and strength and kept getting worse.

"But now it's just wonderful to see the difference Tanlac has made in her condition. Why, everybody notices how much better she looks. She has a fine appetite, eats most anything she wants and never suffers a bit from nausea, gas or pains, and in fact, her stomach doesn't bother her a particle. The rheumatic pains have practically left her and she can do up her hair and use her arms in any way she wants to. She sleeps like a child at night and has gained so much in strength and energy that she does the ironing and is always helping around the house, and at night goes out with me anywhere we want to go. I am so grateful for what Tanlac has done for mother that I am more than glad to give this statement in the hope that it will be of benefit to others."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores and by Irwin's Drug Store, Redondo Beach.—[Advertisement.

HARD BATTLE PROMISED IN RAISIN TRUST SUIT.

Head of Fresno Corporation Declares Government's Dissolution Action to be Fought With Vigor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRESNO, Sept. 9.—The California Associated Raisin Company, with headquarters in Fresno, has no fear of the outcome of the suit brought by the government to dissolve the growers' $5,000,000 corporation, Wylie M. Giffen, president, stated here today. The government late yesterday filed its action in the Federal court at Los Angeles, in an effort to prevent the enforcement of raisin contracts held by the Associated. These contracts are asserted to have been obtained by coercion. Other charges of intimidation on the part of the Associated against the growers are made in the government suit.

The statement issued by President Giffen follows:

"We do not believe that we have violated the law, we are absolutely sure that morally we have done no wrong, and we propose to fight this suit with vigor and enthusiasm.

"Since this suit had to be brought, we are glad it has come in the form that it has, as the case will be settled in this way on its merits.

"It is not a question of the price; it is not a question of the packers' contracts; it is not a question of selling 'firm at opening' or 'guaranteeing against our own decline,' but in the final analysis is the far more important question of whether or not the farmers of this country have a right to organise for the purpose of selling their own produce. We not only believe they have, but believe that the intelligent marketing of farm products through co-operation is the biggest idea in California today and one that means more to the prosperity and future greatness of the State than any other. Inspired with this thought, we do not propose to shrink from the responsibility that has been thrust upon us, no matter what the temporary inconvenience may be."

Copies of the complaint against certain officials of the California Associated Raisin Company were sent yesterday by U. S. Atty. O'Connor to Fresno for service, to allow the defendants time to prepare for the hearing before U. S. Dist. Judge Bledsoe the 20th inst., when an order to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue is made returnable.

The defendants include Wiley M. Giffen, F. H. Wilson, Hector Burness, Milo L. Rowell, F. A. Seymour, C. R. Murdoch, Wiley Buckner, H. W. Welsh, E. H. Wilson, A. G. Wishon, Karl Emarzian, J. J. Eyman, S. H. Stiles, W. W. Parlier, P. Boyajian, Floyd H. Wilbur, K. Arabelain, A. Shashbozian, J. H. Hanallian, George Feaver, Jr., S. P. Frisella, Levi Garrett, J. E. Hall, H. T. Matsu, Thomas Martin, J. O. Norman, Richard Norrish, W. R. Nutting, E. F. Pickerill, George B. Parsons and A. G. Robinson.

The complaint was sworn to by U. S. Atty. O'Conner and by John H. Atwood, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Palmer, who made a tour of Southern California some time ago on the mission of organizing Federal fair price committees. It is understood that the evidence upon which the complaint is based was collected by agents of the Federal Trade Commission.

OBJECT OF CASE.

The object of the bill, as set out in the preamble, is to prevent the defendant corporation from further combining and conspiring to monopolize at Fresno, and throughout the United States, trade and interstate commerce in raisins, in violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

It is set forth that the defendants combined and conspired to monopolise such interstate commerce, and did monopolize it in that they seized about 90 per cent of the total annual crop of raisin grapes in the San Joaquin Valley by means of contracts requiring the growers to sell their grapes exclusively to the defendant corporation, and procured a large number of such contracts through the employment of undue persuasion, coercion and intimidation against growers reluctant and unwilling to enter into such contracts, thus excluding other concerns and securing for the defendants the power of fixing prices for finished raisins at the highest figures which dealers and the public could be induced to pay, enormously in excess of what is reasonable in relation to costs of production and manufacture.

It is set out in the bill of complaint that the company was organized under the laws of California in 1912 as a stock corporation, with an original capital stock of $1,000,000 that was subsequently increased to $5,000,000; that the stock is largely owned not only by raisin growers, but also by professional men who are not raisin growers, and is freely bought and sold. It is asserted that the defendants through a voting trust agreement procured for themselves control over the management and operations of the corporation, which they have ever since exercised.

"COERCION EMPLOYED."

The complaint further sets forth that, not content to build up business of a normal and lawful character, the defendants got contracts from growers of raisin grapes to sell and deliver the grapes exclusively to the corporation by means of giving to the company the color of a so-called co-operative association, by conducting so-called "membership" campaigns, wherein improper methods of inducement and coercion were employed; by representing that it was necessary to secure a dominating control over the industry and that high prices would be realised by the growers of raisin grapes if such control was perfected; by advertising in the newspapers that the defendants would renounce all contracts with growers if they did not secure a sufficient number to perfect such control; by employing "caravans," consisting of growers who had entered the combine, to visit growers who had held out and to induce these growers, by weight of numbers and by various forms of pressure, to sign up; by issuing statements by farm loan committees that they would look with disfavor upon applications for loans by growers who did not make contracts with the corporation; by repeatedly advertising in the local newspapers that growers who would not enter into such contracts were "slackers" and "disloyal forces," when the United States was at war with Germany; by printing advertisements containing maps covering designated regions, where the growers were refusing to enter into contracts, in connection with lists of the names of persons who had yielded and signed with Nuestoventuredwho" canthtleTn

It is asserted that the defendants artificially created and inflamed local hostility against growers who refused to aid the monopoly by entering into contracts to the end that persons who had held out should be compelled to enter the combination.

PACKERS "AGENTS."

It is also charged that the defendants, having monopolized the supply of raisin grapes, enforced their control by making contracts with certain packers, reducing them to the position of agents or employees of the defendants; by refusing to do business with other packers; by procuring a curtailment of raisin grape output by growers; by establishing a system of selling the annual output of raisins at what are known as "firm opening prices," under which system jobbers and wholesale dealers, on pain of finding themselves unable to buy an adequate supply of raisins, are required early each year to contract for the goods desired from the Associated at a price to be fixed subsequently by the defendants at arbitrary pleasure; by fixing prices in the summer of 1919 at a level authoritatively found by the Federal Price Commission to be unfair and unreasonable, and by setting for raisins to be made from the 1920 grape crop a price that is even greater than the unreasonably high 1919 figure, is without any justification whatever and is the highest at which the defendant corporation considered the entire crop could be sold.

It is further set forth that the defendants are extending a monopoly over the crop of grapes now about to be gathered, by means of a clause in growers' contracts secured in former years, which provided that the growers should sell their crops to the Associated not only during the

G.O.P. NEEDS CAMPAIGN CASH, HOWEVER LOUDLY COX SCOLDS.

The old fish woman of fabled fame was a piker in the scolding business as compared with the Democratic candidate for President, who is attempting to win votes for his party and himself by the use of malicious harangue as a substitute for logical argument based on the vital issues of the campaign.

"Slush funds," "quotas," "dirty money," "governmental favors by purchase" are all favorite wails of Gov. Cox, uttered in an attempt to becloud the issue and trick the people into the belief that somewhere there are greedy monied interests that are plotting to rob the American people of their freedom.

He is preaching the unsound doctrine that to have wealth is a confession of sin and that all honest folk are poor. Yet Senator Harding is a man of moderate circumstances while Gov. Cox is a multimillionaire!

Few, if any, voters are fooled by this time-worn trick of political charlatans. It is an accepted fact that all campaigns, political, religious, educational or what not, require money. The right or wrong of a cause cannot be measured by the money it costs to carry the message to the people. High prices have effected campaign expenses as they have everything else and it costs more today to conduct the affairs of a political party than it did before the war.

Everyone knows that the large amounts mentioned in the recent speeches of Gov. Cox have not been paid into the Republican campaign fund and no loyal member of the party of Lincoln and McKinley will withhold his contribution because of such prattle. In fact, the organization is in need of funds and now is a better time than ever before "for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

Dropping down to San Diego for luncheon and returning to Los Angeles, all in the course of four hours, is something most people never expected to see accomplished. But yesterday a party of seven left Los Angeles at 12:25 p.m., arrived at Rockwell Field, San Diego, at 1:35, motored over to Coronado for luncheon, left Rockwell Field again at 3 p.m. sharp and arrived in Los Angeles at 4:15. From that schedule, accomplished through the use of an airplane, it may be deduced without difficulty that commercial aviation has arrived.

"OTHER" WOMAN TELLS SORROW.

Principal in Riddle Slave Case Bares Her Past.

Promise to Wed Never Kept; Dreams Died, She Says.

Man's Ten-Day Bride Hears Drab History in Full.

'Twas the heart of a maid against the word of a man—but the man did not keep his word.

Old yet ever new, this in brief is the story of Miss Dean Thomas, who was located and identified by The Times yesterday as the "other" woman in the case against William H. Riddle, formerly clerk in a fashionable New York hotel and now held here on a charge of violating the Mann Act by bringing Miss Thomas across the continent to Los Angeles.

She told the story yesterday for the second time to those not concerned with the law of the case only. First she told it in the privacy that only sisters in sorrow may know; she revealed her past to Mrs. Elsie Riddle, the ten-day bride of the "wonderful Billy"—the Billy around whom both sought to build their dreams of happiness. Mrs. Riddle located Miss Thomas after a sleepless night, and went to hear from the lips of the "other woman" the story that sent Riddle to jail.

"I told Mrs. Riddle everything, for I felt sorry for her," Miss Thomas declared later. "But her dream of happiness crashed suddenly while mine died slowly, painfully."

"Billy" Riddle, she said, was a lieutenant overseas. He returned to New York last fall and there, while waiting for another soldier who wanted to marry her, she met him. He told her he loved her and she felt that she loved him. Then one day he said he was going West, she related, and wanted to take her with him. "He promised to marry me and I came here with him. But he never kept his word," she declared.

Miss Thomas is the exact opposite of the other woman. She is small, dark-eyed, sensitive, quick of gesture, always alert. Her home is in Baltimore and there her father and mother are waiting to hear of her wedding in California. "But they shall never know, if I can help it," she mused half absently.

"We left New York together. He took me to Buffalo, to Chicago and then to San Francisco. There he was arrested while selling the diamonds he had with him. He told me they were the jewels of his dead wife and his mother, and I believed him. The police held him a while and then they let him go. I never saw the jewels again. We arrived in Los Angeles in January. For three weeks he worked as a director at a small motion-picture studio, and then he gave it up. From that time on he did not work. He grew distant. He even stopped being kind to me when I asked him about his promise to marry me, and then one day he beat me with his fist. He often asked me for money and he did not care where or how I got it. I got it—what matters it how? And my dream, of my 'Billy' died slowly, painfully."

Until recently Miss Thomas worked in the pictures, she stated. Then life grew harder and harder and Billy drew further and further away from her and from her heart.

"I told him that if ever another woman should enter his life I'd tell all I knew, and when I learned he was married, I did," she said.

Miss Thomas declared she will remain here at the disposal of Special Agent Connell of the Department of Justice and Detective Sergeant Cline.

"There is nothing left for me to hide," she explained. "I will tell all they want to know."

After her talk with Miss Thomas in the morning Mrs. Riddle went to see Billy at the City Jail. They talked in the presence of Detective Cline and Riddle told her that "everything will come out right." If the blue-eyed bride believed him she said nothing. She wiped her tear-stained eyes and went home.

Police records here show that a warrant was issued for Riddle's arrest in New York last January 6 on a charge of grand larceny. According to the police, Riddle was a clerk at a hotel on Madison avenue, near the Grand Central Station. Jewels he is declared to have stolen there were valued at $18,000 and were the property of Mrs. John McClellan. The Los Angeles police are now in telegraphic communication with New York regarding the case.

PICKFORD'S QUICK WORK SAVES WIFE.

Condition of Olive Thomas Very Serious, but Recovery Hopeful, Says Physician.

Olive Thomas, cinema actress, who is suffering so intensely from mercurial poisoning that her recovery is doubtful, is alive now only because of prompt first aid given by her husband, Jack Pickford, after he discovered she had swallowed the poison, says an Associated Press cablegram from Paris received by The Times last night. According to the dispatch, Mr. Pickford made his wife drink thirty-two glasses of water, producing vomiting.

Miss Thomas is under the care of Dr. Joseph L. Choate, a Los Angeles physician, at a hospital in Neuilly, France. His official statement says: "The situation is serious, but recovery is hopeful."

From a reliable source, however, it is learned that the condition of Miss Thomas is even more serious than the statement indicates, the Associated Press says.

Enough poison was taken by the actress to kill twenty-five men, the physician declared, in explaining that she has swallowed a solution of alcohol preparation containing twelve grammes of mercury bichloride. She took it through error, he added.

Miss Thomas had recently been suffering from nervous depression and had expressed fear for the safety of her husband, the dispatch states. When Jack Pickford returned to the hotel where they were staying and found what his wife had done he gave her prompt first-aid treatment and saved her life, Dr. Choate asserted.

Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, mother of Jack Pickford, yesterday received a cablegram from him, telling of his wife's illness and saying he hoped for a change for the better in twenty-four hours. It was the first direct word the Pickford family here had received concerning the illness of Miss Thomas. A cablegram received a few days ago stated that Jack Pickford and his wife intended to return to the United States soon.

Arrested, She Wrecks Office and Detective.

Charged with having stolen a hat worth $7.50, Mrs. Mabelle G. Smith, age 35 years, of 992 North Fremont street, was arrested in a Broadway department store yesterday by the house detective, Mrs. Augusta Olsen. The woman detective took her prisoner to her office in the store, whereupon Mrs. Smith wrecked the office and inflicted injuries upon Mrs. Olsen that necessitated the woman detective going to the Receiving Hospital for medical treatment.

Police Detectives Cornwall and Blackman answered a hurry call to Seventh street and Broadway and took Mrs. Smith into custody. After they had questioned her at Central Station they held her in the City Jail on suspicion of larceny.

FIND SON LOST FOR TEN YEARS.

Mother had Never Abandoned Hope During Search.

Preparations for killing the fatted calf were going on apace yesterday at Ontario at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Miner, 216 East B. street, following the finding through the merest chance of their only living son, A. L. Miner, lost for ten years and five years ago reported killed in a shipwreck in Alaska.

The Miners lost track of their son when he left their home in Denver, Colo., ten years ago, in search of fame and fortune. For a time he corresponded with his parents, and then all communication ceased and the father and mother were unable to get track of him. Two years after he left, his brother, L. E. Miner, died and the parents redoubled their efforts to find the remaining son, but without result.

Five years ago the parents moved to Ontario and despite the receipt of a report of his death in a shipwreck, the mother still cherished the hope that she would again see her son.

A few days ago, J. A. Soule, a son-in-law of the Miners, chanced to meet in a store where he is employed, Dr. Howe Vance, who is in Ontario from Seattle to look after the practice of his father, Dr. J. A. Vance, during the latter's absence. Both men wore Elk pins.

"Hello Bill," said Soule, and Vance returned the greeting. In the course of the conversation which followed Dr. Vance spoke of a recent trip to Alaska. Asked by the other if he had ever run across a man in the North by the name of A. L. Miner, the physician replied that he had known an Al Miner.

Later an early photograph of the missing man was partially identified by Dr. Vance and the mother, unwilling to wait for the mail, promptly wired to the Alaska man.

"Are you the son of J. M. Miner?" was her query.

Promptly the reply came back: "I am your son. Letter follows."

Plans for a reunion are now under way.

TRAILED, ATTACKED.

Woman Says Highwayman Followed Her; Screams Bring Help.

After having been trailed by a strange man for several blocks, Mrs. A. Carbone, 26 years of age, of 223 South Griffin avenue, was assaulted last night by the stranger and badly bruised about the face and neck before her screams attracted neighbors and caused the man to flee. Mrs. Carbone, in her report to the police, says she was unable to get a good look at the stranger on account of the poor street lights. He failed to get her purse.

"OWN YOUR OWN" BEST REPLY TO RENT HOGS.

BY JANE DIXON.

Tenants are beginning to turn the dark clouds inside out in the rent situation.

They are moving to the country.

Country property, like city, is inflated far beyond itsg value, but if we are going to pay ridiculously high prices it is better to pay them for ourselves than for the other fellow.

Some of us are able to get together a couple of thousand dollars.

We make this an initial payment on a house in the country.

Then we begin acquiring full ownership of the place by way of the rent system.

Suppose, for example, we are paying $100 a month for a city apartment. Most of us are coming through with more than a century note.

On the partial payment plan we pay this same hundred dollars to a building company in place of the landlord. With taxes and interest and other costs of borrowing subtracted we save at least $25 of that hundred for ourselves. We may even save as high as $50 or $75, depending upon the extent of the mortgage.

"But," jangle the joy killers, "how about the coal and the commutation and the rest of the bank balance reducers?"

There are all these, we must admit. Yet it is possible to figure them in and still have a neat little sum left over as payment on a permanent home.

Get the phrase, please—permanent home.

Not some place to camp out until the landlord makes a new deal or the janitor gets obnoxious or the neighborhood becomes impossible.

Not a box stall in a stone cliff with the nearest grass plot twenty-seven blocks away and a "Keep Off" sign on it at that.

A home in which you are privileged to own your own yard and hold the stop watch on your own parties.

Every time the first day of the month comes around and you separate yourself from the major portion of your salary, you heave a sigh of satisfaction murmuring blithely, "There's another dozen or so of shingles belongs to me," or "That buys me another square foot in the living-room."

Enough of these square feet make a room. Then you begin on the kitchen or the diner, and so on until you wake up some fine October morning to find the whole precious pile belongs to you.

From the safe harbor of your front verandas you watch moving vans flitting to and fro, spilling choice bits of bric-a-brac along the highway en route to their next landlord-owned destination.

It needs about three such miscreations to demolish a complete set of household furniture.

The first payment may be a pull, but it's worth the effort.

And it is a lot easier to pay $100 a month on your own home than it is to give it to the landlord in exchange for a scrap o' paper.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Question: When will the One Hundred and Eighty-fifth Company, Third Regular United States Marine Corps, now stationed in San Domingo, return to the States? E. D.

A.: The Marine Corps Headquarters states that the One Hundred and Eighty-fifth Company of marines never leaves Santo Domingo.

Q.: Are there any steamers leaving New York City carrying passengers at present, going via Panama Canal to San Francisco? E. V.

A.: The International Mercantile Marine Line says that there is no passenger line going directly from New York to San Francisco through the Panama Canal.

Q.: What colors would be most appropriate for decorations for a second wedding anniversary? F. M. L.

A.: The second wedding anniversary is the cotton wedding, so the decorations should be white, combined perhaps with green. If you wish to take the colors of the cotton blossom, which is pink in the morning and a deep lavender by late afternoon, they would be attractive with white. Possibly you can obtain stalks of the cotton plant with the cotton attached.

A.: This is a designation given to the column in newspapers set aside for advertisements of missing or runaway persons, appeals for help and other personal communications of various kinds.

Q.: What countries have furnished the most immigrants to the United States? E. T.

A.: The British Isles stands first, nearly one-fourth of the total immigration for the last 100 years coming from England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Germany is next and Italy, Austria, Hungary, Russia and Scandinavia follow in the order named.

A.: Many of observation have established the fact that all the great rivers of the world turned into one channel would not equal the tremendous flow of the Gulf Stream. Its breadth in its narrowest portion is about fifty miles, and its depth about 2000 feet.

MAKING MORE MONEY.

Irish Lad Makes Cows Pay His Way Through Agricultural College.

THERE was no doubt whatever that Patrick Goen of Harvey, Tex., wanted to go to college. But, as his father told him, there wasn't the slightest chance of his getting there. The Goens were not rich, and it was necessary that every penny that could be raked and scraped together be used for the upkeep of the farm.

"I'm sorry, Pat," said the elder Goen, "but I don't see how it can be done. You'll have to pick up all the learnin' you can 'round here, because it costs money to go down to the Agricultural College."

"How about those two cows of mine?" asked Pat. "They belong to me, don't they?"

"The milk belongs to you," was the reply. "But the cows don't. Besides, if you sold 'em, now you wouldn't get money enough to pay your way through the two years."

"I wasn't thinking of selling 'em," said the boy. He was considering using them for another and distinctly unusual purpose. He had made up his mind to go to college—and he was going to take the cows with him!

A few weeks later, having collected enough to pay one passenger and two freight fares to the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, Pat Goen set out, accompanied by the two Jerseys. He watched them and he cared for them, during the journey, and, upon his arrival, he announced that he and the cows were going through college. Aided by the influence of the president of the college, Goen rented a barn and pasturage for the cows for $14 a month, and then made arrangements to sell the milk at a price that brought him in $14 a month, or $40 clear profit. Tuition fees and living expenses being low, Pat not only paid his way but made money, too, returning home with an excellent agricultural education and his original "capital" untouched.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Appoint Judges.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I was much interested this morning in reading your editorial on the election of judges. I take pleasure in commending it, and regard it as an evidence of the high standard which prevails in California in conception of public affairs.

I find that there are many laws here which could well be adopted in some of the older Eastern States.

The election of judges is almost universal in the United States. The United States judges are appointed for life or good behavior by the President, but outside of that, there are very few States that have adopted that system. A number of the States have some of the judges appointed for a limited time by the Governor. Massachusetts is the only State that I now have in mind, where the judges are appointed for life by the Governor. There is a retiring act after a certain age, where the judges are entitled to a pension. All the judges are appointed by the Governor, even the probate judges and the judges of the municiple and district courts, as well as the judges of the Superior and Supreme Court, for a life tenure.

At the time of the Constitution convention, prior to the Civil War, an effort was made to have them elected, but Rufus Choate, in a very eloquent and logical speech, obtained provision for appointment by the Governor and the system has given such universal satisfaction that there has been really no serious idea of changing it. If a judge misbehaves, he may be impeached and removed, but at the present writing, I recall but one instance, and that was in the case of a Probate Court, where a judge was so removed. Of course, there are criticisms from time to time of judges, and some dissatisfaction sometimes expressed with opinions, and comparisons are made, but as a whole, there is a remarkably high standard of judicial ability and honor. The judges are entirely removed from politics, and their names are never associated with political affairs. There have been changes in party control, as there have been some Democratic governors as well as Republican governors, and in each instance the appointments have been of a decidedly high character.

I think that California might well adopt the system of appointment for life by the Governor, along the lines of your excellent editorial.

Yours truly,
NORMAN F. HESSELTINE.

It Has Been Tried.

PASADENA, Sept. 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] For the information of your San Fernando correspondent who suggests the filming of fairy tales and other children's stories for the entertainment of the little people, to offset the hectic thriller, attention is called to the fact that this has already been done. Fox, Famous Players, Universal and other big producers have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in producing some of the best-known Grimm, Anderson and other fairy stories. Although they were done tastefully and with feeling, unfortunately they did not attract the support that is necessary to make them pay. After being pretty thoroughly tried out, the special productions for children have been temporarily abandoned by practically all producers, until such time as there seems to be a more pronounced demand for them.

Meanwhile, the Pasadena Community Playhouse Association has inaugurated a children's department separate and apart from its adult play producing activity. During the first six months of the current year, the little people put on four "children's play matinees." Each one consisted of a varied program of music, dancing and a little play, worked out under the direction of Miss Sybil Elise Jones. On one occasion, the children made their own dramatization of "Cinderella" and handled all the production details, even to the musical interludes.

The purpose of this juvenile dramatic activity in Pasadena is not to make actors, but to stimulate the child interest in the allied arts. All children are mimics by nature and they prefer to enter into the play rather than sit by and see it merely unfold. Different groups are used to this end and with gratifying results. The Board of Education, Parent-Teachers' Association and other civic groups of Pasadena, appreciating what the Playhouse Association is doing for the children, are all co-operating.

This week, in the outdoor theater of Brookside Park, the children and adult players are co-operating in putting on "The Piper." Preliminary rehearsals were held on the various playgrounds of the city and different groups organized so as to make practical the playgrounds work. A "children's theater" is a real need of every community today, where educational recreation can be intelligently organized. Because youngsters in the past were permitted to roam and find diversion according to their own sweet little wills, many think the same course should be followed today. But as the adult world is living under far more complexed conditions, something of the same sort is communicated to the sphere of our boys and girls. Modern city life is not conducive to the sort of harmless play that once was.

The Children's Theater as it is being worked out by the Pasadena Association is really a house of play that may be developed to advantage by other [illegible]. H. O. [illegible]

EDUCATION IS MARRIAGE NEED.

Divorce Judge Says Persons Prepared for It Will Wear Harness Well.

Judge Taft, one of the two divorce court judges who favors a uniform divorce law, declared yesterday that the marriage relation needs education, as education is needed

"There is in preparation in other lines of endeavor for marriage," he said. "Marriage is a success, as life is a success, when those entering the marriage state are qualified to make a success of it."

Judge Taft will speak at the South Park Christian Church, Forty-second street and South Park avenue, Sunday night on divorce and its remedy.

Live-stock Show to be the Largest Yet Held Here.

The 1920 Los Angeles Live-stock Show will exceed by 40 per cent any former live-stock exhibition here, according to directors who returned from Sacramento yesterday.

They announced that to date more than 150 exhibitors have entered a total of 1800 pure-bred animals. The entries having filled all space allowed by the original building plans, it is necessary now to decline additional reservations of stalls and pens.

"We knew the 1920 live-stock show would be larger, but it is going ahead of what we expected," the directors declared. "With such fine support from breeders assured, we earnestly hope the general public will meet with us in our efforts to stimulate the production of pure-bred stock in the Southwest. We want all our old friends to be with us and hope to make thousands of new friends."

REAL GOLD.

The California citrus crop this year is valued at more than eighty million dollars. Talk about your yellow gold! The metal never furnished a crop to match this yield of the golden fruit. And beauty and fragrance go with it for good measure.

THE APPLE CROP.

There are two bushels of apples for every man, woman and child in the country, according to the reports from the new crops. Looks as if it would keep the government busy watching the elder age in the American home.

LEAVING THE JOB.

Methodists are complaining because so many preachers are quitting on account of inadequate pay. That's nothing. In industry men seem to be striking because they are getting more money than they earn. There certainly isn't any better excuse.

KEEPING THE PEACE.

The Mayor of Cork could have his freedom and everything else if he promised to do what he could to stop murders in his city. It shouldn't bother an official's conscience much to agree to that. Nor is it easy to make a hero or martyr of him because he refuses.

THE COURTEOUS COP.

The policemen are now instructed to be always polite and courteous and never use coarse or violent language. A cop who says "damn" will be shot at sunrise, and even "dogone" may mean a black mark. We are going to make the world safe for the Y.W.C.A. if we have to put our bulls in muzzles.

ICY LOGIC.

A prohibition speaker says that "the ice that once went into cocktails is now going into the ice boxes in the homes where there are babies." We would amplify that statement. That's about all the ice that is going into the home ice boxes. There seems to be a marked shortage of all the other and really sizable pieces of ice.

EXIT THE LADIES' CAGE.

The First National Bank is taking the Nineteenth Amendment literally. It has abolished the ladies' cage, which was instituted to spare the gentler protected sex from waiting in line with the men at the general cages. Now, however, they are all for equality, both ways, the ladies must use the general cages, and women tellers have also been introduced to wait upon the men.

But it must be admitted the arrangement is quite agreeable to all concerned. The ladies are quite content to be treated as fellow-men.

ANOTHER CHIP.

Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt had three accidents in as many airships in one day's campaigning in Oklahoma, but never had a broken bone. Usually one airplane accident is enough for a man and that may last him through eternity. Three in one day and in three different flyers indicates that young Roosevelt is a glutton for punishment. Almost any man after the first smash-up would have declared that he was in no hurry and would just as leave walk, but Theodore was ready to tackle any machine they brought along. It runs in the family.

ACKNOWLEDGE THE CORN.

The corn crop this year in America is millions of bushels beyond any record heretofore known and it may yet be a puzzle to know what to do with it all. The government won't let people make it into whisky and the old world hasn't learned to use cornmeal to the extent which prevails in this country. The American corn crop is officially estimated at 3,121,000,000 bushels. At present prices this would be worth over four billion dollars to the farmer. In spite of this great plethora of the grain the price is not falling and the American hen will not get her breakfast a penny cheaper. The corn will be hoarded before the price will be permitted to make a material drop. The price ranges will be just enough to clean up on the speculators.

THE VIEWPOINT.

The states of Australia are to have a popular referendum on prohibition and the campaign is now on. There are three horns to the dilemma and the Australians can tackle the question from three angles. They can vote for absolute prohibition, the open saloon or state control. New South Wales has already decided that if prohibition is adopted there must be state compensation for the liquor interests destroyed. It is roughly estimated that this would cost the government about $40,000,000, and it is hard to figure out where the money is to come from. It will have to be added to the direct taxes and this fact will probably have its influence on the vote. Meanwhile the people are dividing on strange and unusual lines. At the sessions of the Anglican Synod in Adelaide the delegates voted down a resolution indorsing prohibition, and one of the ministers denounced it as un-Christian and as being the propaganda of American cranks. There is always a chance for a row when prohibition is mentioned.

WORLD'S GREATEST COMEBACK.

Individuals may sometimes take a lesson from nations. A man is never down and out unless he thinks he is. Neither is an empire.

The world is witnessing the most amazing comeback in history. When the armistice was signed France and England were technically victorious, but actually they were prostrate. Their man power had been exhausted; their fields were barren; their treasuries were stripped; they were desperately, appallingly in debt; production had practically ceased; their credit was broken; they seemed just about ready to be scrapped.

America had been a good friend; had sent them soldiers and supplies and turned the tide of the war. America had loaned the war-broken countries, besides the billions poured in by way of military contribution, $500,000,000 in real money, equally divided between France and England.

It seemed preposterous in 1915 to even think of getting this vast sum back; at least within the lifetime of any then living. While we accepted the assurances of our debtors, way down deep in the hearts of most people there was a conviction that eventually it would be necessary to write off the loan; charge it to profit and loss, war, humanity, friendship or what not.

And now, less than two years after the cannon ceased their roaring, the people of this country are advised that, upon the appointed day, October 15, the money will be repaid. It is a feat of financing which staggers the imagination, restores confidence in the ability of the human race and in the determination of game people everywhere who refuse to stay crushed.

In 1913 France had an interior debt of 35,000,000,000 francs and no foreign financial obligations of moment. In 1920 there is an interior debt of 136,000,000,000 francs and a foreign debt of 32,000,000,000 francs. In 1914 France paid in taxes 4,724,000,000 francs; in 1920 she will pay 18,700,000,000 francs. Nearly 3,000,000 of her people were driven away from their homes by the war; 4065 municipal governments were destroyed. Nearly 10,000,000 acres of arable ground was torn to pieces by shell and troops. Railroads, highways and canals were wiped out of existence; 11,500 factories were put out of business; 575,000 dwelling houses were ruined, and so on down the tragic list.

In less than two years France is able to come into the investment market of this country and, through an underwriting syndicate headed by our greatest financiers, command $100,000,000, which sum, together with the amounts earned during the brief time her industries have been partly rehabilitated, will discharge her portion of the particular indebtedness to the United States soon to fall due.

The credit of France is practically unimpaired. Men like J. P. Morgan and his associates are not advancing a hundred millions because they have a friendly feeling for a country. It is cold-blooded business with them, and they know that France's ability to meet her obligations is as perfect as that of any country in the world.

This remarkable record has been achieved through the dogged persistence of the people of France to dig themselves out from beneath the load of foreign debt as soon as possible. It is hard for liberal spenders in this country to realize the sacrifices the people of France have made and are making to enable them to look the rest of the world in the eye. France is teaching a lesson in thrift of which America may well take notice, and she is getting results; she is coming back.

Turning to Great Britain another remarkable picture is presented, for England, too, has announced her intention of paying off her share of the big debt. In France hard work, bitter self-denial, dogged determination, rehabilitation and reconstruction have made the miracle a reality. Across the channel conditions were somewhat different.

England had been bled dry financially, but her lands and industries were practically unimpaired. She had lost over a million producers, but her fountains of supply had not dried up. Englishmen are not so good at self-denial as Frenchmen. They are more like their cousins on this side of the water. They prefer to spend while the spending is good; but an Englishman is quick to see the merit of home trade, and the idea of paying all that interest money to the United States made no great appeal.

But England had no $250,000,000 with which to meet the debt and her resources were already strained to the limit by post-war obligations. Accordingly, she went to her school children and the boys and girls responded with their pennies and their half-pennies and their sixpences and their farthings and their shillings until the greater part of the huge principal will come to this country in the form of the savings of the juniors.

This record was made possible by a frank statement to the children and the grown-ups of the need of their country and of the advantages to be derived by keeping the debt at home and circulating the interest money among their own people rather than sending it across the ocean never to return. The loan is being bought back in the form of savings certificates, somewhat after the fashion of our own war stamps and baby bonds.

Four hundred million of these certificates have been sold and 17,000,000 Britons have become creditors to the nation. Thirty thousand savings organizations are functioning enthusiastically, and the national thrift consciousness has been aroused.

These two methods, so widely different in their character, should carry a lesson to this country where our children are more eager to spend than they are to save and where the future is largely left to shift for itself. In one country work, work, work. Long hours under heart-breaking conditions, but always with the goal of restoration and freedom from debt in sight, are already bringing their rewards. In another savings, tiny in themselves, but vast in the aggregate, are flowing into the national treasury, there to be applied towards a lifting of the dark shadow of debt. Self-denial, work, patriotism, enthusiasm, determination, production and more work are at the bottom of each story.

The same tale is coming from other Allied countries who are in our debt. Europe is solvent. Four years of ghastly war, of death and destruction, of property loss and life, of ruined cities and devastated homes have not dimmed the spirit of conquest. Nowhere in Belgium, in Italy or anywhere else save in Bolshevist-stricken Russia is the word repudiation ever heard.

A story such as this should make the waster in this country and the man who denounces his government because his war bonds are temporarily below par hide his head in shame. We pat ourselves on the back and talk of our wonderful recovery, but the heart of the world goes out to our heroic European allies who really know what it is to struggle up from the bottomless pit into sunshine again. They have come back.

MEXICO, PAST AND PRESENT.

Before the United States can enter into diplomatic relations with the present Mexican government with assurance that Mexico's pledges will be fulfilled and before Americans can safely invest their money in Mexican industry there must be a repudiation of the illegally adopted constitution of 1917 and a return to the Mexican constitution of 1857. Such is the opinion of Jorge Vera-Estanol, former Secretary of the Interior and of Public Education of the republic of Mexico. Senor Vera-Estanol lived in Los Angeles as a political refugee during the greater part of the Carranza regime. He was one of the patriotic Mexican statesmen who preferred exile in a foreign land to holding high office under a dictator and assisting in looting and oppressing his own people.

He asserts that he is not only open-minded but open-hearted toward his country and countrymen; and he has written a book entitled "Carranza and His Bolshevik Regime" in support of his contention that "The Mexican constitution which was adopted at Queretaro in 1917 and which is still in force is spurious in origin and such of its articles as effected any changes of serious import in the provisions of the constitution of 1857 are in direct conflict with the principles of equity and the demands of national welfare."

Representatives of the present Mexican government are now in Washington seeking to arrange for recognition of the De la Huerta government, and Gen. Obregon has stated in a public interview that he will attempt to obtain loans from American financiers, shortly after he is inaugurated, for the purpose of developing the natural resources of his country. But Senor Vera-Estanol points to sections of the Queretaro constitution which will permit expropriation and confiscation of any property held by Americans in Mexico, and the holders are barred by the Mexican constitution from making appeal to the government of the United States for redress.

Gen. Obregon has repeatedly stated that he is opposed to the policy of confiscation and expropriation inaugurated under Carranza; but Senor Vera-Estanol quotes sections of the Queretaro constitution to show that these confiscations are not only permitted but practically made mandatory under the present Mexican law. Here is one of the sections to which he refers:

> Only Mexicans by birth and naturalization and Mexican companies have the right to acquire ownership in lands, waters and their appurtenances or to obtain concessions to develop mines, waters or mineral fuels in the republic of Mexico. The nation may grant the same right to foreigners, provided they agree before the Department of Foreign Affairs to be considered Mexicans in regard to such property and accordingly not to invoke the protections of their governments in respect to the same, under penalty, in case of breach, of forfeiture to the nation of property so acquired.

Under that clause any American must renounce in writing all right of appeal to his own country from any spoliation which he may suffer at the hands of the Federal government or of any of the Mexican States in order to perfect title to property in Mexico. Security of investment under such conditions is impossible. This section of the Mexican constitution is cited whenever remonstrance has been made by our State Department during the last three years to spoliation of American property owners in Mexico. Senor Vera-Estanol quotes a decision of the Mexican Department of State to the effect that a fine equal to the total value of any property is not confiscation under the Mexican law.

There is another section of the Mexican constitution which provides that oil and other minerals in the subsoil, whether the property is public or private, belongs to the Federal government. It is by virtue of this section that confiscation of oil lands was made by Carranza. The American government may reserve the right to minerals in the subsoil of public lands; but that is vastly different from claiming title to private property. Development of the natural resources of Mexico under such laws by foreign investors is manifestly impossible.

Senor Vera-Estanol shows that the confiscation of foreign investments is but one of many wrongs committed in the name of the law under the Queretaro constitution. He quotes the following paragraph from Article III: "No religious corporation, nor any minister of a religious sect, shall be allowed to found or to direct schools of primary education." He says that the enforcement of this section resulted in closing 2500 private primary schools of different denominations scattered over the republic. It is interesting to note that an almost identical clause appears in the Bolshevist constitution of Russia.

In referring to the sections of the constitution relating to labor and industry Senor Vera-Estanol says: "But the leading defect of the constitution is that it errs on the side of radicalism. That labor may not be a slave, it makes it a tyrant; that capital may not enslave, it tyrannizes over it."

Senor Vera-Estanol does not condemn the Queretaro constitution in toto. He says that it contains some progressive provisions that should be retained. He recommends that it be shorn of its Bolshevist provisions and that no effort should be spared by the Obregon government "to legalize the constitution of 1917 by a revision of the document in the manner prescribed by the constitution of 1857 and reincorporated in the former, at the same time writing into it such amendments as the present and future needs of the country appear to demand along political, social and economic lines, while eliminating all those precepts which are recognized as obstacles in the way of individual freedom, national welfare and international harmony."

No one can read the book written by Senor Vera-Estanol without being impressed alike by his statesmanship, intelligence and thorough understanding of the vital issues confronting the Mexican people. He writes with an authority born of knowledge and understanding of the subjects he discusses. If every member of the American Congress, as well as all citizens interested in the mutual welfare of our own country and Mexico, will read "Carranza and His Bolshevik Regime" they will get a clearer understanding of the Mexican situation as it has been than they are likely to otherwise possess.

Senor Enrique C. Creel, another Mexican statesman of international repute, who was forced to leave Mexico during the Carranza Bolshevik regime, has expressed the belief that the new Obregon administration possesses the courage and the intent to right the wrongs denounced by Senor Vera-Estanol. In a recent address delivered in Los Angeles he said:

> After years of struggle a movement was started four months ago which now opens the doors for good will to Americans and foreigners of all countries. There are in the United States the elements which can help solve Mexico problems. The propaganda which was spread in Mexico against the United States is all gone. Mexico needs money, immigration, help and advice in developing her resources. We know that European countries have financial matters of their own that are absorbing their attention and that help can best come from the United States. American business men will not go into Mexico, however, until they are confident that it is sound, solid and sincere. Protection must be assured. By aiding in Mexico now the United States can help solve the problems of both countries and gain the confidence of other Latin-American countries.

Senor Creel paid a high compliment to the courage, patriotism, honesty and good intentions of President-elect Obregon. He expressed confidence that he will establish a regime of law and justice; that he will recognize the rights of both investors and those who toil, and that he will extend special privileges to no class, no caste.

More than One Way.

THE INTERCEPTED LETTER.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Dear Mr. Cox: As one of the surviving members of the Constitution Flambeau Club I write you these lines to inquire what you purpose doing to the aforesaid Constitution should circumstances make you its lawful guardian?

Would you consider it as a boon companion, to be cherished or held in reverent admiration, or would you treat it as one might a stray dog, to be kicked at whenever it barks at the gate?

Some folks say that the Constitution is nothing but ink and paper and there is nothing sacred about it, but the genuine American takes an honest pride in his Constitution and is ready to make unparalleled sacrifices therefor.

Yes, sir, there are Americans who will take purifiers and invigorators carrying as high as 77 per cent of alcohol to spare their beloved Constitution from the ravages of time or the perils of contagion. The Constitution must ever be held in the loftiest respect. As one of our statesmen has aptly remarked: It must and shall be preserved.

But not all its guardians have held it in reverence. Take your own Mr. Won, for instance. There was a man we thought we could trust. You would think the whole family could go away and leave the Constitution in the keeping of an austere college professor with a feeling of perfect safety. He would be one of those old-timers who would keep it in a glass case and never let it catch a speck of dust.

Yes; that's what we thought.

But this Dr. Wilson was hardly alone with the Constitution a minute before he was out with his monkey wrench and screw driver, taking the thing apart. He says he wanted to see what made it tick, but really he wanted to make another one—one with elastic sleeves and a puckering string that could be stretched over the whole universe.

Supposing you have a nice Prince Albert coat you have been saving to be buried in and some tailor comes along and lets out the back and puts in a rubber lining so that it will not only cover you, but Roscoe Arbuckle and Jess Willard at the same time, would you thank him for it?

You would not.

So I say that we do not want to turn over our Constitution to a plumber to play with, or a bone doctor for experimental purposes. We want to leave it in the hands of some steady and reliable person who will not throw it out of the window at the first alarm of fire.

I'm afraid that you remember more about our Flambeau Club than you do about the Constitution it stood for. You will recall that the flambeau was an illuminating tool designed to allow campaign patriots to blow off their steam—as it were. It was a cross between a trombone and a Roman candle. When it was primed for service its insides were loaded with gunpowder, or talcum flavored with gasoline. At the top of the flambeau was a bonfire or torch and at the bottom a sort of mouthpiece. When the patriot blew in this the powder would be driven through the flame and a column of fire would shoot into the heavens. The blaze could be seen for miles around and a flock of flambeau-bearers in action looked like the panorama of the battle of Gettysburg. A couple of husky flambeau clubs would make Hades look like a burnt match. If the Republican and Democratic clubs got to blowing powder against one another you could fry eggs on the courthouse steps.

That was what they would call a warm campaign.

Once when they were putting Grover Cleveland across our Flambeau Club led a torchlight procession that reached back into the brush. Everything that could carry a torch or a broom had been impressed, down to the children in arms. When our club marched into the square with the brass band blaring "A Hot Time" it furnished an illuminating spectacle that made the people forget the time when the Illinois Central roundhouse burned. But there was one horrible mistake. It was made by me. When the command to blow our flambeaux was given I was excited and out of breath and inhaled instead! Any man who has ever inhaled an active and feverish flambeau will know something of how I felt. Nobody else possibly can. I was all lit up like a country drug store on a Saturday night. I looked for all the world like one of Gustave Dore's pictures of the bottomless pit. The entire internal apparatus of one of our ablest newspaper men could be seen in full working order as if in the glare of day. Even the journalistic conscience could be seen nodding on its throne. If I had been stood up on Point Loma gleaming as I was that night the dwellers on Catalina would have thought Los Angeles was burning up. It used to be quite a common thing for the newspaper boys to get lit up, but never on the magnificent scale which I indicated that night. Nor if I live to be 27 years old can I ever forget the taste of an inflamed and malignant flambeau when it is played with reverse English. Talk about your prickly heat!

But that wasn't what I started to tell you about.

What I was going to say was this: What are you going to do with your enemy's $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 campaign fund when you find it? You can neither blow it nor inhale it as you might a flambeau. It starts everybody to wishing they had one, and yet it won't buy a pound of molasses at the harness shop. What do you suppose a pawnbroker would give Will Hays on your story? It Will would leave his coat and hat for additional security he might get a second-hand harmonica, but not much else.

And a second-hand harmonica is about the only instrument you can play.

Let us think of something else for a minute. Oh, rather, let us forget to think. There's the United States Distilling Company, for instance. That's a concern that should be more than willing to chip in a million dollars to advance the campaign of a candidate who is easily susceptible to moisture. There is a brewery in St. Louis and another in Milwaukee proud to offer a like sum. With these three millions as a starter there are the ghosts of 87,000 former manufacturers and dealers in wines, beer and spirits who would promptly furnish $1000 apiece for this cause. Now you have a campaign fund of $90,000,000. If the Presidency is to be bought it would seem that here was enough to do it.

The $90,000,000 would be what you would call a "quota," wouldn't it, James?

I can take up science or new thought and raise a $15,000,000 campaign fund in twenty-six minutes, but when I take my quota down to the bank and ask for a sufficient advance to buy me a pound of prunes the banker will emit a coarse and unsympathetic snort of laughter.

Yet you are not as consistent as I am.

You take what you think the other fellow might think he wanted if he thought to think so.

Second thought is well enough, but when it is third or fourth-handed it becomes very weak and faint. As I said before, try it on a pawnbroker and see what you get. If Hays can take your "quota" to the mint and get half of 1 per cent on it we will all vote for you.

Wishing you many of the same.

AMERICA'S WARS.

A stray paragraph on "Wars of the United States" enumerates nineteen wars. Ten of these were conflicts with Indian tribes, of which the most important were probably the Black Hawk War and the Seminole War. If these are called wars, an eleventh might be added—the Modoc War of 1873. The important wars on the list are the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish War, the war with Germany. The minor conflicts included in the list are: The war with France, 1798; the war with Tripoli, 1801; the Philippine War, 1899.—[Outlook.

Blame the Mailman.

The confirmed humorist had been railroaded to the psychopathic ward by some of his victims who demanded that if possible they cure him, and if not that they bury him, but on Christmas they repented and clubbed together for a gift. Then, a few days later, they received this letter from the merry lunatic:

"My dear friends: I am forwarding to you a box I received a short time ago. Obviously, from the label in the upper left-hand corner, it is intended for you, but came to me by mistake."

They looked at the label and realized with horror that their friend was incurable. It read: "Assorted Nuts."—[American Legion Weekly.

The adoption of the equal-suffrage amendment will make it necessary for the States which have not yet adopted woman-suffrage laws to call special sessions of the Legislatures at once. Otherwise, provisions under which the new privilege may be exercised will not exist in several of the States on election day. What will the Southern States, where the feeling is so strong against women voting, do about it?

"Times have changed since Mr. Wilson sought to carry the country by storm in favor of the polyglot document he brought home from Paris. America today is not for a League of Nations such as proposed by the parties to the Versailles pact." This is not an extract from a speech of Senator Harding, but a paragraph from an editorial taken from the Cincinnati Enquirer, a staunch Democratic organ in Ohio.

Are You a Bore?

There are many kinds of bores—people who talk too much and people who will do nothing but listen; people who won't listen to music, and others who sing out of tune; people who write books and talk about them, and people who write books and won't talk about them.

Like Gilbert's Lord High Executioner, one could go on ad infinitum adding to the list. The bore is always with us—he (or she) is immortal without being divine!

Yet no man who is a bore thinks himself such. There is a poignancy and pathos in that fact. He will go to any effort in his attempt to interest you. The more tedious his subject the more intense his effort.

But, since no men or women ever recognize themselves as bores, it is well to be charitable because . . . who knows. . . .?—[London Express.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

DANGEROUS TEETH.

Now the docs, those wise old cheeses, say our teeth should all come out, for they cause all our diseases, from the measles to the gout. Once my teeth like pearls were gleaming and I viewed the same with pride, as I chewed the sirloin steaming, with potatoes on the side. Now my teeth are all departed and no hope on earth I see, though the dentist says he's started on a bakelite set for me. I had colic in Toronto, and the doctor said, said he, "You must see a dentist, pronto, who will pull out molars three." I had measles in Hoboken and the doctor said, "You ginx, all your symptoms are a token that your teeth are on the blink." And my whiskers, in Emporv, fell and fell and soon were gone, and it was the same old story—'twas because no teeth were drawn. Passed around by stern physicians from one dentist to the next, I am filled with vain ambitions and my soul is sore perplext. Now that all my teeth are missing, what resource is there for me, when some new disease goes hissing through my shoulder or my knee? When I'm sore in bone or tissue, chafed from carrying my wreath, how will doctors dodge the issue when they cannot blame my teeth? WALT MASON.

Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly"—"My nerves are all on edge"—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—"I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month. I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully. I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."—Elizabeth Weaver, R. R. 2, North East, Md.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."—Mrs. A. L. Miller, 2633 E. 24th St., Minneapolis, Minn.

DRY LAWS MAY REFORM DRAMA.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

I informed Denman Maley, star of "Buddies," over at the Mason, that I had come to talk to him about a very painful subject—told him to be prepared, and he gulped, and said, "Aw right!"

"It's prohibition," I said.

"Why pick on me?" said Denman while a tear bedewed his eye.

"How do you manage," I went on crudely, to be funny, "since prohibition has set in with such severity?"

"Has it?" asked Maley. "There's still home brew, you know. Be it never so humble—Anyhow, look here. Seems to me it's all just about the same as it was in the year 1 B. C."

"B. C?" I repeated.

"Yes, you know—before cellars!"

"What do you mean—the same?"

"Why, it doesn't seem to me we really have prohibition. We've merely raised the price of liquor."

"Sh!" I glanced around apprehensively. "But how about audiences? Isn't it harder to play to a crowd that hasn't had a drink, now honestly? Not meaning any aspersions on you—but just generally?"

"Well, yes," he grinned, "it certainly does help when they are seeing you as through the bottom of a glass, darkly!"

"But, seriously?"

"Well, I think the prohibition jokes are much funnier than the old drunk jokes. I wonder sometimes if prohibition isn't a dispensation of an all-wise providence to keep us from being bored to death with the comic stage drunk."

"But how about the plots? How is the husband ever going to get past with his vampire friend if he can't prove it on her that she liquored him up before making him leave his happy home?"

"That indeed is serious. It strikes at the very vitals of our liberties. Husbands will just have to reform, that's all. Of the stage and on."

Maley sighed, but just then in came his lovely young wife, Miss Reeves-Smith on the program, who plays Julie, and then the mortifying fact came out that Maley, brave talker that he is has no need to reform. He's a hopelessly home-broke husband. In fact, Mr. and Mrs. Maley are the Mr. and Mrs. Micawber of the stage. Only, of course, there are no twins. They hope for these later.

They've been married all of four years, and have always refused, except for one engagement, to go out with shows separately, though both have had wonderful offers. Just one year they've been separated, but they both say never again. They're great pals, these two. They have a home on Long Island, where they spend their summers fishing, tramping and yachting.

But at that, one day lately at a performance of "Buddies," Maley nearly broke his wife's classic nose. He became so zealous in his love-making that when he was supposed to clasp her to his breast, he did it so enthusiastically that her nose was crushed against a button on his coat, and she collapsed from the pain.

"Must have forgotten she was my wife!" chuckled Maley, as he ran off to the stage at sound of his cue.

Just then came the boys tramp-tramping from the scene. And when you see them, you may be interested to know that nearly all of them really served in the war. William Quimby, who plays Buddy, was in the Navy. Harold Goulden, Pete, in the play, was in the Army, and so was Grady Miller, who takes the part of Johnny. And the Croix de Guerre worn by the mother in the play, Carrie Radcliffe, was really won by Joseph Herbert, who plays Sonny, as reward for a very brave deed done while in the Canadian air service at Ypres, over in France.

Fight Over Fifty Thousand Leads to Pair's Arrest.

Charged with a felony in a telegraphic warrant received from Muscatina, Iowa, yesterday, John Burmeister and his wife are in the City Jail, waiting for officers to take them back east. Police Detectives England and Vernand, who made the arrests, say the couple is wanted in connection with an asserted swindle of about $50,000.

According to Mr. Burmeister, his arrest is the outcome of legal troubles over a gold mine in Peru. He said that most of his fortune is in the mine and that others in the East have invested the $50,000. He told the officers that he is not guilty of the charges against him and will fight them to the full extent of the law.

SHORTAGE OF FUEL IS PROBLEM IN PORTUGAL.

PROHIBITION OF COAL EXPORTS FROM ENGLAND IS KEENLY FELT.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LISBON, Aug. 22.—A coal shortage is being keenly felt in Portugal owing to the prohibition of coal exportation from England and the absence of any good coal producing districts in this country.

All coal for industries was imported chiefly from Cardiff and Newcastle and since that has ceased, and orders placed in the United States have been canceled, the situation threatens to become serious and people are looking forward with alarm to the coming winter. Abnormal conditions exist as a result. All restaurants, cafes and places of amusements must close promptly at midnight and external illuminations are prohibited.

There is but little coal produced in Portugal, which has been entirely dependent on imported coal. For domestic purposes charcoal is chiefly used all over the country in small earthenware stoves specially made for its use. Now, however, even that has disappeared as the price of fuel rose to such an extent that the government was obliged to enforce fixed prices. In consequence, although there is plenty of charcoal, farmers are not sending it to the market, hoping to obtain ever increasing prices for wood.

In the meantime all Portugal is suffering from utter absence of coal and people are obliged to buy wood when it is obtainable. Middle class and poor people burn sawdust in small iron stoves expressly invented during the war for that purpose and also use impervious boxes lined with straw that finish cooking the food, after it is removed, boiling, from the stove. Many families unable to cook at home are having their meals at the restaurants.

RAISIN CHIEF SPEAKS OF CASE.

years in which the contracts were made, but also during subsequent years, including 1920, and during future years, at the option of the corporation.

LIENS ON LAND.

These conditions are enforced, it is asserted, by provisions for liens on the land, purporting to bind subsequent purchasers, to deliver crops produced thereon to the defendant corporation; for heavy liquidated damages for failure to do so, and for entry upon the land and seizure of crops from reluctant growers.

It is charged that the defendants have compelled growers to surrender their crops to the corporation, although they were unwilling to do so and preferred to sell and deliver their raisin grapes to others, by publicly announcing that the defendants would not permit growers to sell to others even upon payment of the liquidated damages, and by the employment of replevin suits, entry upon the land and seizure of the crops.

The government asks for a hearing on its request for a temporary injunction that will not allow the defendants further to "unlawfully act, combine and conspire," and that will prohibit them from enforcing the contracts with growers. It is further asked that upon the final hearing the court shall find the defendant corporation is a monopoly in interstate trade and commerce. A permanent injunction to restrain the company from "further continuance of such monopoly" is also sought.

TURK NATIONALISTS ENCOURAGE BANDITS.

CHARGE IS MADE BY AMERICAN DIRECTOR OF NEAR EAST RELIEF WORK.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 15.—Robber bands of Chetes, who have for months made travel in Syria unsafe and have held up American relief workers twice within ten days, are operating under the orders of Turkish Nationalists and of the Arab government, according to information received by Dr. R. A. Lambert, director of Near East relief activities at Aleppo. Dr. Lambert says he has received affidavits to support this charge. He believes it was one of these bands that last February murdered two American Young Men's Christian Association secretaries near Aintab.

The circumstances which lead to these conclusions are described by Near East relief agents as follows:

TRUCKS HELD UP.

The first hold-up of Americans occurred in June when two motor trucks in charge of John O. Brian, a relief worker, that were carrying nineteen Armenians was halted between Aintab and Killis.

Though Brian and all American property were not molested, the Armenian men and all of their baggage were taken off before the trucks were allowed to proceed. Only Brian's repeated pleading saved the women from a similar fate. The convoy continued its way to Aleppo after the men were removed. While relief officials were negotiating for release of the Armenians, the prisoners were hastily set free by orders of the Arab authorities at Aleppo.

EXPRESS FRIENDSHIP.

Meeting the leader of the bandits in Aleppo later, Brian found him wearing the uniform of an officer of the army of Prince Feisal, who was elected King of Syria. The Chetes expressed to Brian a feeling of firm friendship for the Americans and the British, but a bitter hatred of the French and Armenians.

On making the same trip a little more than a week later, Brian was again stopped, this time on Turkish territory, by Chetes under the command of a young Turkish officer, who angrily refused to believe Brian's statement that he was an American and compelled him to walk for more than three hours to the headquarters of the commander of the Turkish Nationalist forces in that region.

This officer apologized for the delay that his men had caused Brian, declaring it was necessary, however, because the French had used American flags on their ammunition trucks. Another officer that Brian talked to wanted to know why the Americans did not drive the French out of the country. He said the Turks let the French come in because of President Wilson's assurances and complained that the President had forgotten all about them.

STATE LEMON GROWERS FACE ACUTE CRISIS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—Competition from Italy and increased freight rates have caused an acute crisis which is facing California's lemon industry, according to James Bires, manager of a local fruit company.

On account of the high exchange value of United States money in Italian lire, the present low tariff of 1½ cent pound makes it possible for Italians and Sicilians to sell their lemons in American markets below the cost of producing the California lemons.

It is stated that the Italian grower who sells a box of lemons at $2 in New York has more than $6 when he has exchanged his money into Italian money. Growers here assert that a box of California lemons cost approximately $3 to produce, and upon adding the present freight rate of $1.45 per box to New York, the cost of the product in that city is about $4.45 per box.

NEW RAILWAY TO OPEN UP MINING DISTRICT.

CARSON CITY, Sept. 6.—Notice has been served upon the Governors of Nevada and Idaho that a new railroad line, to be known as the Idaho Central, will be constructed from Wells, Nev., to Rogerson, Idaho, connecting the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific lines. The new line will be built along the route via Contact, Nev., covering a distance of ninety miles.

The proposed railroad will open up Northern Elko county, Nevada, and furnish shipping facilities for the large number of cattle and sheep raised there. It will also provide an outlet and inlet to the Contact mining district, where deposits of copper ore have been opened up and will likewise serve an irrigated district aggregating 400,000 acres in the Snake River section of Idaho.

MANY VISITORS COMING WEST.

Hotel Men Predict Wonderful Tourist Season.

Pasadena to Get Taste of One-Man Street Cars.

Patrolman Exchanges Shots With Prowler.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 9.—Pasadena and Southern California in general are going to have a wonderful fall-winter-spring tourist season, according to two prominent Pasadena hotel managers who returned today to the city after absences of several weeks.

H. M. Nickerson, manager of the Maryland, has been touring in the north for the benefit of his health, accompanied by his friend, Dr. R. O. Coates of this city. Fred M. Crosby, manager of the Huntington, has been in the East. He visited many of the leading resort hotels of the Atlantic Coast.

California hotels, said Mr. Crosby, do not charge as high rates as eastern resort hotels, yet give the guests more service and entertainment. He said the fine reputation of Southern California hotels as well as charms of climate and the like will bring thousands of additional winter visitors to this region this season. Mr. Nickerson said that in all the resort regions of the north, including such places as Tahoe, the residents and sojourners are planning to come here for the winter season.

ONE-MAN CARS.

"One-man cars" are to be installed by the Pacific Electric on some of the local lines in Pasadena. Within the next few weeks, it was learned today, eight cars of the one-man type, in which the motorman doubles in the role of conductor, will be placed in service on local lines here, replacing the so-called submarine type of car. The submarines are cars with underslung bodies, but are manned by a two-man crew. The first line to get the new cars will be the Tournament Park-Arroyo Seco line, sometimes referred to as the "South Loop."

SALESMAN IS HURT.

J. G. McAllister, 1447 West Fiftieth street, Los Angeles, was painfully, but not seriously hurt today when his automobile collided with a North Orange Grove street car. The machine was capsized and pushed along the street with McAllister under it. The broken windshield nearly sliced off the crown of McAllister's straw hat, but did not cut his head. McAllister is a salesman for a Los Angeles furniture house. He was treated for his hurts at the local Emergency Hospital.

OPPOSE STREET OPENING.

Some of the property owners on Green street have organized a committee to oppose the city's project to widen the thoroughfare and extend it into a complete crosstown thoroughfare, parallelling Colorado street and relieving that street of some of its traffic. The opponents of the move have opened a campaign headquarters in a downtown office building.

BATTLES WITH PROWLER.

J. W. Martin, patrolman employed by a local private patrol agency, exchanged several shots with an unidentified prowler in the rear of a fur store at 302 East Colorado street early this morning. The prowler escaped, though Martin thinks he may have winged him. Martin was unhurt. The fur store contained thousands of dollars worth of expensive furs.

LIBRARY HAS OBSERVANCE.

Admission Day had a double significance at the Pasadena Public Library today. The State's anniversary was celebrated; also the thirtieth anniversary of the dedication and opening of the Public Library Building in Library Park. Banks, city offices, school offices and other offices of a public nature were closed today in observance of Admission Day. No commemorative program was held here, but many persons went to Los Angeles tonight to attend the exercises there.

POMONA POLICEMAN GETS FEELINGS HURT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Sept. 9.—Officer John Parker, night watchman of the Pomona police force, narrowly escaped death or serious injury while doing a humanitarian act for motorists last evening.

Early in the evening he received a report that some one had run into a red lantern used to safeguard motorists from running into an excavation along the Pacific Electric tracks on North Gary avenue and that glass was scattered over the pavement. The officer was busily engaged in sweeping up the glass when, without warning, the headlights of a speedily approaching automobile appeared. The officer leaped to one side of the highway and was barely grazed. While his feelings were badly hurt, he suffered none the worse for the near-accident. The police are searching for the offender.

COMPLIMENTS SEAMAN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 9.—Paul Wurmser, a seaman at the Submarine Base here, has been commended by Secretary of the Navy Daniels for heroic conduct when the submarine H-1 went aground April 7, in Magdalena Bay. He gave up his life preserver to a seaman who could not swim, at the risk of his own life.

OFFICER RESIGNS.

After thirty years of honorable service in the United States Navy, John J. Monahan, aide to the commander of the Submarine Base here, since April, 1919, has tendered his resignation to the Navy Department. He is well known here as a naval man and as a lawyer.

He entered the Navy as an apprentice, third class, Aug. 26, 1889.

CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 9.—Armistice Day, November 11, will be a notable occasion in Santa Ana, under plans being worked out today by the local post of the American Legion. There are 500 members in the local post and an elaborate presentation of Victory medals is being arranged. M. E. Wellington, Clyde Whitney and Dr. John Wehrly form the medals' presentation committee; Stanley Reinhaus, Art Angle and Charles D. Swammer are arranging the evening entertainment, and Dean Collver, Warren K. Hillyard, Elliott Rowland and Clyde Whitney have charge of the applications of ex-service men for the Victory medals.

BEAN GROWERS ORGANIZE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 9.—Organizing in the hope of obtaining better prices for their 1920 lima bean crop than are being offered by the independent buyers, several growers on the Irvine ranch south of here are forming a pool, to act jointly in the sale of the new bean crop. The growers believe an effort is being made to crowd prices down and believe the pooling proposition will help the situation. The growers point out that not only is the crop light this year, but expenses have been high, and they must get the best prices possible.

PERFUME JAG IS COSTLY AFFAIR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, Sept. 9.—French perfume, beef, iron and wine, Tanlac and Eau de Quinine hair tonic, said to contain 62 per cent alcohol, produced such a kick for George M. Grier, a plasterer, that it landed him in jail on a drunk charge, according to the man's testimony this morning when he appeared before Judge George R. Holbrook and paid a fine of $20.

The court at first pronounced a jail sentence, but when Grier pleaded for a fine and promised not to let it occur again, Judge Holbrook relented, inasmuch as the present shortage of plasterers here is acute.

ELKS' BENEFIT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FERNANDO, Sept. 9.—The San Fernando and Glendale Elks will unite in presenting a benefit performance for the aid of vocational training for disabled soldiers, sailors and marines, to be given in Cody's Theater, September 15. "The Way Back" and "The Spirit (singular) of Elkdom" will be presented on the screen. It is denied by the local Elks that the title of the first drama refers in any way to the subject of the latter.

SHIPYARD WORKER RIP TIDE VICTIM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 9.—Caught in a strong rip tide while bathing in the surf in front of Mohegan Camp, Karl C. Auer, 40 years old, was drowned late this afternoon. The body has not been recovered.

Auer was a native of Germany and his only known relatives still reside in that country. He was an electrician employed at the plant of the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company. He maintained bachelor quarters at 2 San Diego avenue.

A number of letters written in German were found in the man's home. These will be translated in an effort to locate relatives. Photographs of sections of the recently defeated German army and strange electrical appliances and contrivances were also found in the house.

Auer was seen in distress just beyond the last breaker line by other bathers about 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. A. Krause, also employed in the shipyard, swam to his assistance. He held up for a time, but found his efforts to bring the bather in against the rip tide futile. He found himself weakening under the strain and was forced to give up the attempt to rescue Auer in order to save himself.

Finding that Krause was forced to abandon the task, Ernest Mouser, another shipyard employee, started out for the drowning man. Auer went down for the last time when Mouser was only a few yards away. He failed to reappear.

BRING BODY HOME.

The body of Kenneth Kellum, former Poly High School student, who was killed near Fullerton in an automobile accident Wednesday afternoon, was brought to this city for burial tonight. Young Kelum was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kellum of this city. He graduated from the local high school in 1919. He had expected to enter the Oregon Agricultural College, where he would have been a sophomore, this fall. While in high school the young man was prominent in athletics and other student activities.

GRAND JURY TO MEET.

New Federal Inquisitorial Body Called up for Today.

What is known as the new Federal grand jury will meet today after a summer vacation and take up a number of cases, the most important of which is that against "Capt." J. Allan Brooks, who is charged with taking an automobile without the consent of the owner on a transcontinental trip, beginning at Cincinnati, thence through the East and then to the Pacific Coast.

The old grand jury, that was organized last January, is still investigating the question of the high cost of living.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 9.—Sixty-five children from the Masonic Home at Covina, were guests at a picnic at White Point today, given by the local lodges of the Eastern Star and the Masons. Rev. Grice, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, was in charge of sports and games for the children.

DIVORCE IN NEVADA MAY BE BLOCKED.

Gormley - Kelly - Gormley Case Complicated by Wife's Declarations of Residence.

Mrs. Ramona Pinkney Gormley, one of the central figures in the Gormley-Kelly-Gormley tangle and its many court litigations here and in Nevada, may find herself opposed in her most recent suit for divorce from James F. Gormley by the very forces that helped her in the early stages of her legal battle against her husband. This was indicated here yesterday in statements of those associated with the case.

Attorney Warren Williams and Detective Nick Harris, who represented Mrs. Gormley last winter when she succeeded in having a divorce set aside, but who were not consulted by her before she filed the present suit, are known to be in telegraphic communication with their representatives in Las Vegas.

"Judge Orr, who granted Mr. Gormley a divorce in January, and subsequently set it aside and directed that he be prosecuted for perjury, has been fair with us and we must be fair with him," said Attorney Williams.

"After the divorce was set aside Mr. Gormley instituted another suit, but this was dismissed because Mrs. Gormley was not a resident of Nevada. She named Los Angeles as her home. In her $100,000 alienation suit against Helen Kelly Mrs. Gormley again named Los Angeles as her residence. Now she has filed a suit for divorce, asserting that she lives in Nevada."

SERAPHS ENJOY THE SHOW BEST.

Bill Pertica Pitches Baseball that Confounds 'Em.

Late Afternoon Pastime Jogs Along Thirteen Innings.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

The Angels crushed into the Beavers yesterday afternoon at Washington Park in a double-header—easily tramped on them in the first contest, 6 to 0, and held them to a tie in the second, 3 to 3, which ran into thirteen innings and darkness.

ONLY A CAKEWALK.

The first argument was a veritable cakewalk for the Seraphs. Bill Pertica was at his best and held the visitors to three hits and a nest of nine goose eggs.

Sutherland hurled 'em over for the McCredie lads and was nicked throughout, the Angels running up a score of six runs.

The second clash, however, was fraught with eccentric situations, freak plays and palpitating crises and was innocent of a dull moment after the eighth frame. It was in reality a tug of war affair with the fortunes varying one way and then another until darkness set in on a stalemate.

EXCELLENT GAME.

Ote Crandall stood the onslaught throughout and heaved an excellent game. He grew wobbly for a spell in the ninth and was touched up for a double and a single which netted a run. That put the visitors in the lead, but the Celestials came back in their last half of the inning and tied the score.

One of the weirdest innings that has been played here this year cropped up in the first of the tenth. Witsenzil lifted a drooper to right which Crawford was unable to reach. The fluke poke went for a single. Maisel bunted to Crandall who threw to Killefer, but the throw was a little too far out and the ball shunted to the right of Red. Wisterzil cantered to third.

Cox hit a lazy fly toward Ellis, who came in on the dead run, but muffed the ball with hands far extended. McAuley on the job picked up the pill and threw it to Lapan and Wisterzil was nabbed at the plate. Sigfin then flied to Crawford. Baker poked one at Zeider, who fumbled and ran back for the ball. As he did so, Maisel turned third and beat it for home. Maisel seeing he could not make the plate rushed back to third, but was caught on a close play. Zeider to Bassler to Niehoff.

Pitcher Brooks was badly spiked

But Unfortunately They've All Died Already, Except Hunter.

RULES FOR FAST MOTORBOATS OUT.

TRIALS FOR HAL ROACH TROPHY WILL BE HELD OFF SAN PEDRO.

The rules committee for the Hal Roach trophy motor boat speed trials met at the Los Angeles Athletic Club on Tuesday, September 7. Those present were Dr. Albert Solland, George Sheedy, Fane Norton, Charles Keppen, Charles P. Eyton, Ralph Jessen, Fred Thatcher and H. M. Walker.

The motorboat speed trials for the Hal Roach trophy will be held Sunday, October 3.

The course to be one mile straight-away in the outer harbor at San Pedro, just inside the breakwater.

All contestants must report to the racing committee at or before 9 a.m.

Each boat will be given three trials—the one making the fastest time to be declared the winner.

The events will draw for the privilege of starting first, second, etc. The winner of the first heat will be allowed to start last in the heats to follow.

No false starts will be allowed. A boat crossing the starting line will be considered to have "started" and the result must stand.

Fines are to be imposed by the decision of "open out of five" to be considered official at all times.

Messrs. Sheedy and Norton are to attend to the laying out of the course.

SIX CLUBS TO TRY FOR SOCCER TITLE.

The Southern California Soccer Association will hold its first meeting on September 29 at 211 South Broadway at 8 p.m. At that time the league schedule will be drawn up and officers elected for the season.

The prospects for a good season are the best since soccer first started in Los Angeles. Scores of good players are in this part of the country and better football should be played this year than has been played for some time. Last season the United won all three cups and the championship, but this season they will have to go some to even hold their own.

Six clubs are entered so far and two more are expected to join later. The clubs in the association are as follows: United, L.A.A.C., Sons of St. George, Gordons, Santa Monica and Overseas.

The secretaries addresses are: United, W. Heaton, Hollywood studios; Sons of St. George, Jack Percy, 437 South Hill; Santa Monica, J. Hannah, Union Oil Building; L.A.A.C., Bert Lewis, 823, 1230 South Bonnie Brae; Overseas, J. Bain, 211 South Broadway, Broadway 5300; Gordons, J. J. Harvey, 321 West Third street, Long Beach, and secretary of the association, Alex Shedden, 411 West Second street.

SANTA CLARA WINS OPENING GRID GAME.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—Santa Clara University defeated the Olympic Club of San Francisco, 7 to 0, in the first football game of the season at Ewing Field here today. Santa Clara scored a touchdown and a kicked goal in the third quarter. The play of both teams was recognized as of the early season variety, frequent fumbles emphasizing the fact. The Olympic Club resorted to trick plays and forward passes, but were defeated by strong team work.

HEINIE ZIMMERMAN ON BETHLEHEM TEAM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The rumor that Heinie Zimmerman, the former Giant infielder, and now managing a team in the Bronx, has joined the Bethlehem team in the Bethlehem Steel League was confirmed this morning by Secretary J. V. Dippery, secretary of the circuit. Dippery announced that the acquisition of Zimmerman was made solely to protect against an emergency in the event of any of the regular players being injured in the closing stages of the league race.

DODGERS GRAB THE LEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Brooklyn hopped into the lead in the National League pennant race today by defeating St. Louis, while Cincinnati slipped to second place as the result of splitting a double-header with Boston. New York, in third place, lost some ground by dropping a close game to the Cubs.

Cleveland, in the American League, gained a few points by defeating New York and sending the Yankees to third place, while the Chicago White Sox won from Boston and climbed into second place.

By their victory over St. Louis the Superbas boosted their percentage four points, giving them the advantage of two points over Cincinnati. The world champions, although they split even with the Braves, lost two points and are now half a game behind Brooklyn. New York lost five points as a result of its defeat by Chicago, which places the Giants two and one-half games behind the leaders and two games in the rear of Cincinnati.

Victories for the leaders do not add as many points as defeats subtract, and while Cleveland and Chicago each added three points to their standing today, the New York Yankees lost five points by losing to the Indians. These results give Cleveland a lead of eleven points, or one full game, over Chicago, and sixteen points, or one and one-half games, over New York. The White Sox have an advantage of a half-game over the Yankees.

PETER MANNING TAKES IT.

HARTFORD (Ct.) Sept. 9.—Peter Manning, champion 4-year-old trotter, won today the classic $10,000 Charter Oak stake, feature event of the Grand Circuit meeting here. His victory was an easy one, the son of Axoff easily having the speed of the field and coming home with a lead of nearly two lengths in each of the two heats. It was Murphy's seventh victory of the meeting and the third consecutive year that he has won the Charter Oak stake. Both heats were run in 2:06¼.

Billy Crozier took first with Ethel Chimes, a Murphy pacer, in the bitterly fought 2:10 pace, and won the 2:16 pace with Billy Sunday. The free-for-all for 3-year-old trotting colts was unfinished at the end of the third heat, Worthy Chief, Jane the Great and Sister Bertha each winning a heat. This race will be finished tomorrow. Best times:

GOODYEAR VS. ALLSTARS.

All the trimmings and atmosphere that go with the opening of a regular baseball season will mark the formal dedication of the new Goodyear athletic field and grand stand at Ascot Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the rubber company's formidable aggregation of players will cross bats with B. H. Dyas Company's All Stars.

Peanuts and pop, without which baseball is never quite the real thing, will be on tap, and the company band of forty pieces, under the direction of Frank Marsales, will play from 1:30 o'clock until the game starts. A. F. Osterloh, general manager of the California company, will pitch the first ball, with F. A. Steele, superintendent of the rubber mill, on the receiving end. The Goodyear Girls' Club will attend the game in a body to root for the rubber workers.

"PING'S" ANKLE NOT BROKEN

PITTSBURG (Pa.) Sept. 9.—"Ping" Bodie, outfielder of the New York American League club, who was injured in an exhibition game with the Pirates yesterday, announced tonight that he would leave the hospital for New York tomorrow or Saturday.

Attending physicians, after a thorough examination, said today that no bones were fractured in Bodie's ankle, but that the ligaments were pulled when he slid into home base yesterday. Bodie said tonight that he was "feeling fine" and that while he did not know whether he could play again this season, he would make every effort to rejoin the Yankees soon.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Escorted out of New York Harbor by two airplanes, the Cunard liner Imperator sailed this afternoon for London carrying among its passengers Mr. and Mrs. S. E. J. Cox and son Seymour of Houston, Tex., en route to France to supervise the entry of their two-speed planes in the Gordon Bennett cup race to be held September 27.

A big Navy seaplane carrying several motion-picture photographers, piloted by Harry Rogers, circled the liner while Capt. Claude R. Collins, president of the Aviators' Club of Pennsylvania, climbing to the tips of either wing, threw bouquets of roses on the ship's deck, where Mr. and Mrs. Cox were standing. A Morane monoplane piloted by Temple Joyce also escorted the liner. Shortly before sailing, Mr. Cox received a cablegram from Roland Rolfhs and Clarence Coombs, pilots of the Texas Wildcat and the Cactus Kitten, the two Cox entries, stating that on first test flights in Paris, the machines had made over 200 miles an hour. This is about thirty miles better than the world's speed record.

There is still room being made by the comittee in charge of the run for everybody who wants to enter a car and Burt Roberts, general manager of the Dealers' Association, will be busy up to tonight receiving more names at the offices of the association, 1344 South Figueroa street.

EAST PREVAILS OVER THE WEST.

Garland Defeats Burdick in Singles Match.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—The East won two out of the three matches in the East-West tennis tournament, which started at the Germantown Cricket Club today.

In the feature match William Tilden II, Philadelphia, world's tennis champion, and R. Norris Williams, II, Boston, former national titleholder, defeated W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin, San Francisco, national doubles champions, 6-3, 8-10, 9-7, 6-3. In the singles Charles Garland, Pittsburg, defeated Ralph Burdick, Chicago, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2; while Willis E. Davis, San Francisco, won over Wallace Johnson, Philadelphia, 4-6, 9-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4.

Tilden was not at the top of his form at the start of the doubles contest. His service was erratic and he failed to get the ball over the net with any degree of success. However, at the tag end of the match he came to the forefront with a reckless display of speed and a variety of shots which were little short of marvelous.

Wonderful as was Tilden's work at critical parts of the contest, the greater credit belongs to Williams, whose backhand and overhand shots were executed with great skill. Many of the former champion's points were earned by sending the ball across the court with a speed that made it unhittable.

Besides he drove and served with great severity and then moved to the net to finish off the points. Johnston and Griffin played well, but they could not overcome the speed of their opponents. Johnston's strokes were well nigh perfect. Time and again he went to the net, smashing the ball for sensational "gets." Griffin's ground strokes were made with plenty of pace and in fine form.

Davis won a well-earned contest from Johnson. The Californian's speed was the deciding factor. Johnson used his chop stroke to advantage, but Davis more than made up for it by the reckless abandon with which he covered the court and his hard driving.

FOREIGNERS TAKE COUNT.

Chick Evans, Bobby Jones and Allis Remain.

ROSLYN (N. Y.) Sept. 9.—The last foreign invader seeking this year's amateur golf championship of the United States repelled today, the new champion is certain to be an American. Francis Ouimet of Boston again saved his country's honor in golf. In 1913 he first came into prominence by defeating the English professionals, Vardon and Ray, for the American open title. Today he eliminated Thomas D. Armour of Scotland, holder of the French amateur championship, 5 and 4.

Armour was the last of four golfers from Great Britain seeking the title to remain in the tournament. He was the only one of the quartet to qualify. The only other foreign invader to qualify, C. P. Grier, the Canadian champion, succumbed in the first round.

The South was victorious today in a contest with the North, when Bobby Jones, the 20-year-old wizard from Atlanta, defeated the young Massachusetts champion, F. J. Wright, Jr., 22 years old, by 4 and 4. Tomorrow the sectional rivalry will be continued, for the draw puts Jones against Ouimet. They have never met before in an important match.

SEMIFINALISTS.

The other semifinalists are Chick Evans of Chicago and Edward P. Allis of Milwaukee. Today Evans defeated W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburg, also a former amateur champion, by 7 and 6. Allis won by 2 and 1 from J. Wood Platt of Philadelphia, who dethroned Champion R. Davidson Herron yesterday and defeated Ouimet at Oakmont last year. The work of Allis, former Harvard star, has been one of the surprises of the tournament.

Armour was eliminated at the short 165-yard fourteenth hole, where a golfer usually finishes either in three or from half a dozen up. Ouimet took a par three for the hole, but Armour's tee shot failed to stay on the green, which is on the top of a hill and when he had no better success with his second he picked it up. Ouimet was five up after the morning round partly as a result of wild slices by Armour.

AT THE TURN.

At the turn in the afternoon, Ouimet was four to the good and then on the 360-yard twelfth hole he virtually clinched the match by a 310-yard drive, which was followed later by a fifteen-foot putt for a birdie three. In the morning round poor putting lost Armour three chances to halve or win holes.

Jones like Ouimet won his match on the short fourteenth hole. Bobby's morning round of seventy-two EXCELLENT GOLF.

The excellent golf of Evans evoked favorable comment. After the morning round Evans led Fownes six up largely as a result of breezing home in thirty-five, one over par. In the afternoon he went out in thirty-five, one under par, and then he played par golf for three holes to win the match.

Allis had Platt four down after their first eighteen holes, but by the thirteenth hole of the afternoon round Platt had cut his rival's lead down to one hole. At the fifteenth hole Platt took three putts, losing the hole, and the next two holes were halved, ending the match. The summaries:

lar golf was concerned. Hines managed to halve the next seven holes and won the eighth, the fortieth of the match, by everlastingly sticking to conservative tactics, while Skelley lost it by refusing to hole short putts, burning up three putts on four or five greens.

BREN BY AUTO.

The last four holes and the first four at Pebble Beach can be easily watched by the automobile route and the big gallery trailed the match which refused to be decided. Skelly snatched his chances out of the fire by fine recoveries from the rough on the thirty-seventh, a fine pitch from behind a bunker on the thirty-eighth, and a wonderful shot right up to the pin from a topped drive which landed in the ravine on the thirty-ninth, but they proved of no avail to him, owing to his putting paralysis.

Both got off fine drives from the fourth tee, the fortieth of the match, but Skelly overapproached and ran into the trap. Hines had a putt for a 3 missed, but a 4 was good enough to win a match which neither opponent, the gallery nor Cyril Tobin will forget for a long time.

In tomorrow's matches interest centers in the Hunter-Seaver and Armstrong-Vincent encounters. Conan is regarded as a semifinalist. The first round of the women's championship was also played at Pebble Beach and most of the ladies ran true to form. Mrs. Luther Kennett, State and Southern California champion, won her match handily; Mrs. Charles F. Ford of Claremont and Mrs. Guy Cochran both had close arguments, which were decided in their favor on the home green.

SAVES STRENGTH.

Mrs. Hubert Law, who has won this title a number of times, reserved her strength for the last few holes. Mrs. Robert Roos of Beresford fought gamely to the thirteenth, where she was only one down, but the San Francisco champion proceeded to take the next three holes.

Miss Edith Chesbrough was faced by Mrs. H. F. Anderson who, despite the fact that she was playing Pebble Beach for the first time, was square at the turn. The Northern California champion won at the sixteenth.

Perhaps the best women's golf of the day was shown in the match between Mrs. Margaret Cameron of Annandale and Miss Josephine Moore of San Francisco. Mrs. Cameron shot approximately 86 to Miss Moore's 92. The summaries:

TIGERS WIN ONE BATTLE ANYWAY.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—Vernon and Sacramento divided today's double-header, the Tigers taking the morning game, 10 to 0, and the Senators winning, 3 to 1, in the afternoon. The Tigers bunched hits on Faeth in the fifth and seventh innings of the morning affair, scoring five runs each time. High and Chadbourne secured homers with men on the bases.

Piercy's wildness, Murphy's poor throw and a double by Mollwitz gave Sacramento two runs, clinching the afternoon game in the first inning. Niehaus was effective in the pinches. The scores:

CATALINA RACE OFF A MONTH.

Uncle Sam's Navy Interested and Will Observe.

Admiral Wiley Wires He Can Send a Destroyer.

At the request of Joe Fellows, the challenger for the Santa Catalina trophy, and with the concurrence of Frank A. Garbutt, the defender, the great race which was to have been run next Sunday was postponed yesterday until Saturday, October 9, by the Los Angeles Yacht Club.

NAVY INTERESTED.

Simultaneously with the change of date the United States Navy, interested in the thrilling event for various reasons, took official cognizance of the forthcoming dash. Rear-Admiral H. A. Wiley, commander of the destroyer force of the Pacific Fleet, wired Mr. Garbutt and the Los Angeles Athletic Club from San Diego, that he can send a destroyer October 9. This undoubtedly means that one of the fleetest war craft will accompany the contestants around the island.

On Sunday, October 3, the speed trials for the splendid trophy put up by Hal Roach will be run in the harbor, so there will be a season of intensive activity in powerboat circles. The Nordlinger trophy is to be contested for a little later, too, it is understood.

WANTS HER O.K.

Mr. Fellows has been giving his new sea comet, the Fellows IV, severe tests in the extraordinarily rough water of the past week or so and she behaved splendidly, but the veteran builder wasn't quite satisfied. He wants a boat to stand up about as stanchly as Gibraltar and has made arrangements to strengthen the Fellows IV, in anticipation of anything he may bump into on the other side of Catalina, where the waves run as high as old H.C.L. on the mainland.

Mr. Garbutt, desirous of seeing his rival for the trophy make the best possible showing, immediately consented to give another month in which to make ready for the gruelling battle. By that time there may be other entrants, too. And Garbutt's Mystery V will have undergone more trials. The postponement will mean an even better race, if such a thing is possible.

MUCH INTERESTED.

From the standpoints, both of speed and stanchness, these swift and powerful craft are of particular interest to shipbuilders and the Navy Department, which probably accounts for Admiral Wiley's decision to send a destroyer along to observe their behavior in the classic. As dispatch runners and scout boats, speedsters like Mystery V and Fellows IV offer great possibilities. That course of seventy-five miles over all brands of water, from smooth to mountainous, is a test for men and craft which the weak and uncertain must beware of, and it will be appreciated by the naval observers. Unless they start well ahead they may have to watch through long-distance glasses. A new rate of speed is in prospect.

ACCIDENT RUMORS ARE ALL DENIED.

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 9.—Rumors being widely circulated that players Ruth, Meusel, Pratt and Lewis were injured in an automobile accident near here today, were denied by officials of the New York American League baseball club. Manager Huggins declared that none of the New York players had been in any kind of an accident.

ROCKETTS TO EXPAND.

WILL BUY TEN ACRES AND BUILD LARGE STUDIO.

By Grace Kingsley.

Those young Rockett boys certainly are go-and-getters. Living right up to their name, Rockett Film Corporation, youngest of the independent motion-picture companies operating in California, have completed their first picture, "The Truant Husband," with such success that they feel encouraged to enlarge their plan of operations, and produce not less than six special features annually. Much more capital is to be employed and a ten-acre tract in Hollywood is being purchased for a perfectly equipped studio.

"The Truant Husband" was adapted for the screen by Daniel Frederick Whitcomb from the notable story of the same title written by Albert Payson Terhune, and was filmed at Universal City, under the direction of Thomas N. Heffron. Mahlon Hamilton, Betty Blythe and Francelia Billington are the featured leads.

The Rockett Film Corporation is negotiating for a number of the best-known books on the Anglo-American market, the first purchase being an English best seller by Gertie De S. Wentworth-James, which created a sensation in the tight little isle. The book title, for business reasons, will not be divulged until the picture is completed. The working title chosen is "Extravagance."

President R. R. Rockett will personally conduct "The Truant Husband" to New York, leaving early next week, and the release will be announced from there. Associated with Rockett in the organization are his brother, A. L. Rockett, assistant general manager; Charles B. Morgan, Dr. S. C. Buchan, E. H. Christensen and Rev. Dr. S. S. Martin.

Casualty Note.

Now watch out for something good! Donald Crisp, Famous Players-Lasky director, is going to direct a film version of Bernard Shaw's "Cashel Byron's Profession," over in London, and Shaw is going to be right there to supervise. Oh, well, Crisp went all through the Boer war!

Jack Pickford's Plans.

When Jack Pickford returns from his European trip, he is to have his own company, as announced in this column several weeks ago. That company, it was stated yesterday by Mrs. Charlotte Pickford, Jack's mother, will be under her management, and it is understood that she is also a large stockholder.

"Jack will work out here," said Mrs. Pickford, "though we have not yet decided at what studio he will rent space. Possibly a new studio will be built. As to the first story he will make, that hasn't been decided either, but we are negotiating for the rights to George M. Cohan's success, 'Little Johnny Jones.' Jack has been successful in comedy, and we believe this would be an ideal vehicle for him."

Mrs. Pickford is vacating the Fremont Place house, as she says it is quite too lonely since Mary went away. She has taken a house at Elden avenue and Tenth street and was in the throes of moving when interviewed. Lottie Pickford and Lottie's little daughter, lately adopted by Mrs. Pickford, will live with Mrs. Pickford. The new Pickford home is soon to be built.

Lois Weber is Strenuous.

The most avid feminist could not have cavilled yesterday at Lois Weber's opportunity to do big things. Miss Weber, most famous of women picture directors, and one of the most famous directors, anyhow, donned a leather suit and waded right into the directing of some cattle ranch scenes at Zelzah, near Chatsworth Park, as part of her current picture.

Miss Weber has directed western scenes before, but never anything quite so difficult to handle. However, she came away unscathed, though she went right down among the longhorns. In the cast of the picture play are Mona Lisa, Louis Calhern, Claire Windsor, Edwin Stephens, Arthur Hull and Una Trevelyn. Some thirty cowboys also took part.

David Hartford Announces.

David M. Hartford, accompanied by his manager, Joseph Montrose, arrived in Los Angeles via Charlie Pike's w. k. Salt Lake line yesterday after a month's stay in New York, during which time Hartford delivered to the executive chiefs of the Associated First National Pictures his latest production made from James Oliver Curwood's story, "Nomads of the North," and also signed contracts for his next production for First National, which will be another story by Curwood called "The Golden Snare."

Production of the new story will not be commenced until January or February of the coming year, but practically every day of the intervening period will be taken up in thorough preparation.

Bessie Love Announces.

Not by any means has Bessie Love given up her trip to London. In fact, she will just have to take it, she says, in order to make "The Old Curiosity Shop" convincing. She will probably leave for England next spring, following the making of several other features for A. J. Callaghan productions.

Colleen Moore, Too!

And while we're speaking of Europe it might be recorded that Colleen Moore expects to go abroad next summer, accompanied by a galaxy of relatives like the famous sisters and cousins and aunts of the G. & S. opera. In fact, her mother, her aunt, Mrs. Stone, and her cousin, Lisbeth Stone, will be with her.

First National Has Italian Film.

Word has been received by Sol Lesser from General Manager J. D. Williams of Associated First National Pictures, Inc., that the exhibitors' circuit has concluded arrangements for the release in about six weeks of a big Italian film production, in which the famous player, Pola Negri, appears in the leading role.

Charlie Ray Cly Slicker.

Gosh-dinged if Charlie Ray hasn't gone and become a city slicker! Mr. Ray is announced by Richard Willis, the young star's manager, to have completed his third independent production for release through Associated First National Pictures. It is called "Nineteen and Phyllis," and in it Mr. Ray is seen as a dashing young town boy. Joseph De Grasse is the man behind the megaphone who admonished Mr. Ray how young city men behave.

Star Entertains.

A prettily decorated luncheon table at the Alexandria yesterday boasted the still further adorning presence of a bevy of picture stars as well known that the invitation list would read like a who's who of picture ingenue-dom. No less a person than Colleen Moore, the newest Marshal Neilan star, assisted by her mother, presided at the luncheon, which was given in honor of Miss Moore's cousin, Lisbeth Stone, a pretty society bud of New Orleans.

Included in the invitation list were Carmel Myers, Bessie Love, Zasu Pitts, Dorothy Devore, Marjorie Daw, Agnes Ayres, Grace Darmond, May Kwasthock, Lois Wilson, Doris May, Kathleen Kirkham and Pauline Starke.

As a matter of fact, though nobody talked much about it for some reason, the occasion was also the anniversary of the formation of a solemn society organization some three years ago, known as the I-Won't-Marry Club. Zasu Pitts was the first member who had the hardihood to break her spinster vows, but yesterday at least two other young ladies in the party blushed and hid their left hands consciously when the fact was mentioned.

Kinema Orchestra Leader.

Rene Williams has been engaged as conductor of the Kinema Orchestra, according to announcement yesterday from the offices of Sol Lesser. Mr. Williams will make his first bow under his new contract when he conducts Elgar's overture to "Pomp and Circumstance," with the Clara Kimball Young feature, "Mid-Channel," during the coming week.

Mae Marsh on Location.

Leaving her precious baby, Mae, Jr., to the care of her husband, Mae Marsh is spending a week at Great Bear with her company, making scenes for the next Robertson-Cole production, "The Girl who Lived in the Woods," which is being adapted for the screen from Marjorie Benton Cook's novel, under direction of John C. Adolfi.

New Hayakawa Picture.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Haworth Company for Sessue Hayakawa's next production for Robertson-Cole, work on which will start within a few days. The story is from a novel by Lloyd Osborne, Mrs. Hayakawa, known professionally as Tsuru Aoki, will play the leading feminine role.

Mary Pickford at Work.

Mary Pickford and her company are shortly to go on location. In the meantime Frances Marion, now Miss Pickford's director, is qualifying also as an animal trainer by directing birds, pigs, cats and chickens, and even a monkey, all of which are used, presumably for comedy effect, in the current Pickford picture.

Buster's Come-Back.

"What's the matter, Buster?" Lou Anger asked. "You look all out of spirits."

Bessie Barriscale's Plan.

Bessie Barriscale, following the completion of her current Robertson-Cole picture, which is the last under her present contract, will take a trip to New York, she said yesterday, to see the new shows and her relatives, before entering into any new professional alliance.

Their Little Kind Hearts.

That those little usherettes at Grauman's have kind hearts as well as courteous manners was shown yesterday when a half-touching, half-amusing little incident occurred, following the afternoon performance of Arbuckle in "The Round-Up." It was something of a tribute to the chubby comedian, too, come to think of it.

An old fellow in shabby clothes was making his way out. He was all alone, up in the gallery, but he was smiling happily at remembrance of Arbuckle's fun, and he just had to let somebody know about it. Clearly he didn't go to pictures very often and didn't quite know the etiquette of theater behavior. Then he stuck out his hand to one of them. "Bully show. Thanks. Good day!" He passed the handmake right along to four of 'em. And those girls every one shook hands smilingly and cordially with the shabby old man who had had a good time at the show and who wanted to do just the right thing by the house!

You Tell 'Em, Eve.

When you're keeping a diary, be careful that you don't write anything important or personal down in it. Anyway, that's what Eve Novak says. Miss Novak has just finished a picture called "Wanted, at Headquarters," but now it seems she's wanted at more places than that.

It appears that some one picked up a little blue leather diary at Universal City the other day. In looking through it for the name of the owner, items such as these were quoted: "Jack proposed. Told him no." "At the Ship tonight. Charlie came over and asked me to marry him; told him where to get off." "Turned George down at Bluebird tonight; men are such pests." In all there were just ten such items. Finally the finder of the diary discovered Miss Novak's name and returned it to her. Eve Novak was born in Missouri, if that has anything to do with it.

Something Else Again.

Fritz Leiber, the noted Shakespearean actor, who has come West to play the role of King Solomon in the Fox production of "The Queen of Sheba," under direction of J. Gordon Edwards, is worried. The fact is, his locks are growing long even for a Shakespearean actor. He was gloomily pacing the Alexandria lobby, yesterday, when an old friend approached and greeted him, asking Lieber what he was doing.

"Well," answered Lieber, "I had intended playing King Solomon, but now I'm thinking of understudying May Allison as Lady Godiva."

Louis B. Mayer Expands.

According to reports just received from New York, Louis B. Mayer followed up his safe arrival there two weeks ago with a shopping tour for plays and books. Upon his return to California Mayer intends to produce all-star productions in addition to pictures starring Anita Stewart and Mildred Harris Chaplin. For this purpose he already has the film rights to Harold McGrath's novel, "Drums of Jeopardy," and to a number of James Oliver Curwood stories.

He Said It.

The chief forrest ranger of Yosemite National Park, who by the way is appropriately named Forest S. Townsley, accompanied by E. C. Stevens, general passenger agent of the Yosemite National Park Company, visited the Mack Sennett studios yesterday, explored its thirty-five acres and dined with the Mack Sennett beauties at the Sennett Cafeteria.

While lunching off a nice steak, Mr. Townsley glanced around at the lovely young women surrounding him on every hand, and, either reminiscently regarding Yosemite or as compliment to his companions, was heard to murmur: "Ain't nature just grand!"

Holubar's Mammoth Production.

Allen Holubar, Dorothy Phillips and the entire cast of "Man, Woman, Marriage," including over 500 extras and technical men, returned to the Hollywood studio yesterday from their ten-day stay at Chatsworth Park.

Mr. Holubar states that during this period his six cameramen filmed over 120,000 feet of film for the Amazonian episode of this big allegorical tale. In order to stage the big battle scenes, it was necessary to engage over 400 horses, forty-two trucks and 1000 costumes, in addition to hundreds of lamps, etc. Tents were provided for the entire staff and a bunch of showers, sufficient to cover a city block. Huge stoves had to be transported to the location in order to feed the hungry artists. Hospital tents were provided for the ill and injured, with two competent physicians in constant attendance.

And Mr. Holubar states that when the production is projected on the screen, the Amazonian sequence will last less than eight minutes!

WASHINGTON NEXT.

Alexander Pantages will Enter National Capital.

The importance of Los Angeles as a theatrical center is again emphasized by the announcement that the Pantages Vaudeville Circuit is shortly to enter the national capital. Alexander Pantages has always been regarded both here and by his competitors elsewhere as strictly a westerner, and the Pantages circuit is regarded in the East as a western affair. During the past two years, however, Pantages has been steadily extending his line of houses eastward, the most recent outpost being established in Toronto, Can. The approaching completion of the Pantages theaters in Memphis, Tenn., Ft. Worth, Tex., and New Orleans, started soon in St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., give him a thorough control of the territory this side of the Mississippi River, so that it was almost to be expected that the next coup would bring the Pantages string of houses into the strictly eastern territory.

The Washington house is to be located at F street near Ninth, which will be recognized by those familiar with the national capital as the best possible location for Pantages purposes. Washington capitalists approached the vaudeville magnate nearly a year ago with offers of a theater to be leased to him for a long term of years, but Pantages was not at that time ready for the deal. It has just been learned that the offer was recently renewed and accepted. All the Pantages houses in the West, including Minneapolis, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and Salt Lake, are personally owned by Alexander Pantages, and the new theaters now being erected are also his personal property. The Washington house, however, will be held on lease only, with a purchase option exercisable at any time during the life of the lease.

The plans for the new house have not yet been accepted, but it is intended to utilize in the designs all the combined experience gained in building eighteen modern theaters, to make the Washington "Pantages" worthy of the capital city of the greatest nation in the world.

MANUFACTURE WAX FROM WILD WEEDS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONTERREY (Mex.) Sept. 1.—Manufacturing wax from the wild candelilla weed is becoming an important industry in this part of Mexico. This wax is equal in hardness to the famous canuaba wax of Brazil and is said to be in demand for the manufacture of phonograph records, varnishes and the arts.

The discovery that the candelilla weed which grows profusely upon the ranch lands of the more altitudinous parts of Northern Mexico and the Upper Rio Grande border region of Texas, contains a large percentage of wax was made several years ago. Several plants for extracting the wax were built and successfully operated in Texas, and a refining plant was established in San Antonio. In this part of Mexico a number of these plants of small capacity were constructed, but their operation was interfered with more or less during the revolutionary period. Now that transquility has been restored their operation has been resumed and some of them are being enlarged.

Plans are on foot for building several new factories of this kind and prospects are favorable for increasing the output of crude wax in the future. Before the war considerable shipments of the candelilla wax were made to Germany. It is expected that this market for the product will be reopened soon. The weed from which the wax is obtained is of quick growth and after being cut reproduces itself from the stubble within a few months. Americans have leased large areas of lands upon which the candelilla weed grows and it is assured that the supply of the raw product will be abundant and inexhaustible.

SUGAR PRODUCTION IN CHINA SHOWS DECREASE.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

MANILA, Aug. 1.—Production of sugar in China amounts to approximately 250,000 short tons annually, according to George H. Fairchild, Manila sugar planter and exporter, who recently spent several months in China investigating the sugar industry. The yearly production, he said, is estimated at from 50,000 to 150,000 tons less than the production in China forty and fifty years ago.

Szechuen province of China leads the provinces in sugar production with a total of over 132,000 short tons annually. Mr. Fairchild's report said. Most of it is consumed locally. Kwang-Tung province comes next with 100,000 tons annually.

RIALTO'S VARIETY.

A LITTLE ABOUT EVERYTHING AND EVERYBODY.

To be chosen by one of the most famous authors of the world as the idealization of a character which he has created, is a distinction which seldom comes to a young actress, but such was the compliment paid by Rex Beach to Mabel Julienne Scott, who is playing this week in "The Roundup" at Grauman's.

At the time that "The Barrier," which is perhaps the best known of the popular writer's works, was to be filmed, Mr. Beach attended a performance of one of Fisk O'Hara's plays in New York, in which Miss Scott was playing the leading part. Impressed by the young actress and her evident ability, Mr. Beach sought an interview, in which he offered her the role of Necia, the supposed halfbreed.

Oil Kits In Trouble.

"The Satires of 1920," Fanchon and Marco's spectacular super-revue with a delicate plot, is to open at the Mason Operahouse Monday, September 13, for a limited engagement. This offering satirizes the motion-picture industry and depicts the troubles of a Texas oil king, imbued with the idea he is destined to become a movie magnate, in attempting to produce a feature film.

Aiding the stars are five famous funsters, Lloyd and Wells, Arthur West, Al Wohlman and John Sheehan; Miss Eva Clark, the prima donna, and others of note, including Muriel Stryker, Daisy De Witte and Lucille Harmon. The girls, a cluster of youthful, shapely, pretty California maids, are a big feature.

The book of the offering was written by Jean Havez, whose work for Ziegfeld's Follies made him famous. Fanchon and Marco wrote the lyrics and music and Lester of Chicago designed the costumes.

Great Caesar in Hongkong.

The favorite classic of the Chinese schoolboy is "Julius Caesar," with "Macbeth" a close second, according to Wadsworth Harris, who has recently returned from an eight months' tour of the Orient with the Universal company, with whom he appeared in the forthcoming release, "The Net." Mr. Harris gave a Shakespearean recital at the University of Hongkong. They sat through the comedy with stoic indifference, but liked the tragedy.

Good Santa Monica Scenery.

Frank Elliott, English actor, writer and traveler, who spent several years at Monte Carlo, called on Eric Von Stroheim at Universal City the other day and was shown several reels of rushes from Von's current production, "Foolish Wives." He declared the Monte Carlo atmosphere to be perfect in every detail and that anyone who did not know the picture was made in California would be under the impression that the scenes and locations were filmed at the famous resort on the Mediterranean.

Screen vs. Stage.

Richard Dix, leading man for "Parrot and Company," being filmed at the Brunton studios; Eddie Horton, leading man of the Majestic Theater, and Louis Bennison, the noted stage and screen star, now appearing in "Lavender and Old Lace" at the Rence studio, are to debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the screen is mightier than the stage." Horton will champion the stage, although he has turned down any number of offers to appear in the silent drama, while Dix and Bennison will boost the movies—this despite the fact that Bennison is to star for Marc Klaw in New York this winter in a play called "Heaven."

Look, Ye Lawyers!

Fred Miller of the California Theater has invited all of our leading law-makers and lawyers to his big theater tonight at 11 p.m. to a personal preview of the Goldwyn production of Alexander Bisson's famous play of mother love, "Madame X," which is to be next week's feature at the playhouse.

Sol Lesser Announces.

Delaying an important business trip to New York in the interests of First National, Sol Lesser announces the western premiere of his personally produced feature picture, "What Women Love," with Annette Kellerman in the star role, to take place at the Kinema here on Saturday, September 18. He will give this picture, regarded by First National, its distributors, as one of the year's film events for general fandom, one of the most sumptuous presentations accorded a cinema.

Two at a Time.

Wearing two entirely different make-ups and costume arrays, Rosemary Theby is now busily engaged in appearing in two productions simultaneously at the Fox studios. One is "A Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court" and the other is Barbara LaMarr Deely's story, "The Little Gray Mouse," in which she is playing the "heavy."

Russell's Rapid Arrival.

Young Russell Simpson is with us pretty much all the time lately—or, rather, he will be when the following pictures are released. In "Black Pawl," a story from Ben Ames Williams that Reginald Barker has directed, Russell Simpson plays the title role; in "Bunty Pulls the Strings" he has an important part; in Edgar Lewis's "Lahoma," a story of the roaring forty-nines, he is featured; in McCarthy's "Out of the Dust" he is starred, and in "The Branding Iron," a Goldwyn-Barker special, he displays his versatility in make-up.

Wally Gives Thanks.

On the call sheet at Lasky's for "Always Audacious," the Wallace Reid picture for Paramount, the following is inscribed—the picture having been completed: "Closed. Merci Dieu!" The reason for this expression of gratitude is that it was one of the trickiest pictures ever made. It is full of double exposures and the like, because the star plays a dual role. James Cruze is the man who handled the megaphone. They say it is going to prove one of Mr. Reid's best.

Tribute to Locklear.

The newspaper fraternity of Los Angeles will pay its own peculiar tribute to the memory of Lieut. Ormer Locklear next Monday, when writers of the various papers will attend the Symphony Theater in a body to see the film in the completion of which the daring airman and his pilot, Lieut. Milton Elliott, lost their lives recently.

Locklear was well known and greatly admired by the members of the fourth estate, and numbered many of his warmest friends among the followers of the newspaper profession here, who deeply mourn his loss. Morning newspaper writers will attend the 11 a.m. performance, and afternoon newspaper men and women will witness the 4 p.m. performance.

Enter Mr. Mortimer.

Henry Mortimer, one of the most widely-known actors of the legitimate and moving-picture worlds, stole quietly into town yesterday from New York and is already settled in a delightful home in Hollywood. Mr. Mortimer came into prominence in the motion pictures as leading man for Alice Brady, Norma Talmadge and many of the biggest stars in the East.

IOWA WOMAN ENTERS RACE FOR CONGRESS

DES MOINES (Iowa) Sept. 10.—Mrs. Hattie T. Hart of Bluffs, Iowa, will be a woman candidate for Congress and will run as an independent candidate from the Ninth Congressional district, although the Republican party convention indorsed Mr. Hamilton for renomination.

WEEK MORE TO CANVASS VOTE.

Supervisors Now Busy With Returns from Primary.

The Board of Supervisors, which is canvassing the vote cast at the primary election of August 31, must complete the canvass, under the law, by next Thursday. The law also requires that the Supervisors count first the vote for central committeemen, who next Tuesday will meet in the Hall of Records to complete their organization.

The work of the canvassers has been augmented by the fact that many names have been written in. In the Sixty-first Assembly District alone, the tally sheets carry 481 such names for central committeeman. On sheets from fifteen districts the canvassers found names written in for every county office listed on the ballot.

L. R. Paxton, deputy county clerk stationed in the Supervisors' room, has charge of the canvass. He has been doing this work for twenty-seven years and has qualified as an expert. The first canvass to which Mr. Paxton was assigned was that of the fall election of 1892. The ticket contained nine Presidential electors; among whom Thomas R. Bard received a vote of 10,216.

The Supervisors at that time were J. W. Cook, first district; S. M. Perry, who was succeeded by A. W. Francisco, second district; Edward Forrester, third district; A. B. Davis, succeeded by James Hay, fourth district; Col. H. C. Hubbard, succeeded by James Hanley, fifth district.

Mr. Paxton and a clerk handled the canvass, which was compiled in two or three days.

There are now employed by the county to check the tally sheets sixty-three women and three men. The law allows the Supervisors sixteen days from the date of the election to complete the canvass.

There are now 1399 city and county precincts. In 1892 there were forty-five city and seventy-two county precincts.

Stepless Cars Will Be Tried Out Here Soon.

Stepless trolley cars are to be put into operation on the streets of Los Angeles by the Pacific Electric within the next two weeks, according to announcement by the company last night. Ten cars of this type will be put into service as a starter and more will be added as they arrive here from the factory.

The cars have been tried out at Pasadena for some time. They are considered to make for greater safety than the type of cars now in service. Dangers and delays are minimized by these cars, experts say. Passengers find it difficult if not impossible to stumble or fall, and are unable to board a moving car because when the middle door is closed by air pressure there is no means of ingress, and nothing to swing on to.

Eleven new one-man safety cars, vanguard of the forty-nine ordered by the Pacific Electric, are now being assembled and will be sent to Pasadena for service there.

TO ASK DEPORTATION.

Federal Inspector Says Japanese Couple Should be Sent Home.

T. K. Jitsuka, a Japanese running a small business concern on South Olive street, and Mrs. Izuna Kodani, a picture bride, will be recommended for deportation by A. E. Burnett, Federal immigration inspector in charge, who yesterday concluded his investigation of the couple's romance and will at once report to Washington.

Mrs. Kodani is the wife of M. Kodani, who lives in South Pasadena. She arrived in San Francisco with other picture brides last February. But life in South Pasadena palled, and she sought other company, according to the testimony taken by Inspector Burnett.

Among others who basked in her smiles was Jitsuka, who has a wife and a family on his hands, secured by means recognized by law. Jitsuka and Mrs. Kodani lived together, and on at least one occasion he introduced her as his wife, the evidence declares.

Jitsuka admitted that he had furnished rooms for the woman, but asserted that it was done merely to keep her away from other Japanese.

PASADENA BOY FREED.

Out of Texas Jail on Bond Charge, But Faces Juvenile Trial.

Reginald Cruze, the 18-year-old Pasadena boy, who was arrested at Fort Worth, Tex., last week, by Federal authorities, has been released on his own recognizance on the charge of illegally disposing of Liberty Bonds, says word received here yesterday. However, he is still facing a municipal charge of juvenile incorrigibility.

Following the receipt of advices from Pasadena that the boy has no legal guardian here, the Texas authorities are at loss as to what to do with him. His father is dead, and his mother has married again and is now living in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Margaret E. Orr, who was arrested with the boy on the Liberty Bond charge, probably will stand trial. She is out on bond. The boy told the United States Commissioner that he met Mrs. Orr on a boat between Los Angeles and San Francisco. He says she induced him to go to El Paso, where she secured the Liberty Bonds he is said to have confessed he took from his grandmother in Pasadena.

NARBED SELLING DRUG.

Caught while making a sale of drugs to an addict at Eleventh street and Central avenue yesterday, Harry Parks, a negro, was locked in the City Jail by Police Detectives Yarrow and O'Brien and State Officer Boden. Morphine was found in the prisoner's possession.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAD THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

If there are any mellow-hearted landlords in Los Angeles who stood aloof from last season's rent-kiting orgy here is a chance to show the worthiness of their mettle. That wing of the Republican National Committee which will attend to the vote-getting for Harding and Coolidge in Southern California is, I am told, embarrassed by temporary homelessness, and to relieve it affords some whole-souled landlord an opportunity to wear a hero medal. A committee representative, I hear, sought the proprietor of a downtown hotel which boasted of an untenanted basement and offered 1000 iron men per month, tied in a neat package, for its use during the campaign. The offer, I am told, was not accepted and the committee is on a still hunt for a suitable roof to house its complement of workers. Times have been exceedingly prosperous in the hotel game and a measly $1000 a month, perhaps, looks pleayunish in view of the coming tourist harvest.

So far as the room-renting phase goes, the Bourbon phalanx seems to have scored one on the G.O.P. campaigners. The Democrats slipped into town a few days ago, unwrapped a wad of currency, notwithstanding Candidate Cox's loud wail that such is absent this year from the Bourbon cook, and grabbed the flossiest suite to be had on the de luxe deck of the most expensive hostelry hereabouts. And now Charley Brown, late of Redlands, sits in soft cushions behind his mahogany top and sermonizes to the faithful on the unwisdom of political extravagansas. Added to this, just outside the door of his throne room the new Bourbon pilot is within earshot of the mezzanine ladies and the lounge lizards. Altogether, it makes a pretty picture of Democratic contentment, while the G.O.P. room hunters are outside in the cold hoping that some benevolent landlord will open the door for them.

Twenty-odd constitutional amendments, besides several local measures and the names of a whole army of candidates, will decorate the ballot in November. These amendments run all the way from allen land barriers to prohibition enforcement and include, among other things, the obnoxious single tax proposal, which apparently will not down for keeps unless given its death blow this year. To find what's what and why on this ballot will be like hunting the needle concealed in a stack of alfalfa. There are several good measures in the lot, however, that ought to go over. One is a proposal to increase the salaries of State Supreme Court justices from $5000 to $10,000 a year and justices of the Appellate Court from $7000 to $9000 a year. I dare say the State jurists have found it tough sledding to keep up appearances on their present stipends.

The recently organized Young Republican League movement will have a chance to test its initial strength at a meeting called for tonight at Blanchard Hall. Some good preliminary work has already been done, I am told, and the league organizers have lots of assurance that it will thrive and grow in view of the increasing demand from the younger political elements to get in and hustle for Harding and Coolidge.

The National Young Men's Republican League already has a local branch, of which Al Bartlett is the guiding hand in this locality, but, inasmuch as it seems to confine its scope to the masculine political order, I take it that the new league movement, not being confined to a male membership, will appeal also to the voting Republican sisterhood. There are plenty of politically active young women here who are not particularly enamored of remaining tier to the skirts of the older order, and these should find a ready opening for their talents with the Young Republican League.

Campaign plans to secure the adoption at the November election of a constitutional amendment prohibiting compulsory vaccination are being prepared by a committee of sixty-four members. The purpose of this organization, as its officers explain, is to safeguard the public schools from medical and ecclesiastical exploitation. Mrs. J. Bert Stearns, local clubwoman, is chairman. Los Angeles headquarters of the organization is at 722 Van Nuys Building. Dr. L. P. Crutcher of Long Beach is president; Raymond E. Blight, vice-president; F. Eldred Boland of San Francisco, vice-president; Douglas L. Edmonds, secretary and treasurer. I am told that 93,000 voters signed the petition to put this measure on the ballot.

Judge Frank R. Willis, who ran next to the top of the list among the candidates for judges of the Superior Court in the recent primary, only spent $263.75 in his campaign, according to a statement filed yesterday with the Registrar of Voters and County Recorder. These expenses covered filing fees, posters, cards, postage and incidentals. The judge is hereby cleared of suspicion that his campaign thrived on any part of the slush fund which Candidate Cox is trying feverishly to unearth.

THE WATCHMAN.

NEWSPAPER MEN WILL SEE LOCKLEAR'S FILM.

Men and women newspaper workers of Los Angeles have been invited to see "The Skywayman," the last cinema feature made by the late Lieut. Ormer Locklear, the film drama in the making of the last scene of which Lieut. Locklear lost his life here recently.

Special runs of "The Skywayman," will be made for the newspaper staffs next Monday at the Symphony Theater. Those who work on morning publications will attend from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and those who work on evening newspapers will be welcomed at the theater from 4 to 6 p.m.

BOURBON AIDES NAMED.

Campaign Chairman Chooses Heads of Southland Committees.

Charles M. Brown, chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee for Southern California, yesterday announced the following additional members of the Democratic organization; Mrs. J. A. Stewart, women's campaign manager; Robert L. Hanley, chairman of the men's speakers' bureau; Miss Mary Foy, chairman of the women's speakers' bureau; Al Cohn, chairman of the committee on cinema features; I. J. Muma, chairman of the committee on campaign subscriptions, and Ben S. Groves, chairman of the committee on distribution of campaign literature. These committees will function from the headquarters at the Alexandria.

MAN HURT BY FALL LAST SUNDAY DIES.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the W. A. Brown chapel for Frederick H. Walther, 515 West Fifty-fifth street, who died yesterday morning in the California Hospital from a compound basal fracture of the skull. He was injured Sunday forenoon in a fall from a ladder in the garden at his home and did not regain consciousness before the end came.

Mr. Walther was a technical mechanic for the Cunningham, Curtis & Welch Company. He was born in Springfield, Ill., thirty-three years ago and had resided here about twenty years. Besides the widow at the above address he leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walther, and a sister, Mrs. Mabel K. Burns, at 866 South Kingsley Drive. Mr. Walther was a member of Golden State Lodge, F. and A. M., which will conduct the Masonic ritual at the graveside in Rosedale Cemetery.

CAREFUL BANKS HAMPER CROOKS

Bunko Men Forced to Pooling of Sales Deals Here.

District Attorney Given Odd Leads in Berry Case.

Careful banking methods in Los Angeles, it transpired yesterday, drove bunko men operating here recently to a large pooling of interests and to a hunt for someone in a local bank who would handle suspicious looking deals. Los Angeles bankers refuse to convert securities into cash when there is a suspicion that the owners are negotiating with swindlers. This attitude brought about the strange alliance of confidence men, according to information, made known yesterday, which was given the District Attorney's office during the inquiry that led to the indictment last Wednesday of Otis B. Berry, former bank cashier, on charges of grand larceny.

The information was obtained through leads developed during the trial of Fred Mayne, convicted bunko operator. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stafford is in charge of the investigation.

At the District Attorney's office, it was intimated yesterday that the grand jury will continue its investigation of the operations of bunko men in this city during the past two years, and that certain members of the police department will be called as witnesses.

Berry will probably be arraigned today before Judge Willis on four counts of an indictment accusing him, along with others, of securing about $73,000 from three men in asserted fake stock deals, and of attempting to secure $5000 from another.

The system by which, it is stated, bunko men have swindled visitors in this city out of large sums of money, reaching into a total of several hundred thousand dollars, is so old that it is covered with cobwebs.

SCHEMES FOR ALL TASTES.

The case of Thomas Donahue, a former cabinet maker of Lancaster, Pa., is an example. The other systems used by the ring vary only in accordance with the personal inclinations of the victim-to-be.

After arriving in Los Angeles, it was stated, Mr. Donahue became acquainted with a Mr. Thompson, who one day pointed out a man on the street as "that's the fellow who put Judge Scott of Indianapolis back on his feet by a tip on the stock market. Remember me telling you about it?"

Mr. Donahue remembered, for Thompson had taken care to tell the story previously. Thompson spoke to the stranger, who at first rebuffed him, but later admitted the "Judge Scott business" and produced a supposed newspaper clipping showing the stranger's picture. This man gave his name as William Dorchester, agent for a big Wall-street firm. After much "persuasion" he consented to make some money for Thompson, the "come-on," and Mr. Donohue, who was led to believe that if he was able to establish credit with a stock exchange firm—in this instance, a fake one—he could make a large sum of money.

SAW NO REAL MONEY.

Thompson said he had $40,000 cash, it is charged, and Mr. Donohue had $42,000 in securities. These securities were sold, it is charged, through Berry, while he was an assistant cashier in a local bank. The "money," it is charged, was delivered to Mr. Donohue in packages, done up in wrapping paper. According to Mr. Donohue's statement, the packages of what he thought were bills were wrapped and marked on the outside, but at no time did he see the money.

The supposed money, it is charged, was then taken to the fake stock exchange and left there to "establish" credit. Great stacks of paper were on the counter and Mr. Donohue was given a telegram to put into code, while Thompson went out to buy a certain stock, but he returned and said he made a mistake and sold instead, losing his own money and the victim's as well. After this deal the fake stock exchange moved its offices and started in on a new victim, it is asserted.

In somewhat similar manner, it is charged, Joseph Basler of Amarillo, Tex., lost $20,000 and John F. Herr of Paradise, Pa., $15,000. It is charged that Berry, as an accomplice, received a share of the profits. It was further charged that other divisions were made in this city.

Berry provided $10,000 cash bail and was released yesterday by Judge Willis pending trial.

FIGHTS FOR HIS BRIDE.

Groom Gets Writ to Prevent Her Being "Spirited Away."

By having a writ of habeas corpus served early yesterday morning upon Mrs. Phillip Walters, his mother-in-law, George E. Grebe, a shipyard worker, apparently halted what he declares is an effort of the parents to spirit away Anna Waters Grebe, age 21 years, his bride of a week.

The writ, issued by Judge Jackson and returnable in his court Saturday morning, was served upon the mother-in-law at her home, 1846 West Forty-eighth street, by Deputy Sheriffs Hotz and Cooper.

Grebe charges that after he and Miss Walters had been married against the wishes of the parents he came home one night to find his bride gone. He says he went to her parents' home, but was refused admittance. He asserts he received information the parents intend to take the young bride to Minnesota. The parents, by the writ, are ordered to produce her in court on Saturday.

WOMAN CALLS COP SPEEDER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 9. An irate woman entered police headquarters this morning and told Capt. Clarence Webb that a speeding autoist had ridden madly past her home yesterday, barely escaping running over her dog, and causing a general upheaval of the neighborhood peace. She gave him the number of the car.

The captain looked up the number and found that it belonged to his own car.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MACON (Ga.) Sept. 9.—Nomination of Thomas E. Watson as the Democratic candidate for the Senate was conceded early today by the Macon Telegraph, which opposed Watson. On the face of returns from yesterday's Statewide primary the Telegraph gave Watson 208 county unit votes, Gov. Dorsey 114 and Senator Hoke Smith thirty. Mrs. Mary G. McLendon, a pioneer suffragist in Georgia, telegraphed a protest tonight to Secretary of State Colby because women were denied the privilege of voting today.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—Gov. Cox will speak in Sacramento at the City Plaza near the noon hour, September 17, George Vice, chairman of the Democratic County Central committee, said. NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Modification of the Volstead Act to permit the sale of light wines and beer would ultimately destroy the entire prohibition amendment, William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, declared in a statement last night. He added he believed a modifying clause would make every lunch-room, drug store and soda fountain a saloon, encourage youth to drink and bring a curse upon the country greater than war. "Prohibition means prevention," he continued. "It does not mean license in any form."

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Sept. 9. Merrit C. Mechem, presiding judge of the Seventh judicial district, last night was nominated for Governor on the third ballot by the State Republican convention in session here, defeating Gov. Larrazolo for renomination.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—Robert Telfer, State printer, said he would not be ready to proceed tomorrow with the hearing of charges against him by employees of the printing Department. The hearing, which will be before the State Board of Control, probably will not open until next week, it was said. Misconduct by employees of the "bill room" during the 1919 session of the Legislature was alleged in charges signed by Carleton Johnson, head of the proof-room. Telfer had knowledge of the alleged misconduct, the charges said.

TROUBLE IN PLEBISCITE ZONE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—Increasing disorders are reported in the southern plebiscite zone of Syria. Attempts by Austrian adherents to hold meetings on Sunday last were frustrated by armed bands of Jugo-Slavs, who whipped speakers near Feistriz, in the Marburg district. The French and Italian commissioners attempted to restore order and were themselves maltreated.

Bond Market

BY C. F. SEIDEL
Manager, Bond Department, Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank

The Republic of France is selling in the United States $100,000,000 in 8 per cent external gold bonds, to run from September 15th next for a period of twenty-five years. They are to be redeemed without reduction for any French taxes on or before September 15, 1945. These bonds are to be sold at 100 and accrued interest.

In the contract with J. P. Morgan & Company, as syndicate managers, the French Republic agrees to pay to the bankers as a sinking fund at not less than $4,400,000 annually. During the first five years this payment is to be applied towards the purchase of bonds in the open market up to 110. At the end of the five-year period, the remaining bonds will be callable by lot at 110. If any part of the sinking fund has not been used for the purchase of bonds in the open market during the first five years, these funds must be applied to the retirement of the bonds at the specified rate. The $100,000,000 to be obtained from the sale of these bonds is designed to supply funds towards the payment of France's half of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan which matures October 15th next.

Securities and gold shipments coming from Europe will supply the remaining $150,000,000 needed to pay the French share of the original obligation.

The new bonds are to be issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000 each. While payments into the sinking funds are to be made quarterly during the first five years, after this time the payments will be made semi-annually.

This is a cold statement of a financial transaction, but back of the sum of $150,000,000 in gold and securities sent to the United States to take care of the greater portion of the previous loan, stands the story of the rebuilding of France and what Herbert S. Houston called the "Third Miracle of the Marne."

After the Franco-Prussian War, when Bismarck wrung from France an indemnity with which he expected to "bleed France white," the French government made her payments to Germany so rapidly and in such large amounts of gold that financial panics resulted on the German stock exchange and Germany itself suffered from the reaction. At the same time, France built up an empire in Southern Asia and in Northern Africa which more than compensated her for the German indemnity.

* * * * * * * * * *

France, since the signing of the Versailles Treaty, has advanced to the people of the devastated departments more than 9,000,000,000 francs for agricultural and industrial reconstruction. The inhabitants of those provinces have bent their backs to the task, aided by every sou they themselves could scrape together, and have reopened 5345 out of 6445 schools; they have built or rebuilt 38,000 temporary dwellings, and 16,800 permanent dwellings in stone, in addition to erecting 28,500 wooden barracks to replace houses destroyed.

At the same time, out of 2,950,000 hectares of land (a hectare is about two and one-half acres) rendered unfit for cultivation by the war, 2,300,000 hectares have been cleared of projectiles; 2,750,000 hectares have been cleared of barbed wire, and all trenches in the area have been filled in.

Herbert S. Houston, member of the International Chamber of Commerce, states, in the current issue of "World's Work," that while "American farmers complain that their hired men insist on practically union hours, the sons and daughters of France work from daybreak until dark. The lie that France is not at work should be seared on the lips of every one who utters it."

* * * * * * * * * *

Today, less than two years since the armistice, the population in the invaded regions has grown from less than two million to more than four million, and, because of the use, through co-operative societies, of American agricultural instruments, the devastated regions in 1920 will raise enough crops to feed its population.

* * * * * * * * * *

The story of industrial progress is almost as remarkable as agriculture. On May 1st of this year 2627 of the 3598 factories destroyed by the war had resumed production, and they now employ 300,000 workers.

In such industrial centers as Lille, 30 per cent of the textile mills were destroyed. In Armentieres, the center of linen manufacture, all of its forty linen mills were wholly wrecked. In Fournies, out of 700,000 bobbins, all but 50,000 were ruined or removed.

During the war the Germans declared that they would be able to begin the manufacture of woolens at least two years before the mills they had destroyed in Lille could be rebuilt and put in operation. Today, 80 per cent of the mills of Lille are running.

* * * * * * * * * *

Before the war, the yearly production of the French coal mines was 4,000,000 tons. These mines were flooded, but the French claim that by the end of the year they expect to have the water out. By 1922 they hope to have the mines producing and to employ 8000 men. Within five or six years they expect to be working to three-fourths of the production capacity of 1914.

* * * * * * * * * *

For the first five months of this year French exports increased 182.1 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, while imports were only 17.3 per cent greater. This has brought an improvement in the annual trade balance against France of 2,000,000,000 francs.

This way lies progress and a betterment of the exchange situation, as well as commercial safety.

* * * * * * * * * *

All of the French railroads destroyed have been rebuilt and reopened. On the "Nord" Railroad, for instance, of 600 bridges destroyed, 475 have been rebuilt and 84 more are in the course of reconstruction.

During the war 1100 kilometers of canals were destroyed, but virtually all of these have been opened to commerce, while the 136 wharves destroyed have been rebuilt and 38 new ones constructed. The importance of this lies in the fact that the canal system in France has always been an essential factor in the transportation of the country.

The present bond issue, on its face, is an attractive investment, and the writer is personally willing to recommend it to those who have faith in France. Come in and talk it over.

The first mortgage on selected new homes is a clean, wholesome and beneficial use of money. The building and occupation of homes is one of the essential things in the upbuilding of community values. The first mortgage investment is a simple and direct investment. There are no complicated questions of statements, earnings and estimated values. The values are real, tangible values that you can see and judge for yourself.

The Mortgage Trust Certificate, covering individual first mortgages on selected new residences, is the most convenient form of first mortgage investment. The denominations, $1000, $500 and $100, lend themselves readily to the needs of the investor. The quarterly payments of interest by coupon, payable at the Citizens' Trust & Savings Bank, is another convenience. The interest, 7½%, is as high as one could expect with such security. The term, six years, insures the high return for a reasonable time. Interest and principal is guaranteed by a strong organization.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The investment situation was a factor of paramount importance in the stock market today, taking precedence over easier money conditions and the more promising crop outlook.

Announcement of the successful offering of the new French loan, which was oversubscribed before the opening of the books, was accepted as an indication that investors are eager to participate in attractive underwritings.

Out-of-town banks contributed to the enlarged supply of money on call, most of which was offered at 7 per cent, but relaxed to 6 per cent later. Short-term loans in moderate sums were negotiated at 8½ per cent for prime collateral. Shippings, oils, dividend-paying rails and chemicals led the day's higher range of prices, maximum quotations being registered in the final half hour. United Fruit made a net gain of 13½ points on rumors of a forthcoming cash or stock dividend and American International rose almost five points.

Marked strength was shown by Mexican and Pan-American petroleums, Royal Dutch, Union and Southern Pacific, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and National Aniline. Steels and equipments were limited to gains of large fractions to almost 2 points.

Liberty Bonds were irregular but some of the internationals were stimulated by the success of the new French issue, which rose a fraction over par on the curb. Sales par value aggregated $8,850,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

The Men Behind the Investment

You can accurately judge the character and integrity of an institution by the character and integrity of its officers and directors. This is particularly true of a company whose business it is to deal with other people's money!

The men who compose the directorate and officers of the Mortgage Guarantee Company are known throughout California for their high ability and unquestioned integrity.

And the Guaranteed First Mortgage Certificates which this company issues have behind them all the security which it is possible for any investment to have; not only men of character and ability, but that true basis of all wealth, income-producing land.

A-a-a-h!! or Ugh!!

"YOU can lead a horse to a trough, but you can't make him drink," is the old, yet true expression.

Nearly everybody has been lead to understand that Nature provides the most beneficial correctives for stomach disorders—especially constipation. Yet, thousands of people fail to drink out of Nature's fountains.

This food, Fruited Wheat and Fruited Oats, brings to you in easily digestible form—a combination of fruits and whole grains—Nature's laxatives.

Fruited Wheat or Fruited Oats are tempting, delicious and appetizing. You cannot help but smack your lips and say—A-a-a-h!!

Therefore why submit to harsh medicines which make you shudder and exclaim—Ugh!!

Made from Real Oranges

The Cal-Ora Company believes that no matter what the beverage, the great consuming public prefers the genuine to the imitation.

With this thought in mind, the Company is placing on the market a real orange drink,—the concentrated essence of ripe California oranges sweetened and thickened to a syrup with pure granulated sugar—Cal-Ora.

The fact that the Weber Showcase and Fixture Co., was called upon to equip the spacious offices of the Cal-Ora Company, 700-706 Fay Building, is an implied and appreciative acknowledgement of their having met the standard of quality both preached and practised by the Cal-Ora Company.

SHOUT IN VAIN TO GET POLICE.

Immense Crowd at Admission Day Picnic Gathering.

History of State Recounted at Evening Exercises.

The cry echoed and re-echoed through the shady dells of Eagle Rock Park yesterday afternoon. It was first sounded by a man in blue with a silver scroll upon his cap, then it was caught up and repeated by almost every one of the 5000 city employees, who were celebrating Admission Day with an annual picnic.

Then a man in shirt sleeves with a megaphone bellowed above the rest. "Where in Sam Hill are the cops?" The cone-eating, "hot-dog munching" crowd of erstwhile merrymakers paused breathlessly to hear the answering cry. But the echoes answered naught.

There in an open space in the center of the expectant throng was a long rope. On one end were ten husky firefighters. The other end lay strung out on the turf. On a platform nearby rested the "chonical cup" waiting to be awarded to the winner of the big event of the day, the tug-of-war between the city's firefighters and the city's policemen. After a long wait to demonstrate that they had more "pull" than the policemen the firemen donned their coats and passed on to the refreshments with the remark that "if they couldn't show that they had the 'pull' they guessed they had the 'push' anyway."

MAYOR MAKES ADDRESS.

The tug-of-war was to have been only one of the many features of the Admission Day picnic. Employees of all the city departments were under the sycamores with their families. In the morning sports of various kinds were participated in. Mayor Snyder made the official opening with an address appropriate to the day and occasion. There was a "hundred-yard dash" for candidates for public office in the afternoon, but there were no candidates, so the race went the way of the tug-of-war. Capt. Ernest Rhoades of Engine Company, No. 1, made a fifteen-minute talk on "Co-operation and a Permanent Organization of City Employees."

If every good thing that was said of California last night at the Admission Day celebration of the State's seventieth birthday at Trinity Auditorium is true, then Ireland best look to her laurels, as the one bit of heaven dropped to the earth by the angels.

The function was held under the auspices of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, and the only remarks made which would suggest that California might be still a better country to live in, were those of Mayor Snyder, when he said in an address on "Our State" that "the Japanese question is a real menace to the State of California; there is no use denying it." Otherwise Mayor Snyder said he thought it was some State to come to, to live in and to go away from to come back to again.

PRAISES CITY.

"Almost every intelligent person on earth wants to come to California," he said, "to see Mount Lassen, San Francisco Bay, the redwoods, the marvelous valley of the Yosemite, the San Joaquin Valley, the twenty-one missions and Los Angeles, the city that is a city in every essential."

Edwin A. Meserve, president of the Bar Association, presided, and opened the program with a brief outline of the history of the State.

Philip M. Carey, an attorney from Oakland, in an address especially prepared for the occasion on "Admission Day," spoke of the handclasp of good fellowship between the citizens of the northern and southern part of the State.

The romantic tale of California's discovery, of the pioneers of '49, and the lure of her mountains and valleys to all who have once passed through "her sunlit valleys, and in her purple dusk" was the subject of a poem, written and read by John S. McGroarty, author of the Mission Play.

SCOTCH PIPERS DINE.

To the accompaniment of the droning of a dozen bagpipes and nineteen kinds of gymnastic drum beating, a hundred Scotch lads and lassies sat themselves down and enjoyed an old-fashion Scotch banquet at the Overseas Club in the California Building last night.

The occasion was the annual banquet of the Los Angeles Scotch Pipe Band. Seven members of the organization, who recently returned to this city after having served in the World War, were the guests of honor.

Following the banquet which consisted principally of potted hock, potted pig's head, scones and shortbread, the windjammers enlivened the evening with some sprightly tunes, the highland fling was danced until the performers grew dizzy, a member of the band gave a first-class imitation of Harry Lauder, and speeches were made by William Kirk, president of the band, and David Tompsett, the oldest Scotchman in Southern California.

GRAND JURY TO ACT.

Will Inquire Today Into Killing of Graydon in Venice House Row.

The slaying of McCullough Graydon, a real estate operator, in a dispute over possession of a house at Venice, will form the subject of a grand jury investigation today, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Van Cott, in charge of the case.

A complaint charging murder has already been issued against Mrs. Maybelle Roe, Oscar A. Bowers, Edward R. Doane and his wife, Mrs. Julia Doane. The hearing on this complaint was set for Monday in Justice Court, but action by the grand jury would take precedent over the Justice Court proceeding.

HEADQUARTERS OPENED.

The California Protective League, which is conducting a campaign against the proposed community property amendment, has opened headquarters at 324 Security Building.

HALF MILLION PUT IN BONDS.

Supervisor Woodley, who went to Sacramento carrying a county warrant for $500,000, yesterday telegraphed the Supervisors that he had delivered the warrant and received the equivalent in State highway bonds. The $500,000 represented surplus funds of the county, and the bonds were bought to help the State Highway Commission out of a financial hole. With the county's investment, the commission will be able to complete some of the road work planned in the county.

TRAVEL BY AIR PROVEN SUCCESS

mous-Players Lasky Company, and made the round trip in an all-metal monoplane, the first of a fleet of five ordered by that concern. The guests were John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company; Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National and Los Angeles Trust and Savings banks, Max Fisher of Riverside and Harry Chandler of The Times. The plane was piloted by John Meyers and David Thompson.

Mrs. De Mille drove over to Rockwell Field to meet the plane and drove her husband and his guests to and from their luncheon at the hotel.

NEARLY MILE UP.

The flight was made as a demonstration of the possibilities of commercial aviation, particularly a passenger-carrying line between Los Angeles and San Diego, and was a splendid evidence of the safety and speed of modern commercial aircraft. The distance of 108 miles, airline, was covered at approximately 100 miles an hour in each direction, and the average time of one hour and fifteen minutes is a distinct saving over the average train time of nearly four hours, and the average automobile running time of over five hours. An average altitude of 4000 feet was maintained.

From their lofty elevation the passengers could see the boulevards dotted with automobiles like so many little black ants and they remarked that they were doubtless safer up in their plane at 4000 feet than they would have been down there in an automobile with the many possibilities of accident.

The trip was made with all the comfort of travel in a limousine, the roomy five-passenger compartment back of the pilot's cockpit being comfortably upholstered and affording complete protection for the passengers from the wind. The engine's exhaust is carried away from the cabin and the vibration of the plane is much less than the vibration sustained in traveling over the average road in an automobile. No helmets, goggles, fur-lined suits or other paraphernalia hitherto deemed necessary, are needed in this flying limousine.

The arrival at San Diego brought the flyers and mechanics of the Army aviation field flocking around the plane to investigate it, the first of its type to visit Rockwell Field. Col. Yount, commanding officer of March Field, was among those to give the plane a careful inspection and was taken for a brief "hop" while the members of the party were having lunch at the Hotel Coronado. Col. Yount and Col. H. R. S. Burwell, former commander of Rockwell Field, who inspected the plane before it left, both expressed themselves as greatly impressed with the possibilities of commercial aviation through the use of such modern craft.

OF ALUMINUM.

The plane is of a type new to this country and is constructed almost entirely of corrugated duralumin, a composition of aluminum. It was designed by Dr. Ugo Junkers, the famous German engineer, and is distributed in the United States by the J. L. Aircraft Company. A number of these planes have been purchased by the Army and Navy and several are to be used in the transcontinental aerial mail service. They have made some remarkable records in this country, including a double transcontinental trip and a nonstop flight of 1200 miles from Omaha to Philadelphia.

The Mercury Aviation Company, which has secured the distributing rights for this type of plane for the Southwest, has ordered five and proposes a regularly scheduled passenger service between Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. The remaining four planes are to be delivered shortly.

The only man who seemed to have any kick on the trip was the manager of the Hotel del Coronado, who said: "I don't know whether I like commercial aviation or not. You can come so far and have such a good time that you don't stay around the hotel long enough to do us any good."

SHARK MEAT CASES UP.

Six defendants, representing the Washington, Model and Sunset fish markets, San Diego, will be before the United States District Court at San Diego next Monday, for prosecution under the section of the Lever law that forbids unfair methods and excessive prices.

It is charged that they have been engaged in the sale of shark meat, which they are supposed to have disposed of under the names of filet of sole and swordfish, sea bass, white fish, fresh cod, in a word anything almost that a customer might happen to desire.

It is charged that the defendants purchased the shark meat at 3 cents a pound wholesale, and disposed of it at prices ranging from 18 to 30 cents, depending entirely on the sort of fish the customer would order.

There are seventy-one cases on the calendar to be disposed of by U. S. District Judge Trippet, during the two weeks he will sit in San Diego, and of these sixteen are set for trial. Thirty-eight of the total cases charge violation of the prohibition laws. Asst. U. S. Atty. Green will appear in behalf of the government in all of the cases. He went to San Diego last night.
